DRIVE IN SOUTH RUSSIA IMPERILS VITAL RAIL LINE

Foe Within 235 Miles of Volga River.

BULLETIN.

LONDON, July 10 (Friday)—(AP).—The Stockholm correspondent of the Daily Mail reported today that Adolf Hitler, who last December assumed the "intuitive" military leadership of the German armies, has yielded to the demands of his high command and restored Field Marshal Walther von Brauchitsch as commander in chief.

MOSCOW, July 10 (Friday)—(AP).—The massed steel might of the German armies in south Russia had driven to within 235 miles of industrial Stalingrad on the Volga today, but the Red armies held their ground firmly before gravely imperiled Voronezh and the upper reaches of the Don river, the midnight Russian communique disclosed.

"During July 9 our troops continued their stubborn battles to the west of Voronezh and in the area of the town of Rossosh," the communique said.

Push Right Wing Forward.

Rossosh is a manufacturing town about 20 miles from the middle Don river area. The new 90 mile German advance pushed the Nazi right wing far forward while the Russians threw in hundreds of thousands of soldiers in an effort to hold the Nazi center and left along the line of the upper Don farther north.

By the advance, the Germans went a long way toward establishing a new line extending northward from the Rostov area, the point of their deepest penetration last year, 300 miles northward to Voronezh.

[Russian sources in London conceded the latest German advance was of the gravest importance.]

Rossosh is 100 miles south of Voronezh, 150 miles directly east of the great steel city of Kharkov, and 90 miles northeast of Kupyansk—the first major point captured in this major German offensive of the year. It lies only 235 miles northwest of Stalingrad, on the broad banks of the Volga commanding the northern approaches to the oil bearing Caucasus, which apparently is the German goal.

Threaten Vital Railway.

The critical nature of the fighting in the Rossosh area was emphasized by the fact that the town lies on the Moscow-Voronezh-Rostov railway, the last remaining north-south link over which supplies are funneled to the desperately pressed armies of Marshal Semeon Timoshenko.

The assertion that the fighting was "in the area of the town" suggested that the railway might either be cut or at least threatened over a 100 mile length.

Telling of the great battle on the upper Don, the communique said:

Stall 800 Nazi Tanks.

Court O. K.'s Swift Rental Action.

The government went into the hotel business in Chicago yesterday when proceedings were begun for the United States army air force to take over two of the largest Michigan avenue hotels, the Stevens and the Congress. They are to be used as reception centers to house and train nearly 15,000 young men who enter the air force for ground and flight duty each month.

Judge Holly.

In a swift and surprising move in the federal district court of Judge William H. Holly the government acquired the two valuable hotel properties on a rental basis. It was announced that the air force would take occupancy Aug. 1, and that by that time every hotel guest, resident, and tenant must have found new quarters.

The action by which the government became a hotel operator was in the form of two condemnation suits, filed under the second war powers act, by United States Attorney J. Albert Woll, his assistant, Clarence W. Beatty Jr., and William S. Sandifer, an attorney from the department of justice in Washington.

Judge Wastes No Time.

Judge Holly signed the order for the government attorneys immediately. Under the law, the hotels cannot protest the condemnation, but if they do not accept the price offered by the government, they may seek better terms in a court suit.

Asked why condemnation proceedings were used instead of negotiating with the hotels for leases, Sandifer said:

"We didn't know whether we could work out leases. The army needed the hotels and had no time to negotiate, so we decided to take possession now and bargain later."

Sandifer declared that the government had attempted to arrange a lease with the Stevens hotel owners, but had been unable to do so. He said he did not know whether the same procedure had been attempted at the Congress.

Hotel Owners Unprepared.

Spokesmen for the two hotels contended that the government's sudden move came as a complete surprise. News that the government was considering the acquisition of leading Chicago hotels for the army air force was first published in THE TRIBUNE on May 7. Later on May 15 it was reported that the army had abandoned the idea, but since then persistent rumors of impending action continued to circulate, despite denials by hotel executives.

"The government has not negotiated with the Congress," said Mort D. Goldberg, vice president. "This action is a great surprise, but I can assure you that if the government sees fit to take the hotel we will not be belligerent."

HOUSE TOLD EAST TALKS OF WAR AS MIDWEST ACTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 9.—The great midwest did not want the war, but is doing far more to win it than the eastern states which were shouting for blood a year ago, Rep. Earl Wilson [R., Ind.] told the house today.

Wilson took his cue from the recent report of the treasury department on purchases of war bonds and stamps by the various states to help win the war. In stirring tones, Wilson spoke proudly of the record of his state and other states in the middle west during seven months of war.

"Gentlemen, I'm justly proud of my state," he said. "We didn't want any part of a war that could only be 'lost' by every country involved; we didn't want to set our country back 50 to 100 years in progress; we didn't want to have to rebuild, we wanted to keep on building, but now that we are in it, every other state of the 48 will have to fight every foot of the way if they top us in war effort. Just more proof that the dog that barks the loudest is not likely to bite."

East Rampant with Words.

A year ago, he said, the nation was caught in successive riptides of opinion and counteropinion about the possibilities of war.

"The eastern states were rampant—with words—'Let's get in there and give them the old "one-two,"' they said, or words to that effect," Wilson asserted. "But the middle west and my own Hoosier state were trying in every way they knew to save our young men, our money, and avoid the cultural setback that wars always bring. And what did the conservative middle west get from the eastern states? May I remind you that we of the 'slow but sure' section were called some mighty unfriendly names.

"And now we are in the middle of 1942, seven months into the most horrible conflict this earth has ever known. We're fighting multiple enemies on many fronts and who is buying the most bonds, where are the people giving to their fullest ability, and what has become of the 'one-two,' those 'knockout' blows the interventionist states were going to give the enemy?

Compares Bond Buying.

Wilson reminded the easterners that a "belligerent attitude" is not going to win the war. Bonds, bombs, stamps, and shells are the only language the enemy understands, he added. Also, he informed the house that Indiana is suspending its recruiting of medical men since she has been stripped clean of doctors for the armed forces and can now "wait for New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and Massachusetts to 'get on the beam'."

Cites Fighting Spirit.

"But now that we're in we intend to lick the pants off our opponents," he said. "Purely in the spirit of a friendly word to the wise, when this mess is over, and we've won, as we will, a lot of those loud-mouthed 'one-two' boys are likely to find that fight talk without fight intentions is bad business in this country.

"That middle west, that great, strapping, sincere section of this country, is likely to be a tough hombre to handle. They're not going to like other people getting them into scraps and letting them carry the brunt of the battle once we're in."

Believe Davis Loser in Fight for Facts.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 9.—The trial of eight Nazi saboteurs, who face death on the gallows or before a firing squad for violation of the laws of war, provided the back drop today for a grim battle for control of war news and propaganda.

Elmer Davis.

The contest is of vital interest to every citizen because its outcome will determine who will control news of the war effort—on the battle fronts and at home.

The admirals and generals and burocrats, who have been in control of news up to the present and who have been charged with harboring more interest in suppression than in dissemination, have united against the newly created Office of War Information, headed by Elmer Davis, former newspaper man and radio commentator.

Believed Outmaneuvered.

Tonight it appeared that Davis, who reportedly gave up an income of $100,000 a year to untangle the government's press relation and propaganda services, was on the way out before he could even begin to tackle the snarl of duplication and jealousy.

Altho Davis won a slight victory during the day in forcing the armed forces to release statements on the conduct of the Nazi spy trial, it generally was believed that he had lost the battle for control of the war information. It generally was agreed that he had been outmaneuvered by army brass hats and entrenched burocrats.

Davis was expected in informed circles to submit his resignation and yield to the forces which have been sniping at him ever since his unit was created by executive order on June 13.

Attacked from All Sides.

Davis has been opposed by army and navy forces, who are determined to control their own news; and by such civilian propagandists as Archibald MacLeish, whose Office of Facts and Figures pays the highest salaries in the government; and by Col. William [Wild Bill] Donovan, who had no wish to surrender his post as coordinator of information.

Press bureaus of such New Deal agencies as the War Production board and the Office of Civilian Defense, as well as those of established government agencies, also sharpened their knives for Davis, fearing that he might completely overhaul their bureaus and assume a tight rein of control.

One of the first things Davis is understood to have attempted in his new post was to get the navy to release the full story of Pearl Harbor. The navy received the suggestion coldly. He also was reported to have clashed with Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson on the release of army war news.

Generals Accept Challenge.

As the government prepared to try the eight Nazi spies, Davis moved for a showdown by demanding that the American people be entrusted with the full facts, and that publicity be given to everything except vital military secrets. He proposed that a censored report of the trial be released.

The army forces opposed to him decided to meet the challenge. When Davis sent a representative to the military commission to arrange for publicity, the commission ignored the representative.

Davis enlisted Attorney General Francis Biddle, chief prosecutor of the trial, and Biddle was snubbed by the generals. Davis appealed to White House Secretary Stephen T. Early, a former newspaperman. Early was rebuffed by Stimson.

"Any news about the Nazi trial will come from the President's military commission—that is, if you can get anything," he told reporters.

NATURAL RUBBER HOPES GET JOLT

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP).—Agriculture department plant specialists and engineers virtually have concluded after months of investigation and experiment that there is no quick, easy source of natural rubber to replace supplies cut off by the war.

Departmental studies have been directed at such plants as guayule, cryptostegia, Russian dandelion, goldenrod, and rabbit brush.

The department's rubber specialists believe that the most promising of these is guayule, slow growing shrub native to Mexico and parts of Texas. Some progress has been made toward commercial production of rubber from this plant. Sufficient seedlings are expected to be grown this summer to plant at least 50,000 acres next winter.

No Hope Soon, However.

Loren G. Polhamus, rubber specialist of the bureau of plant industry, emphasized that substantial yields of guayule rubber cannot be expected in the immediate future. At least 600,000 acres would be required to provide a sixth of the nation's normal needs.

Polhamus said considerable attention had been given lately to the possibilities of cryptostegia, a tropical vine found in Mexico and other Latin American countries, and added that it had been claimed by those interested in this plant that it would produce rubber much more quickly than guayule.

Plant Test Tracts.

He added that the department was not yet ready to recommend extensive plantings of cryptostegia because no practical method of extracting its rubber had been found.

The department is planting several test tracts of this plant in Florida, Mexico, Haiti, and Cuba to ascertain production problems and be prepared to inaugurate a commercial program.

Meanwhile it was said that department of agriculture chemists, working with such farm products as soy bean oil and corn oil, have been able to produce materials that look, feel, and smell much like natural rubber.

Sugar, Wool, Paper Scarcity Called Myth; Supplies Pile Up

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 9.—Bulging warehouses are embarrassing the alphabetical agencies that have been restricting public consumption of wool, sugar, and paper, and officials are shifting their arguments to justify these restrictions. They now predict greater transportation difficulties.

Sen. H. H. Schwartz.

Sen. H. H. Schwartz [D., Wyo.], chairman of a senate wool committee, today said the stockpile of sheep shearings in America is three times normal and there is no justification for the blending of fabrics as ordered by the War Production board.

"You can't buy an all virgin wool suit or blanket in America unless it's made in Britain," said the senator from the ranching state. "While our civilians who can't afford the price of imported goods are having to buy shoddy, the herders in Wyoming are going to have to sell ewe lambs to slaughter houses because of an artificial slump in the wool market.

Wool from Australia.

"Normally, America imports 40 per cent of its wool. Surely as long as Gen. MacArthur and his army are in Australia, we'll continue to send supplies and the ships can bring back wool.

"There's adequate wool for the army and navy and for the civilian needs without the WPB restrictions. Furthermore, I don't see the economy of blending the civilian fabrics, resulting in apparel that will wear out twice as fast as unblended wool."

Price Administrator Leon Henderson has been relaxing the sugar rations, insisting, however, that the overloaded warehouses are not a true picture of the country's supplies on hand. By estimating that consumers' stocks have dwindled, his survey reports there is a third less sugar in the United States than a year ago.

The Amalgamated Sugar company, headed by Marriner Eccles, chairman of the Federal Reserve board, last month sent a letter to its beet growers apologizing for failure to make a supplemental payment to them. The letter blamed rationing.

"There is no justification," said the company letter, "for the drastic rations that are being imposed upon sugar consumers. Reliable sugar experts maintain there is no existing sugar shortage that warrants the present consumption restrictions."

Henderson blasted this letter as inaccurate and destructive of public confidence in the rationing program. He directed his blast, not at Eccles, but at H. A. Benning, vice president and general manager of the company.

Ships hauling military supplies to Hawaii and to Caribbean outposts have been returning with sugar, clogging port warehouses.

Paper "Shortage" Boomerangs.

The alleged threat of a paper shortage broadcast by WPB early this year has proved embarrassing to the alphabetical agencies. Six months ago there was talk of newspapers having to reduce the number of their editions or the number of pages. Every one was urged to salvage all old papers.

The paper mills were flooded with salvaged paper. Their storage facilities, were overtaxed. Today Washington apartment landlords are asking tenants to put old newspapers in the incinerators, saying they can no longer sell old papers.

Nevertheless WPB has a program for curtailing paper production. On Tuesday one of the day's 49 handouts from the Office of War Information was a nine page announcement on paper conservation.

BOMBERS BLAST JAP BARRACKS AT DILI, TIMOR

GEN. MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, July 10 [Friday]—(AP).—Allied flyers bombed Japanese barracks at Dili, capital of Portuguese Timor, Thursday and scored direct hits on a number of buildings, allied headquarters announced today. Timor lies northwest of Australia. Off the northeast coast both enemy and allied air activity was limited to reconnaissance, the command said in its daily communique.

ORDER MIDNIGHT CLOSING OF BARS IN MIAMI BEACH

Miami Beach, Fla., July 9 (AP).—Curfew was sounded for the bright spots in this resort area today.

The Miami Beach city council passed an emergency ordinance banning the sale or consumption of liquor in public places after midnight on week days and 1 a. m. Sunday. Package stores were ordered to close at 8 p. m. during the week and all day Sunday. The opening hour for the sale of liquor, wine, or beer is 7 a. m.

Passage of the ordinance, effective tomorrow, ended all after midnight revelry in this area, as Miami, Coral Gables, Key West, and South Miami already had taken such action at the request of military and naval authorities.

to pose, he asked: "What do you want this for—my obituary?"

Stimson left the White House in a more happy mood. He told reporters he was leaving with everything he had come with, which was taken as a boast that he had yielded nothing to the Office of War Information.

A short time later Maj. Gen. Frank McCoy, chairman of the military commission, issued a three paragraph statement concerning yesterday's sessions of the spy trial, which said the sessions will continue to be closed because the nature of the testimony involves the security of the United States.

In another statement at the close of today's sessions, McCoy added that no one can reveal any part of the proceedings, under penalty of contempt proceedings, unless authorized to do so by competent authority—presumably the President. This was taken to constitute a taunt to the Office of War Information.

Friends Expect Showdown.

While it was acknowledged that Davis had won a victory in forcing the army to issue statements on the trial, the McCoy communiques were regarded as nothing more than an empty gesture toward fulfilling a meaningless compromise, suggested by the President.

Even friends of Davis acknowledged that he appeared to have lost the main struggle. Some stated frankly that the only course before him is to prepare and submit to the President a directive to the army, together with his undated resignation. If the directive is not issued, the resignation would have to be accepted, they said.

It is believed that the President will exert every effort to prevent Davis from resigning, because his resignation—within a month after formation of the new unit which was to solve all war information problems—would be a serious blow to White House prestige. However, friends predicted Davis will not remain as head of a hamstrung organization.

Seven Witnesses Testify.

The only news of the trial, released by McCoy, was that seven witnesses testified at today's sessions. It was assumed that these were FBI agents who had trapped the saboteurs. McCoy said that counsel for the defense had been given ample opportunity to cross-examine the witnesses.

A hint that treason trials in civil courts await persons who aided the eight Nazis after they landed from submarines was given tonight by J. Edgar Hoover, chief G-man.

In a radio interview, Hoover referred to the FBI cleanup of gangsters in the last decade, then added:

"A criminal without his contacts cannot carry out his lawless plans. In the case of the Nazi saboteurs, the situation is even more aggravating. Here were eight saboteurs who came to maim and kill. Those who gave them aid were traitors. Treason shall not become profitable."

The FBI is holding an undisclosed number of associates and contacts of the Nazis. This was announced on June 29, the day after the roundup of the saboteurs was revealed.

BUNDESEN SUED FOR $400,000 OVER BABY BOOK FIRM

Suit for $400,000 damages was filed in Superior court yesterday against Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, five others, and two corporations, charging all conspired to ruin the business of the Baby Book Publishing company, 343 South Dearborn street.

Those named with Bundesen, president of the city board of health, are Dr. William J. Fishbein, his assistant; Charles Bidwill, owner of the Chicago Cardinals football team; R. J. Koeppe, a salesman; Roy C. Benningsen; the National Baby Book company, and the National Merchandisers.

The suit charges the group unlawfully took over the business of the Baby Book Publishing company, consisting of distribution of "Our Babies," a pamphlet written by Bundesen and used for years by him in his work in the city health department.

APPROVE LOANS TO STUDENTS FOR WAR EDUCATIONS

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP).—The government opened its purse today for loans to more than 10,000 college students—men and women—seeking technical or professional degrees in six specified fields, to make certain their education is completed in the shortest time possible and applied to the war effort.

Congress provided $5,000,000 for this means of obtaining urgently needed persons trained in engineering, physics, chemistry, medicine [including veterinary], dentistry, and pharmacy.

SEIZE AMERICAN CITIZEN-STUDENT AS GERMAN SPY

FBI Reveals His Studies Under Nazi Gestapo.

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP).—The justice department announced today that Herbert Karl Friedrich Bahr, 29 years old, an American citizen, had been seized by federal bureau of investigation agents on charges of violating the espionage laws.

Herbert Bahr.

"Bahr's espionage activities," said a department statement, "were brought to light as a result of the investigation of passengers arriving in this country on the steamship Drottningholm on June 30."

A complaint charging Bahr with conspiracy to violate federal espionage statutes and using a mutilated passport was filed before United States Commissioner Joseph F. Holland at Newark, N. J.

Taken from Drottningholm.

A justice department official said Bahr was aboard the Drottningholm when it docked.

Nearly 1,000 persons aboard that ship were detained after its arrival pending questioning of each passenger by federal agents. Attorney General Francis Biddle said at the time that such an inquiry was necessary "in the interest of national security."

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said in a formal statement:

"Bahr was born in Klosperfelde, Germany, on Aug. 27, 1913. He came to the United States with his family in 1926, taking up residence at Buffalo, N. Y. He returned to Germany on Oct. 18, 1938, as an American exchange student to study at the Technische Hochschule at Hanover, Germany.

"During the period following his arrival in Germany he attended school and worked in various plants. Bahr admitted that he was enlisted in October of 1941 by the German Gestapo [secret police] for the purpose of returning to the United States to obtain and transmit to Germany information pertaining to the war effort of this country.

Taught Secrets of Spying.

"Bahr was instructed in the art of carrying on espionage as well as methods of writing with secret ink, and was furnished with cover addresses in Spain, Switzerland, and South America, to be used by him for the purpose of transmitting information pertaining to the war effort in this country, in messages prepared with secret ink on the backs of innocent appearing communications to be mailed to these addresses.

"Bahr was furnished approximately $7,000 by the German espionage service which was to be used by him in obtaining military and production information after his arrival here, as well as for the purpose of bribery and the 'loosening of tongues.'

"Bahr claims citizenship thru his father's naturalization on June 5, 1933, at Buffalo.

Gets Jewish Family Tree.

"During the time that Bahr was being instructed in espionage activities he was furnished a résumé of the history of a Jewish family which he was assured no longer could be traced. This résumé was furnished by the German Gestapo with instructions completely to digest and memorize it in order that he might utilize the information in establishing his background and activities to persons who might question him and further to supply an explanation for the presence of the American currency which had been given him by the Gestapo."

THE QUESTION.

Were you ever stranded in a rain or snow storm.

WHERE ASKED.

THE ANSWERS.

La Verne Carroll, messenger, 1023 South Springfield avenue—We were stranded when heavy rains washed out the small wooden bridge that connected a little peninsula to the mainland. It was a nice place for a picnic in the right kind of weather, but it was no fun sitting in the car the whole day while they set up a temporary bridge.

Jane E. Crilly, clerical worker, 4208 Kenmore avenue—We were marooned in a pretty lonesome and dangerous place when the downpour began. The heavy rain and rough water kept us busy bailing from the shallow rowboat. We couldn't make any headway, so we just drifted until the storm was over, and finally got back safely.

Burness Soderman, receptionist, 474 Pennsylvania avenue, Glen Ellyn—There was no traffic on the road when my car slipped into the ditch and rolled over on its side. The blizzard raged on and I shivered and hoped. A farmer with a horse and buggy finally came by and he drove me to his home. I was stranded there for another day.

A. O. Gilbertson, manager of a meat products company, 8445 Drexel avenue—Minnesota is famous for its deep snow and real blizzards, and now I know what they're talking about. It took me eight hours to travel three miles at my crawling pace. I was stranded in every snowbank that came along and practically shoveled my way to the nearest farm.

Vernon Bahn, insurance clerk, 651 West 54th place—Last summer when the heaviest snow of the season fell in Estes Park I was there. The snow had drifted into 18 foot banks over the roads and a whole group of tourists was stranded in a few small cabins. We were shut-ins for three days, but we had plenty of company.

Connie L. Ferris, typist, 3957 Thomas street—Just before the roads drifted over with snow we arrived at the farm house. We had to stay there over night. Even after the snowplow had gone thru we had to shovel our way out to the main road, which was about a quarter of a mile from the house.

FEDERAL GRAND JURY HEARS FORMER HEAD OF BUND IN CHICAGO

Peter Gissibl, 113 Sherman place, Waukegan, was a witness yesterday before the federal grand jury investigating seditious activity in the Chicago area. Gissibl, a former president of the German-American bund of Chicago, was reported to have told agents he left Chicago four years ago to get away from his bund associates. Federal agents yesterday interned John Vieth, 1107 Grace street, a German alien. Vieth, a jeweler in the Bankers' building, is the 129th enemy alien interned here since Dec. 7. They include 117 Germans, 7 Japs, and 5 Italians.

THREE BUNDSMEN HELD UNDER BAIL OF $25,000 EACH

New York, July 9 (AP).—Three leaders of the German-American bund and its former national counsel were held in bail totaling $85,000 tonight as the total number of bundists arrested by the Federal Bureau of Investigation in a nation-wide raid during the last three days rose to 124.

All four pleaded innocent today in Federal court to charges of conspiracy to advise bund members to refuse to serve in the country's armed forces, and to make false statements in connection with registration of aliens.

3 Held in $25,000 Each.

The four are Wilbur V. Keegan, Teaneck, N. J., attorney, former national counsel; August Klaprott, formerly of Union City, N. J., leader of the bund's eastern department; William Luedtke of Saddle River township, N. J., national secretary, held in $25,000 bail each, and Ernest Martin Christoph of Summit, N. J., leader of three New Jersey county units, held in $10,000 bail.

Also arraigned in Federal court was Max Rapp, described as a bund unit leader in New York City, who pleaded innocent to two indictments charging him with violations of the selective service and alien registration acts.

Attorney Called Ring Leader.

The court was told that Keegan is one of the most important defendants of the 29 indicted Tuesday. Ninety-five other persons, including 21 women, have been seized since then by the FBI in its campaign to smash the bund.

Assistant United States Attorney Howard F. Corcoran said that while Keegan was not an official member of the bund, he had participated in its activities—particularly, he said, in counseling national officers who issued commands to bund members to violate the selective service and alien registration laws and that he occupied a position equivalent to that of a national officer.

HENDERSON CUTS 21 MILLION OFF BUDGET FIGURE

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP).—Leon Henderson was reported today to have informed a senate appropriations subcommittee that he could operate the Office of Price Administration for the next year with an appropriation of 140 million dollars, or 21 millions less than he previously requested, by making drastic cuts in his field forces.

Henderson had been instructed by the committee to submit new estimates of fund needs.

One member said there were indications the committee might cut the amount below 140 millions but probably would increase the house figure of 75 millions.

State Directors of WPA Meet to Reduce Budgets

The appointment of Roy Schroder, southeast regional director, as special assistant to the national Works Project administration commissioner was announced by F. H. Dryden, acting national commissioner of the WPA, at the annual meeting of WPA directors from 48 states in the Stevens hotel yesterday. The directors met in closed session to trim their budgets to conform with the reduced WPA appropriation for the fiscal year which has just started. It is expected they will cut the average number of WPA employés from 975,000 to 400,000.

Chilean Liberals Support Continued Axis Relations

SANTIAGO, Chile, July 9 (AP).—The central committee of the Radical [Liberal] party announced today its indorsement of President Juan Antonio Rios' policy of maintaining diplomatic relations with the axis while Foreign Minister Ernesto Barros emphasized Chilean aid to the United States. Marcial Mora, leader of the Radical party, announced his resignation after the vote on government policy.

HINKY DINK MUST MOVE AGAIN, BUT WON'T QUIT LOOP

Sighs Over Seizure of Congress Hotel.

BY PERCY WOOD.

The war came right to Ald. Michael [Hinky Dink] Kenna's door in the Congress hotel yesterday when the government took over the Congress and the Stevens for air force reception centers. It will mean that the venerable councilman of the 1st ward will have to move once more—but not out of his beloved loop area.

Ald. Michael Kenna.

News of his coming eviction reached Kenna late in the afternoon as he was sitting with a crony in his corner suite, smoking one of his favorite long black cigars and generally as much at peace with the world as a man approaching 85 can be.

His caller was Joe Clark, Democratic state central committeeman for the 1st congressional district, who has been taking over more and more political duties for his leader as the years have rolled along. Following a daily habit, Clark left his host for a few minutes and returned with the newspapers, and a frown.

He's Resigned to Change.

"Looks like you'll have to move," he remarked, tossing a paper to Kenna. The alderman moved closer to the window overlooking Grant park and the lake and studied the news story for some time. Finally he grunted resignedly.

"Where will you go?" Clark asked.

"The Hink" said he would go to another hotel, of course, and they discussed hostelries for some time, eliminating a few and at last narrowing the field to two or three, one of them the Palmer House. A man who has spent a long lifetime within the increasing clatter of the loop isn't likely to be much inconvenienced by such a change, Kenna seemed to feel, altho he said he regretted leaving the Congress. He has just grown to feel at home there after moving across the street from the Auditorium when it closed a year ago.

Expected to Quit Council.

Mrs. Kenna died in the Auditorium eight years ago and the alderman's withdrawal unto himself has been marked since then, and hastened by the death of his old political partner, Ald. John [The Bath] Coughlin, in 1939. Kenna went into Coughlin's seat in the council, but plans to give that up next year. His successor may be another 1st ward veteran, John Budinger. Clark may take over the seat "The Hink" holds in the Democratic county central committee.

The alderman has until Aug. 1 to move from the Congress. For almost a third of a century his home has been within sound of the Wabash avenue "L" line and he will probably hear it as long as he lives.

Other residents of the Congress who will be discommoded by the eviction include the opera personages, Giacomo Rimini and his wife, Rosa Raisa. Mme. Raisa said she had lived in the hotel since 1914, the year of her debut. Rimini looked out of the windows of his 6th floor suite at Grant park and exclaimed, "I would sleep in the park if it would win the war."

Two Slugged, Five Others Menaced in Tavern Holdup

Three bandits last night held up a liquor store at 2781 Lincoln avenue, menaced Alan Satlin, 1252 South Lawndale avenue, the clerk, and six patrons and escaped with $100. One of the robbers slugged Satlin and one of the patrons, A. J. Plennert, 1223 Diversey parkway. Witnesses said the slugging bandit was cross-eyed and wore sports clothes, including a blue shirt decorated with brown horseshoes.

group which took over the hotel on a lease with option to purchase from the Reconstruction Finance corporation which acquired it from its previous owners.

"We've put a lot of money into rehabilitating the hotel and now it is doing well," he said. "It is out of the red for the first time in many years. But the good of the army in prosecuting the war is the main thing."

Goldberg said the Congress would face difficult problems in the conversion to wartime use, the most tragic being the future of 600 employés, many of long service. The evacuation order also affects the hotel's drug store, barber shop, beauty shop, lingerie and flower shops. Goldberg said that coincidental with the condemnation suit came instructions for him to file papers in connection with an application made three months ago for a commission in the air corps.

A spokesman for William F. Krahl, president of the Stevens hotel corporation, speaking before the suit had been filed, said nothing was known of any plans to take over the Stevens. He denied that any negotiations had been conducted and said that all surveys by army engineers indicated the hotel was unsuited for the army's purpose.

Built at Huge Cost.

The Stevens hotel, which was built at a cost of $27,000,000, was recently estimated to be worth $16,000,000, J. A. Jones, general manager, said in a prepared statement. Its owner, the Stevens Hotel corporation, includes 35,000 bondholders.

Jones said that in the last three months there had been six different surveys by army groups. He also said it was reported that the army planned to install a radio school there, and that the former hotel manager, Joseph Binns, now a first lieutenant with the army air force technical training command in Florida, might return to run the plant.

Only those of its 1,000 employés engaged in such work as maintenance, engine room, or elevators will be retained, it was reported. Its 585 permanent residents must seek new quarters.

In its petition, the government stated that it was acquiring the "temporary use of the land, buildings, and personal property" for the army air service until June 30, 1943.

Army Managers Here.

The Congress hotel and annex, according to the petitions, comprise 21,106 square feet of floor space, while the larger Stevens has 78,196 square feet.

How far the army intends to go in removing or altering the luxurious appointments of the hotels to military life was not known. The Stevens hotel has 3,000 rooms and the Congress 1,000.

A board from the army air force, Sandifer said, is in town and will handle the acquisition of the hotel properties and will set up the army establishment to run the two plants.

The army, it was learned, expects to be able to house between 9,000 and 10,000 men in the Stevens and about 5,000 in the Congress.

Army to Fill Some Jobs.

Presumably the army intends to install regulation bunk beds in tiers in the hotel rooms, thus being able to accommodate as many as four men in a single room, with more being given quarters in the larger rooms and suites.

It is also expected that army cooks and bakers will take over in the kitchens, but in some of the other departments, many old hotel employés may be retained because of their special knowledge.

This was the plan followed when the air corps moved into the leading resort hotels in Miami, Fla. By using these establishments as they existed, without taking the time to build other camps, the army reported it had saved three months in time and many millions of dollars.

Under the war department plans, as reported last May, the army will send air force recruits here from all over the country to what will be known as the Chicago Air Corps Replacement center.

Enlisted men would be classified, immunized, provided with corrective treatment if necessary, given primary training, and then sent on to such technical training stations as the Army Air Force Technical Command Training school at Chanute field, Rantoul, Ill.

These men would eventually become aviation mechanics and airplane maintenance men. Others, found by army classification to possess qualifications as flyers, bombardiers, or navigators, would be sent to advance training in these specialties.

Surveys, which resulted in Chicago being chosen as the air force replacement center, were first made by a group of army officers from Chanute field. Later other surveys were made by army engineers whose recommendations are usually considered essential for any such program.

Hillman Asks Roosevelt to Be Relieved of Duties

New York, July 9 [New York News]. —Sidney Hillman, special assistant to President Roosevelt on labor matters, has asked to be relieved of his post, so he can return to his old job as president of the CIO Amalgamated Clothing Workers. At Long Beach, Long Island, where he has been recuperating from an illness, the veteran labor leader admitted he expected to return to private life.

Custody Battle

Hermine Honeycutt, 9, and Mrs. Joyce Honeycutt after court ordered child to foster home pending custody ruling.

Judge Joseph E. Dailey of Peoria, sitting in the Juvenile court, yesterday ordered that Hermine Honeycutt, 9 years old, who has been living with her mother, Mrs. Joyce Honeycutt, in a mission house at 1649 Van Buren street, be placed in a foster home pending a final hearing to determine the girl's custody.

Her custody is being sought by her grandmother, Mrs. Hester Biermeyer, 126 Keystone avenue, who charged that the child is being forced to live with religious fanatics.

Benjamin H. Vanderveld, attorney for Mrs. Biermeyer, declared that Hermine lived with her grandmother until her mother took her away four weeks ago. Judge Dailey, after a preliminary hearing, ordered the girl taken elsewhere and instructed Assistant State's Attorney Ralph O. Clare to file a petition for dependency in the case. It will be heard July 17.

LEHMAN ORDERS COURT PROBE OF LABORERS' UNION

New York, July 9 [Special].—Gov. Herbert H. Lehman today called a special term of Supreme court to sift charges of fraud, corruption, embezzlement and extortion against both international and local officials of the powerful Hod Carriers and Common Laborers' Union of America [AFL].

Supreme Court Justice Frank J. Cregg of Syracuse was named to head the special term. The court is empowered to draw a special grand jury to hear evidence gathered in a five month inquiry headed by Assistant Attorney General Edward G. O'Neill.

The court will convene at Newburgh on Aug. 3, but the governor announced the investigation will embrace New York City, Westchester, Sullivan, Rockland, and Green counties, as well as Orange and Ulster, where Prosecutor O'Neill originally began work.

The investigation arose from charges of "rank-and-file" members of local 17, at Newburgh, who demanded an accounting of $600,000 of union funds that had disappeared. They charged that Samuel Nuzzo, union business agent and Newburgh night club operator, had headed a "clique of pseudo officers" holding "absolute and dictatorial control."

BLAST AND FIRE RAKE COAL MINE; 20 MEN KILLED

Morgantown, W. Va., July 9 (AP).—An official of the Pursglove Coal Mining company reported late tonight that 20 miners were killed in an explosion in the concern's mine on Scott's Run.

Joseph Pursglove, who directed rescue operations for the company, announced the number almost seven hours after the blast trapped two crews of miners four and a half miles underground.

Pursglove said the bodies would be brought to the surface in the morning. Eighteen of the dead were tentatively identified.

Rescue efforts had been hampered by fire which followed the explosion and it was hours before the center of the blast scene could be reached.

WOODRUFF RAPS RUBBER AND GAS CONTRADICTIONS

Informs House Bungling Adds to Confusion.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 9.—Administration bungling is increasing the confusion about rubber and gasoline shortages, instead of eliminating it, Rep. Roy O. Woodruff [R., Mich.] told the house today.

Taking account of the current feud between Donald M. Nelson, chief of the War Production board, and Oil Coördinator Harold L. Ickes over jurisdiction in the rubber collection campaign, Woodruff said that executives of the administration cannot agree among themselves.

"It was too much for the American people to hope that the campaign for scrap rubber would not end up in a rubber scrap, as it finally has, between Nelson and Ickes," commented Woodruff.

Opposes Unnecessary Rationing.

"The American people are ready to make any sacrifice necessary for the safety of the nation and successful conduct of the war," he said, but added that public officials owe it to the people to order no rationing of any necessity beyond the point absolutely required by the war effort."

"The American people," he said, will strongly resent any unnecessary privations imposed upon them by a burocracy gone arrogant with power."

It is time for the administration to quit contending that gasoline rationing is necessary to save tires, Woodruff contended.

"The tale most frequently told by the burocrats is that gasoline rationing is to save rubber," he continued. "The administration cannot justify rationing gasoline to save rubber when it is entirely feasible by the end of this summer for one company in Michigan to be producing enough Thiokol rubber substitute to recap a million tires a month.

Would Supply Seaboard.

"Every effort ought to be exercised by the administration to get gasoline into the 17 eastern states so thousands of businesses will not be destroyed and millions of people disturbed at their work.

"The fact that something is wrong is proved by the utter confusion and contradiction evidenced in the statements of the President and many of his subordinates in connection with this matter."

Woodruff called attention to the President's remarks at a press conference Tuesday.

In one breath, said Woodruff, Mr. Roosevelt remarked that he might have to take every automobile tire, if the war gets worse, and later said that if a man lived next door to an oil well and had an automobile and plenty of tires, he could see no reason why he should not use the car if necessary in his business.

Reviews Other Entreaties.

On the same day other officials of the war, navy, and interior departments were urging motorists to decrease their driving "regardless of personal inconvenience," Woodruff recalled.

"It seems to have become too easy for some burocrat in Washington to issue an order that the people are to be deprived of gasoline, rubber, or sugar regardless of the supplies on hand or the surpluses on hand which are taxing the storage facilities of the nation," Woodruff concluded.

Detroit Auto Tire Thief Gets 5 to 10 Year Term

Detroit, Mich., July 9 (AP).—Stanley J. Mosely, 19 years old, today was sentenced by Recorder's Judge John J. Maher to 5 to 10 years in state prison for automobile tire theft, the heaviest punishment handed out here for tire theft since rationing went into effect. In sentencing Mosely, Judge Maher availed himself of a new statute doubling the maximum penalty which can be given for theft of rationed articles.

Freed in Slaying

Miss Bonnie Wood as she appeared in court yesterday.

Mrs. Reva Wood, 43 years old, and her daughter, Bonnie, 24, were found not guilty of manslaughter last night by Judge Harold G. Ward in the Criminal court.

They were accused of having slain their former landlady, Mrs. Amelia Humphries, 60, of 5151 Kimbark avenue. Testimony showed that Mrs. Humphries and Miss Wood quarreled April 21 and Mrs. Humphries was shot in the leg during a tussle. She died a month later.

The defense was that the shot was fired accidentally, and that heart disease and not the wound ultimately caused the landlady's death.

WAR BOND SALES IN ILLINOIS 15% UNDER JUNE GOAL

But State Exceeds U. S. Average.

Illinois fell 15 per cent short of its June quota in sales of war bonds and stamps but made a much better showing than New York, California, and Pennsylvania, Norman B. Collins, state administrator of the war savings staff, announced yesterday.

During June, Illinois sales totaled $55,835,000 against its quota of $65,409,000. The entire nation, however, reached only 79 per cent of the goal, total sales being $633,945,000 against a quota of $800,000,000.

Other States Fall Short.

New York state sold $102,025,000 against a quota of $161,795,000, or 63.1 per cent; Pennsylvania sold $51,115,000 against a quota of $69,834,000, or 73.2 per cent; and California sold $41,226,000 against a quota of $54,441,000, or 75.7 per cent.

Collins pointed out that while the state fell short of its June goal, the sales were more than $3,000,000 in excess of the war securities sold in May.

Greater Effort This Month.

"Illinois must put on the steam during July," he said. "Our quota for the state has been raised to $85,000,000, which means that $30,000,000 more sales in war securities must be accomplished in July than were completed in June."

Collins said the war savings staff is carrying on an intensive drive not only to install pay roll allotment plans among all the leading firms of the state but to increase plans already in existence to at least 10 per cent of pay roll. The drive must be successful for Illinois to meet the July quota and future goals, he said.

Coast Guard Pushes Drive.

The coast guard will push war bond and stamp sales at Treasury corner [State and Van Buren streets] at 11:30 a. m. today with a jam session presented by its swing trio, the Coast Guard Cutters, and with the personal appearances of Peggy Van Vleet and Guy Robertson, stars of the current play, My Sister Eileen. Coast guardsmen also will explain the workings of the Lyle gun, which shoots a rescue line to ships for the attachment of a breeches buoy.

UNIONISTS PRAISE TRIBUNE AWARDS TO WAR WORKERS

Add Incentive for Highest Effort, Leaders Say.

Leaders of the American Federation of Labor, the Congress of Industrial Organizations, and independent unions were united yesterday in their praise of THE TRIBUNE's offer of an award each month to the worker who has made the outstanding contribution to the nation's war effort.

Each month during the war—the first award to be made in August—THE TRIBUNE will give a solid gold pin to the man or woman worker who is the winner for that month.

The following statements were made by the labor leaders:

William L. McFetridge, president of the Building Service Employés' International union [AFL]: "THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE's plan for the recognition of individual work in war production is a wonderful one. Each worker, I am sure, is trying to do his all in this war effort, but outstanding work should be rewarded."

Robert Wright, Chicago organizational director, United Auto, Aircraft, Agricultural Implement Workers' union [CIO]: "THE TRIBUNE's recognition of the important work by the workers in this war effort is praiseworthy. The workers in the war plants are the uncrowned heroes of this war. THE TRIBUNE in making these awards will in effect be supplying a few of these heroes with crowns."

R. C. Leonard, president of the Independent Paint Makers' union of the Sherwin-Williams company: "The policy of awarding recognition to war plant workers initiated by THE TRIBUNE will be a constant inspiration to increase production. Only by unified action on the production lines can we hope to achieve the production goal set by our President."

Anton Johannsen, vice president of the Chicago Federation of Labor and circulation and business manager of the Federation News: "THE TRIBUNE's plan for giving medals to the heroes on the home front is very encouraging to the worker."

Claude Crowe, president of the Progressive Steel Workers' union, an independent union, Wisconsin Steel works: "This action of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE is a fitting recognition of the fighters on the home front. It is a fine thing to have recognition for outstanding workers."

Patrick F. Sullivan, president of the Chicago Building Trades council: "What a swell plan! Heroes in the armed forces receive medals so why should not the heroes behind the lines be rewarded in the same way."

Workers in war plants thruout Illinois, Lake county, Indiana, and Racine and Kenosha counties, Wisconsin, are eligible for nomination to win the Chicago Tribune award each month. Nominations should include all details as to the services performed by the worker who has made an outstanding achievement in the nation's war effort. The information should be sent to the War Workers Award Editor, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Tribune Tower, Chicago.

The Tribune Award will be made about the 10th of each month, based on work done the preceding month. An independent committee will select the individual to be honored. Nominations should be in by July 31, if possible, and no later than Aug. 5, to be considered for the July award.

REQUIRE STUDY OF U. S. HISTORY IN 2 COLLEGES

Indianapolis, Ind., July 9 [Special].—Only two of 18 Indiana colleges and universities, reporting in a survey conducted by the Indianapolis News, make the study of United States history a requirement for graduation.

A survey by a New York newspaper has revealed that 82 per cent of the nation's colleges do not require the study of United States history for the undergraduate degree and that 72 per cent do not list it as an entrance prerequisite. The New York survey also showed that less than 10 per cent of the entire undergraduate body in the nation was enrolled in United States history classes during the spring semester of this year, altho 30 per cent was enrolled in European or world history courses.

The situation in Indiana despite the low number of schools which require the subject for graduation, is better than the national average. In five Hoosier institutions 40 to 60 per cent of this year's graduating classes took courses in United States history. All Indiana high school pupils are required to complete at least one year of United States history as a graduation requirement.

Salvage Officials Close Campaign Tonight.

An eleventh hour drive to push Illinois' scrap rubber collections to the top in the closing days of the nation-wide campaign was spurred yesterday by large contributions from public buildings. The 26 day campaign ends at midnight tonight.

Illinois' total collections will reach 25,000 tons, the War Production board salvage division estimated. William L. McFetridge, salvage director for the Chicago metropolitan area of the Office of Civilian Defense, predicted the area will have contributed about 14,000 tons of the state's total. The area includes Cook county and parts of Lake and Du Page counties.

100,000 Pounds from City Hall.

The city hall turned in 100,000 pounds during the drive—40,000 pounds from the department of streets, 30,000 pounds from the fire department, 20,000 pounds from the department of public works, and 10,000 pounds from the police department.

So relentless was the city hall collection drive that Police Commissioner James P. Allman now has to look at four holes in his carpet which formerly were neatly hidden by rubber mats, now on the scrap heap.

The United States courthouse provided 50,000 pounds, including 49 elevator pads weighing 125 pounds each, 1,000 feet of rubber stripping 4 feet wide, 800 cuspidor mats, seat pads, and old stamps. Postmaster Ernest J. Kruetgen directed Charles C. Shirley, chief custodian, to make a final roundup of scrap rubber in the 63 federal buildings in his charge.

Filling Station Roundup.

Gasoline companies will send their trucks to filling stations for final collections of old rubber. About 2,800 outlying stations were reported to have about 300 pounds each which have not yet been taken to central depots.

A strange story of the rubber drive was told to Central police by Harry Perkis, manager of the Lydy parking lot at 214 Quincy street. Burglars forced their way into the station early yesterday and took 100 pounds of scrap rubber worth $1 besides other goods valued at $70.

WPB TURNS DOWN PRISON PLEA FOR ELECTRIC CHAIR

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP).—Warden G. Norton Jameson of the South Dakota penitentiary, who needs an electric chair, got a polite but flat refusal from the War Production board today, on his request for priorities to build one.

Jameson is operating under pressure of a court order which requires him to produce an electric chair in time to carry out an execution Aug. 8.

The warden said Indiana offered to lend South Dakota the necessary equipment but the costs involved seemed prohibitive. Whether an offer from Vermont would turn out any better, he did not know. Jameson expressed interest in Mississippi's portable electric chair, but added that that state had not replied to his request for a loan.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 9.—The Office of Price Administration announced today that it has instructed tire inspectors for local ration boards on how to detect neglect or abuse of tires for evidence that may be used in refusing replacement to an otherwise eligible car owner.

Denial of tires on evidence of abuse is not mandatory. The regulations give a certain latitude to the local boards. The board may refuse to grant replacements for casings damaged by abuse "where the community would suffer no serious loss if the applicant were denied tires."

Tire Neglect Classifications.

Evidence of neglect may come under any one of seven classifications, said this afternoon's announcement. The classifications follow:

1. Tires run beyond the point where they can be repaired or recapped. [Specifications have been drafted to determine what the point is.]
2. Tread plies separated due to overloading, neglect in keeping tires properly inflated, or operation at high speeds.
3. Casings damaged by running flat.
4. Dual tires improperly matched.
5. Wheels out of alignment.
6. Tires damaged by uneven braking.
7. Spotty wear, indicating that the tire has been run on a bent rim.

Corrections Allowed.

It is recognized that the above standards are not absolute and that there may be mitigating circumstances. When tires have been damaged by faulty wheel alignment, for instance, or by uneven braking or mounting on a bent rim, the local board may withhold action under the abuse standards if the operator of the vehicle on which the tires are mounted can show that he has corrected the condition or has taken steps to get it corrected.

ROYALTY'S DAY IN U. S.: HOW KINGS, QUEEN AND OTHERS SPEND TIME

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Two kings, a queen, an archduke, two grand duchesses, and several princesses are in the United States, some on official visits, some as visitors.

Here's what they did yesterday:

New York—King Peter, the 18 year old ruler of Jugo-Slavia, broadcast a message to Polish soldiers over the radio in the morning, took a boat trip around Manhattan, attended a private luncheon at the Municipal airport, and went to a baseball game at the Yankee Stadium in the afternoon.

Dowager Grand Duchess Marie-Anne of Luxemburg was reported improving at Doctor's hospital after an acute abdominal condition. She is 81 years old.

GERMANS GAIN 90 MILES IN SOUTH RUSSIA SMASH

Imperil Vital Rail Link, Moscow Admits.

west bank of the upper Don and Timoshenko was reported counterattacking in an attempt to crush the enemy before he could cross the vital waterway in force.

The shallow, sluggish upper Don, which is 500 to 700 feet wide at the point of battle west of Voronezh, offered only a slight barrier to the German juggernaut, but the Red army was installed in the ravine-cut hills above the east bank and putting up fierce resistance.

The Moscow radio said local soviet counterattacks were being struck outside Voronezh. One of these attacks northwest of Voronezh was said to have routed the Germans from several villages.

The Russian air force struck at the German concentration on the Don, wrecking 60 tanks, while Red tanks, motorized infantry, and automatic gunners methodically mopped up isolated enemy groups which had crossed the caviar-producing river, Russia's third largest.

River Crossings Repulsed.

The Don—the great waterway which winds 1,325 miles thru rich lands from Tula province to the sea of Azov—was mentioned for the first time in frontline dispatches. Nowhere had the Germans—with their assortment of Hungarian, Rumanian, and Slovak mercenaries—been able to cross the Don in force, the Russians said.

The west bank of the Don and roads and ravines leading to it were described as jammed with hundreds of tanks and trucks concentrated for a crossing in force. Dispatches said the Germans almost succeeded in crossing west of Voronezh but were frustrated. The enemy used planes and heavy artillery to cover the attempted crossing.

Take Offensive in North.

On the northwestern front, where the Germans have been pressing local attacks for several days, the Red army was reported to have taken the offensive. After withdrawing to a new line, dispatches said, the Russians counterattacked, recapturing two places.

Hard fighting was reported in progress in three sectors of the Kalinin front, northwest of Moscow, with alternate successes. Dispatches said 35 German planes were downed in three days and the Russian communique listed 2,000 Germans killed in five days.

Three ships totaling 22,000 tons, a tanker and two transports, were declared sunk in the Baltic sea. Soviet submarines have been active in that "German lake" for nearly two weeks, disrupting German transport lines to their siege lines before Leningrad and the north.

Claim 300 Mile Line Breached.

BERLIN, July 9 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—A German breach in the southern sector of the Russian front has "shaken" soviet defenses west of the Don river for a breadth of more than 300 miles and sent the Red army into disorderly retreat, closely pursued by Nazi mechanized and air formations, the German high command reported today.

German and German-allied troops are "in full movement" along the whole 300 mile line, the communique said.

Counterattacks Repelled.

The Russians tried to relieve pressure on the south by counterattacks on the northern flank, north and northwest of Orel, but have been repelled with heavy casualties after four days of bitter fighting, it was said.

The Germans said the Russians penetrated some villages in this area in violent fighting yesterday but reported they were driven out again by tanks and dive bombers. Tanks were reported used in considerable numbers by both sides, with the Russians supporting their attacks with artillery fire and flame throwers.

DNB, official German news agency, said it learned from the high command that 490 soviet tanks had been destroyed or put out of action on the eastern front within six days.

Seven and perhaps eight Russian submarines have been sunk and at least five others seriously damaged by German and Finnish air and naval attacks in the Baltic in the last two weeks, the German radio quoted a special Finnish bulletin as announcing in Helsingfors.

VICHY, France, July 9.—Special cars are being provided for Jews at the end of trains in Paris subways, today's Paris papers said.

British Seize Isle

Arrow locates island between Madagascar and African mainland which the British have seized from the French, according to their own announcement.

BRITAIN SEIZES FRENCH ISLE AS ANTI-SUB BASE

Mayotte Near Africa, on Sea Routes.

LONDON, July 9 (AP).—The British today announced the capture of the French island of Mayotte, strategically situated at the top of Mozambique channel in which Japanese submarines recently have attacked at least nine allied and neutral ships on the supply route to the Persian gulf, the middle east, and India.

The official war office report said the 140 square mile island, with a population of less than 18,000, was occupied by British forces July 2 without resistance or casualties. The island, which produces principally rum and perfume, is 200 miles west of Madagascar and about 300 miles east of Portuguese East Africa.

Sink Three Ships in Day.

About 75 miles southeast of the old pirate haunt of Anjouan, Mayotte is the best situated of the Comoro archipelago for command of the Mozambique channel. It is opposite the northern tip of Madagascar, which the British captured in May.

Japanese submarines have become increasingly active in the channel, recently sinking three merchantmen within 24 hours.

Dispatches from Lourenco Marques, Portuguese East Africa, last Tuesday reported that two ships, one Norwegian and one Swedish, were sunk in Mozambique channel and two others, believed to be British, were attacked with unknown results.

Under Vichy Régime.

(The London report that three ships were sunk in 2½ hours indicated one of the two vessels which were attacked at the same time the neutral ships were sunk had gone down.)

During the first 15 days of June five other allied ships were torpedoed in this area.

SAYS AMERICANS ONCE REJECTED GUN NAZIS USE

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

BERNE, Switzerland, July 9.—This week's issue of Die Nation of Berne, said both the American and British military attachés in Switzerland once turned down the 88 mm. cannon with which the Germans "have been knocking around the best of the united nations' equipment in the North African campaign."

According to the Berne weekly, the gun was invented in 1939 by a German living in Switzerland who showed it to the British military attaché who refused the weapon on the ground it was not particularly useful. The inventor is then stated to have gone to the American, who also turned it down.

"Events followed their natural course thereafter," the paper continued, "and the inventor finally showed the plans to the German legation and today Rommel possesses a weapon which has brought him victory."

Only an Invasion Can Win Victory, British General Says

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 10 [Friday].—Victory can be won only by a military invasion of enemy territory, Gen. Sir James Marshall-Cornwall asserted at a press conference today. "We shall have to win this war in enemy country; it will not be won by long range bombers visiting Berlin, tho this may be a decisive factor." Marshall-Cornwall recently returned from Egypt, where he was the commander of British troops.

NAZI BATTLESHIP 'OUT FOR MONTHS,' MOSCOW CLAIMS

Says Tirpitz Badly Ripped by Two Torpedoes.

MOSCOW, July 9 (AP).—Russian naval authorities asserted tonight that the German super battleship Tirpitz had been put out of action for several months by the daring attack of a Red submarine, but regarded her sortie into the Arctic as evidence that the Nazis have turned their main naval effort against ship lanes from America and Britain to Russia.

Twice torpedoed and officially declared seriously damaged, the Tirpitz returned to the shelter of a western Norwegian fjord with her accompanying squadron, the pilots of soviet reconnaissance planes reported. There, while undergoing repairs, she may be vulnerable to renewed British air attacks.

[The German high command, denying that the Tirpitz had been damaged or even attacked, reported that German air attacks on Murmansk, probable destination of the convoy, set fires in harbor and city.]

Disrupts Nazi Squadron.

Russian dispatches said the submarine attack disrupted operations of the strong German squadron against a big allied arms convoy, and that all ships of the convoy reached a Russian port in safety.

Nevertheless, the size of the squadron which escorted the huge battleship—three heavy cruisers and eight destroyers—was taken by the Russians as proof that the chief German concern henceforth will be to cut off allied aid to the Red army.

Russian dispatches said the newest and greatest German warship, estimated variously to displace from 35,000 to 50,000 tons, was crippled on Monday by a submarine commanded by Capt. Nicolai Lunin, one of the soviet navy's best known officers.

The Tirpitz was surrounded by a ring of destroyers when the two torpedoes slammed into her hull, the Russian dispatches related. Immediately after the attack, Russian reconnaissance planes saw the German squadron proceed on its original route toward the convoy for some time, but with its speed reduced to 10 knots. Then it turned back toward the Norwegian shore.

Sighted Traveling South.

The next morning—Tuesday—the planes detected the squadron far from the zone of operations, traveling southward along the Norwegian coast.

Until this week all the attacks on the allied arctic convoys and soviet ports have been carried out by shore based German planes and U-boats.

During the northern "white nights," while the allied freighters were passing close to the coast of German occupied Norway, they have had some losses, but the Russians say the great majority of British-American supplies have been reaching the soviet union.

Claim U. S. Cruiser Blew Up.

BERLIN, July 9 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—The Berlin radio tonight quoted a man it said was William Forcet, an American mate, as saying that three German fighter planes deliberately crashed their planes on the deck of a United States heavy cruiser escorting an Arctic convoy and sank her.

The broadcast quoted the man, allegedly picked up by a German emergency naval plane after the attack, as saying an explosion tore the cruiser apart after the planes hit her, showing the ammunition stores had been hit.

The Germans previously had claimed sinking the cruiser as well as 32 out of 38 vessels in the convoy bound for Russia by the northern route.

Norse Charge Nazis Burn Homes on Isle; Oust People

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP).—The Norwegian embassy today said the German forces had burned all homes on the Island of Bulandet, near Bergen, and that the entire population had been removed and many men arrested. The embassy said there was no known reason "for this act of terror."

'GHOST FIGHTERS' HARASS AXIS IN 'WAR OF NERVES'

Hit Suddenly in Rear of Rommel's Lines.

BY SAM BREWER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE BRITISH FORCES ON THE EGYPTIAN DESERT, July 9.—In a daring raid British imperial forces inflicted casualties of 55 to 1 on the enemy, an officer told me today. A fighting patrol which went out Tuesday night crept forward with grenades, tommy guns, rifles, and bayonets and worked its way into the German positions undiscovered. They spiked four anti-tank guns and one 25-pounder used by the enemy.

The men reported that 15 Germans were killed and approximately 40 were wounded. On its return the patrol had one man missing. He was believed to have been killed.

A Worry to Enemy.

Such raids as these are a prominent part of British tactics and there is evidence that they are causing worry to the enemy. Captured documents show that the enemy has ordered a sentry placed on each armored vehicle and every plane at all times.

Besides the front line raids, numerous other types of attacks behind the line have reduced the enemy to a point where he can never feel safe from attack anywhere at any time.

The most daring sorties are made by a long range desert group of "ghost raiders" whose activities are still shrouded in great secrecy. Little can be said except that this group of picked volunteers with special training operates hundreds of miles behind the enemy lines in hit and run raids that have cost the axis hundreds of planes and millions of dollars' worth of equipment and many lives.

Weeks Behind the Lines.

These and similar groups are organized like commandos and spend weeks behind the enemy lines. They have captured enemy posts and wiped out convoys. Some enemy parties have vanished without a trace as far as the enemy is concerned. The patrols bring back men and officers, vehicles and arms.

British patrols have burst into axis officers' messes and shot up everybody who tried to resist. They made the now famous raid on Marshal Erwin Rommel's headquarters just before the November offensive and it was only because he happened to be away for the night that he escaped death or capture.

The patrols have raided and mopped up enemy forts a thousand miles from the British lines where the garrison thought it was completely out of the war and doing the routine job of guarding camel tracks.

Planes Keep Up Attacks.

CAIRO, Egypt, July 9 (AP).—While plane patrols today harassed Marshal Rommel's forward lines, fighter-bombers attacked enemy positions on the axis air fields at El Daba and scored direct hits on planes refueling there. Enemy vehicles dispersed over the desert also were hit.

Of three enemy aircraft raiding Alexandria last night, with no damage reported, one was shot down and another damaged by night fighters.

Down 4 Malta Raiders.

VALETTA, Malta, July 9 (AP).—Two axis bombers and two fighters raiding Malta were destroyed today and several others were damaged, a British communique said tonight.

Claim British Driven Back.

BERLIN, July 9 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—A local attack forced the British to retreat in the southern sector of the El Alamein sector of Egypt, the high command reported today.

Say Destroyer Sinks 2 Subs.

ROME, July 9 [from Italian broadcasts]—(AP).—The high command said today that an Italian destroyer sank two enemy submarines while escorting an axis convoy in the Mediterranean.

DUEL WITH MEAT CLEAVER AND BAT ENDS IN A DRAW

Two men fought a duel with a meat cleaver and a baseball bat yesterday in a tavern at 7138 South Western avenue. It ended, said Chicago Lawn police, in a draw.

The fight started when one of the men accused the other of throwing his cotton work gloves in the garbage can. It ended with Jack O'Brien, 52 years old, 6425 Cornell avenue, being taken to the Bridewell hospital with a six inch wound in his back from a meat cleaver wielded by John Rand, 33, of 7154 South Mozart street, a tavern porter. Rand, in turn, wound up at the Chicago Lawn police station with a large lump and a headache as a result of being batted by O'Brien.

The gloves? Police said they were still in the ash can.

'FENCE WALKING' DIPLOMAT NAMED TURKISH PREMIER

Saracoglu Kept Nation Out of War—So Far.

ANKARA, Turkey, July 9 (AP).—Sukru Saracoglu, Turkish foreign minister, formed a new cabinet today with himself as premier to succeed Dr. Refik Saydam, who died of a heart attack at midnight Tuesday.

Sukru Saracoglu.

Saracoglu retained the foreign ministry portfolio and appointed new ministers of agriculture and commerce. Others in the cabinet under Dr. Saydam were retained. President Ismet Inonu, who named Saracoglu as the new premier, received the cabinet during the day.

HELD DELICATE JOB.

As the Turkish foreign minister since the Munich days of 1938 when Europe was choosing sides for war, Saracoglu has had probably the most delicate diplomatic job in the world. He has been successful so far, for his job was to keep Turkey out of war.

Altho no nation outside the war is as geographically vulnerable, Turkey remains a noncombatant.

Saracoglu's skill as a diplomatic tightrope walker prompted rumors as long as a year ago that he would become premier. His qualifications include a well rounded experience in Turkish administration, as minister of finance and of justice in former cabinets, and as a power in pre-war Balkan politics.

Head of Balkan Entente.

He became president of the Balkan entente, now dissolved by axis conquest of the Balkans down to the Turkish frontier, on Feb. 4, 1940.

In 1939 he was instrumental in keeping soviet Russia out of a new Balkan entente pact lest her membership offend Germany. In the same year, Turkey signed a 15 year treaty with the allies which freed her of any obligation to enter a war against Russia but bound her to aid the allies against any aggression upon them in the Mediterranean area.

On the other hand, a 10 year German-Turkish pact of amity was signed June 18, 1941, four days before the Nazi invasion of Russia. This secured Germany's southern flank against any threat thru Turkey, but Saracoglu contended that it saved the British alliance and insisted that Turkey would stand by her treaty obligations to the allies.

VALIANT CZECH DIES IN SINGLE HANDED BATTLE AGAINST AXIS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BATTLE HEADQUARTERS IN THE EGYPTIAN DESERT, July 9.—The "Free French" who put up such a brilliant fight against odds at Bir Hacheim today revealed the strange story of one man's brief career in the desert—a Czech volunteer, newly arrived to join their forces. He can be called "Lieut. Du Pont" for the story, tho that is not the name by which they knew him.

Du Pont was a moody, silent man who made no friends. One day he disappeared from camp in a baby tank armed only with a machine gun. His comrades decided he must have gone over to the enemy. The colonel agreed the case was suspicious.

Two days later the enemy attacked in force. An Italian colonel was captured mortally wounded in a blasted tank. Before dying he said he admired the courage of the French. He said that the day before the attack three of his tanks met a baby tank prowling near their lines. Instead of fleeing the bantam faced them and fought it out. The soldier fought with his machine gun and hurled grenades from the hatches until his grenades and cartridges were exhausted. Then he was killed.

"We buried him as a brave soldier," the Italian said, and told where Lieut. Du Pont was buried.

That is all that will ever be known of his one man drive against the enemy.

Britain to Free Pay Rollers for War Duty or War Work

LONDON, July 9 (AP).—Britain's civil service leaders decided today to set up their own man power boards to prune down the present heavy civil service lists and release men willing to volunteer for military service or war work. It was predicted that 100,000 could be released. Since the war 250,000 temporary employés have been added to the civil service rolls.

CHINESE AMBUSH AND ROUT FORCE OF 30,000 JAPS

Fell at Least 2,000; 3 Kiangsi Cities Retaken.

CHUNGKING, China, July 10—[Friday]—(AP).—A Japanese force of 30,000 has been ambushed and routed with the loss of at least 2,000 killed and wounded in heavy fighting in Kiangsi province, Chinese Central News dispatches reported last night.

All told the Chinese unofficially reported 5,000 Japanese casualties in various fighting sectors in recent engagements.

Meanwhile the headquarters of Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell announced that United States bombers left eight fires raging in Hankow, Japan's main base in the interior of China, in a raid carried out on Monday despite adverse weather.

It was the third raid against that Yangtze river port since July 1. Oil storage points and wharves were attacked.

Chinese Retake Three Cities.

The Chinese acknowledged the Japanese were in complete control of the 450 mile Chekiang-Kiangsi railway but reported that Chinese armies counterattacking in Kiangsi province have recaptured three cities: Nancheng, Ihwang, and Poyang.

The major action as told by Central News dispatches was a battle of Chinese forces on the eastern bank of the Kan river below the Kiangsi-Hunan railway against a force of 30,000 Japanese sent to trap them and capture Sinkan.

The dispatches indicated the Chinese trap was sprung somewhere in the 20 miles between Sinkan and Changshu.

In fighting in eastern Kiangsi province the Chinese News accounts said, the walled city of Nancheng was recaptured after sustained attacks lasting several days, with the Japanese retreating to the northwest toward Linchwan, 40 miles above Nancheng.

Fell 900 in One Battle.

The invaders suffered more than 900 casualties in that fighting, the Chinese said.

At the same time, they declared, Ihwang, 32 miles west of Nancheng and 45 miles southeast of Sinkan, was recaptured, with the Japanese leaving some 500 dead in the city.

The Chinese high command announced that the city of Poyang, across Poyang lake from Nanchang, was recaptured July 3 after a night-long battle in which it said the Japanese suffered 500 casualties.

In another area, at the foot of the Taiheng mountains on the Shansi-Honan front, the high command declared enemy forces en route to reenforce stalled units were forced to flee, leaving 800 dead.

Chiang Flays Young Slackers.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek today sounded a call to new action by the youth of China and strongly condemned "not a few young intelligentsia" who refuse to serve at the front while able-bodied men from the villages are in the army "pitting their flesh and blood against the enemy."

In a message to the young people of China, delivered on the fourth anniversary of the founding of the Kuomintang youth corps, the generalissimo exhorted them to "live a rigid, disciplined life and prepare yourselves for the heavy responsibilities that may fall upon you."

RAF Strikes at Foe in Burma.

NEW DELHI, India, July 9 (AP).—A British communique today said "RAF bombers, increasing the scale of their operations over enemy-occupied territory in Burma, carried out further intensive attacks on July 7-8." Attacks were made on Kalemyo, west of the Chindwin river, on both days. Paletwa, on the Kaladan river north of Kyah, was attacked yesterday. No planes were lost in any of the raids.

BRITISH CHUTISTS BATTLE BANDIT TRIBES IN INDIA

LONDON, July 9.—The British army is using parachute troops in the continuous warfare it is waging against bandits and border tribes in India. It was learned today that a detachment of these troops was used in combined military and police action against a tribe of Hurs—bandits who live in Sind provice. The paratroops dropped on one side of the jungle inhabited by the tribe, then beat across swamps to join a police column and a Punjab force in an operation described as successful. The paratroops were Indians led by a British officer. The only casualty was a sprained ankle.

Allies Dicker with Japan for Repatriation of 1,800

LONDON, July 9 (AP).—The foreign office announced tonight that negotiations were in progress with Japan for the repatriation of 1,800 British and allied nationals from Japan, Manchuria, China, Thailand, French Indo-China and the Philippines.

BALKAN PATRIOTS DRIVE INTO ITALY, SAYS U. S. AGENCY

Report Guerrillas Hit Deep as Trieste.

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP).—The Office of War Information today said foreign broadcasts had disclosed that Balkan guerrillas have invaded Italy as far west as Trieste, where a clash with Italian troops was reported.

Map locates Trieste.

The guerrilla armies are forcing the axis to divert troops and material badly needed on the Russian and African fronts, OWI reported. The agency said the broadcasts indicated that patriotic armed bands in Jugo-Slavia, Greece, Albania, Czecho-Slovakia, and Bulgaria were striking at isolated axis garrisons, supply depots, and communications.

Many Troops Hunt Guerrillas.

"Large scale operations by axis troops are in progress against the Balkan partisans serving under the almost legendary general, Draja Mihailovitch," OWI continued. "An official report published in a Croat newspaper says that German and Italian troops are engaged in a punitive expedition supported by air power. A Rome broadcast speaks of 'large scale mopping up operations in the Balkan zone.'

"Himmler [Heinrich Himmler, chief of all German police] is reported to have issued orders that in districts where the guerrillas are operating and in localities where German officers and soldiers are killed the inhabitants of entire communities are to be exterminated."

One Italian newspaper reported that "a circle of protective loyalty surrounds the guerrillas," OWI added, commenting that the Italians did not underestimate the menace of the partisans.

Report Dutch Teachers Imprisoned.

LONDON, July 9 (AP).—Reporting open rebellion among Netherlands teachers against the Nazi educational system in Holland, the Netherlands news agency today said hundreds of teachers had been imprisoned or dismissed and numerous institutions, including Delft college, closed.

The agency said Reichscommissioner Arthur Seyss-Inquart announced that teachers who refused to follow the National Socialist [Nazi] educational patterns would be dismissed on the grounds of "hindering the development of Netherlands school affairs."

France Orders Death Penalty.

VICHY, France, July 9 (AP).—The death penalty was decreed today for persons who set fire to crops as the Laval government sought to prevent repetition of acts which caused such widespread destruction last summer.

ANYTHING FOR A FIGHT! SO TWO BRITONS OPEN OWN SECOND FRONT

LONDON, July 9 (AP).—Eagerness for a fight and a desire to do more for their country led two young British soldiers, Sergt. Peter King, 27 years old, and Pvt. Thomas Cuthbertson, 19, to make a private raid on France, they told an Aldershot court martial today.

Members of a noncombatant dental corps unit, they sent Prime Minister Churchill a letter about their project and then set out May 4 in a small motorboat. They landed near Cherbourg about midnight and were scaling a cliff when the Germans heard them. They had to flee but the fuel in their craft gave out and they were adrift in the channel for 15 days until they were picked up by a destroyer.

The court announced a decision would be given later on a charge of absenting themselves without leave and being in improper possession of army revolvers.

U. S. CLEARS WAY FOR GREATER AID TO 'FREE FRENCH'

Appoints Two to Consult with Gen. De Gaulle.

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP).—The United States today strengthened its military ties with the Free French but made clear the action had no political implications.

The state department announced that a military and a naval representative had been assigned to consult in London with the 'Free French' national committee headed by Gen. Charles de Gaulle, "on all matters relating to the conduct of the war." They are Adm. Harold R. Stark, chief of the American naval forces in European waters, and Brig. Gen. Charles L. Bolte, chief of staff of Lieut. Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, commander in chief of American forces in Europe.

Seek to Strengthen Aid.

Without referring to the controversy over diplomatic recognition of the 'Free French,' the announcement and an accompanying memorandum emphasized that the purpose of the new assignments and the aim of American policy was to strengthen and facilitate military aid to the 'Free French.'

As to the political status of the national committee, the memorandum handed to De Gaulle in London said the United States regarded De Gaulle's committee as "a symbol of French resistance," to axis aggression, rather than as a government in exile.

"The government of the United States," said the memorandum, "wholeheartedly agrees with the view of the British government, which is also known to be the view of the French national committee, that the destiny and political organization of France must, in the last analysis, be determined by free expression of the French people under conditions giving them freedom to express their desires unswayed by any form of coercion,"—in other words, by popular vote in a liberated France after victory is won.

Agreement Evident.

This paragraph was regarded here as significant in that not only the United States but Great Britain and the 'Free French' national committee as well, now appear to be in agreement as to the status of the committee.

The state department's announcement stressed that the assignment of the representatives was in line with President Roosevelt's declaration last November that the defense of French territories under 'Free French' control was vital to the defense of the United States.

BUTCHER BLEEDS TO DEATH.

Attilio Gandolfi, 44 years old, grocer and butcher of 328 Railway avenue, Highwood, bled to death yesterday on the George Finn farm, near Prairie View in Lake county, when a knife with which he was killing a calf slipped and cut an artery.

NEW LEND-LEASE PACTS AID EXILED ALLIES IN BRITAIN

Norse, Dutch, Belgians Self-Supporting.

LONDON, July 9 (AP).—United States lend-lease agreements have eased the financial burdens of refugee governments, only three of which are entirely self-supporting.

The agreements will help equip the Poles, Czechs, Belgians, Jugo-Slavs, Dutch, and Greek forces fighting on the side of the allies.

The Norwegians have been offered an agreement, but London headquarters said tonight it had not been signed.

British Equip Armies.

Of the eight exiled governments in London, only the Norwegians, Dutch, and Belgians are entirely self-supporting.

The Norwegians and Dutch have large revenues from shipping, and the Dutch also have an income from the West Indies and its oil refineries. The Belgians derive an income exceeding their governmental needs from the rich Belgian Congo. All three have large gold resources in the United States and Britain.

"We not only support ourselves but from time to time we have placed some of our gold deposits at Britain's disposal," a Belgian spokesman said.

Norwegians Employ Largest Staff.

The Norwegians employ the largest administrative force of any refugee government in London. A Norwegian spokesman estimated that 1,000 are employed at government headquarters, principally to look after the extensive shipping interests. The Netherlands has between 200 and 300 in administrative posts while the Belgians have about 200.

The "Free French," Czechs, and Poles lean heavily upon British and American support. An official "Free French" spokesman said the British government is paying a major share of the "Free French" war effort, while the remainder is derived from New Caledonia, where United States troops are on guard, and that part of Equatorial Africa which the "Free French" control. The British support concerns itself primarily with financing "Free French" armed services.

Get U. S. Supplies.

It is understood that some supplies the British obtain from the United States under lend-lease also are placed at "Free French" disposal for fighting in Africa and elsewhere. An administrative force of about 75 composes the government in London.

The Poles receive financial aid from Britain, the United States, and Russia. Just before the Germans invaded Poland, Britain had granted the Polish government a large credit which, together with the Polish controled gold in London, has been used to finance the war effort, it was stated officially. About a month ago a further credit was granted by the British. There also is lend-lease aid from the United States. The Russian government has agreed to support and help the Poles in Russia, particularly those being trained to fight with the Russian army.

Outside the large military establishment, a force of about 300 civilians is employed by the government of Poland.

The Czechs have been able to do business on a similar basis, altho a Czech spokesman said the government had large gold reserves in London when the war started. The Czechs in the United States have contributed large sums. About 80 civilians are employed at Czech headquarters.

The Jugo-Slav effort has been financed thru gold on deposit in the United States and Britain, together with income from the Jugo-Slav merchant marine, a Jugo-Slav spokesman said. Expenses are comparatively small because the Jugo-Slavs have only a small force fighting outside their own country. Only about 50 are employed in the government itself.

Like the Norwegians, the Greeks have derived a large income from their merchant marine, which is operating on all the seas. A British grant of postwar credits has supplemented this aid, an official Greek source said.

About 50 are employed in the tiny Luxemburg representation in London, and the exiled government was said to be living entirely on gold deposits made with the Belgian bank.

U. S. CORRESPONDENTS PROTEST CHURCHILL'S 'SLUR' IN COMMONS

[By wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, July 9.—At a press conference with Brendan Bracken, minister of information, American correspondents today protested against Prime Minister Winston Churchill's recent reference in the house of commons to "a small handful of correspondents who made it their business to pour out damaging tales about our affairs to the United States and to Australia."

Correspondents took the view that the prime minister's statement, couched as it was in general, unspecific terms, was an aspersion upon the whole corps of American press representatives inasmuch as that group is not very large. As far as the correspondents have been able to discover, the prime minister's remarks were based entirely on a misleading headline published in a Washington, D. C., newspaper he saw during his visit with President Roosevelt.

Bracken said he thought one or two American correspondents had shown lack of judgment in reporting the parliamentary eruption over Libya but that he had the highest respect for the ability and integrity of the corps as a whole. He promised to convey their protest to Churchill.

YANKEE SOLDIERS FLY SHIP'S FLAG TO MAKE HISTORY

Tells How U. S. Emblem Was Raised in Australia.

BY E. R. NODERER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GEN. MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, July 9.—Units of the United States troops who first planted the American flag on Australian soil are celebrating six months of duty in Australia's northern bush country.

Col. Leslie Jensen.

The commanding officer is Col. Leslie Jensen of Hot Springs, S. D., who was governor of his state in 1937 and 1938. Jensen believes that when Old Glory was hoisted near Darwin last Jan. 16 it marked the first time the flag had been raised over an American combat unit south of the equator. This same outfit suffered the first American casualties in Austria when several men were hit by bomb fragments.

Nine days out of Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, en route to the Philippines, Jensen's ship received this message:

"Japan has started hostilities at Pearl Harbor. Manila bombed. Govern self accordingly."

Upon receipt of the message, the ship's course was changed and on Dec. 28 it reached a port on the east coast of Australia. On Jan. 5 the men landed at Darwin.

Troops Had No U. S. Flag.

Jensen, who has been on active duty since Nov. 25, 1940, took 100 men and erected a camp, where the last members of his force arrived on Jan. 14. The outfit was equipped with regimental colors but no American flag. The ship's captain had only one—the storm flag—but gave it to the troops for what all felt would be a history making occasion.

Both Americans and Australians participated in the ceremony. After the lanyard was run thru and the pulley nailed to a eucalyptus tree Col. Jensen assembled his regiment.

"They looked mighty fine in their new sun helmets and shorts," he said.

How the Flag Was Raised.

"I was a little uncertain as to the proper procedure for hoisting the American flag on British territory," Col. Jensen said, "but it worked out all right. As the flag was raised we all saluted and the regimental band played 'God Save the King.' Then we sounded 'Retreat' and as the flag was lowered the band played the 'Star Spangled Banner.'"

As the flag was lowered Australian Col. Thompson said to Jensen:

"We are making history."

After inspecting the American troops, he asserted:

"If the United States has many more men like these I have no fear of the enemy."

Chief a World War Veteran.

In the ensuing weeks the American soldiers did whatever was required to strengthen the defenses of Australia's northern outpost. They built camps, unloaded ships, and when enemy planes came over turned to their anti-aircraft guns.

Jensen was captain and adjutant of the 147th field artillery in the World war, and served in France. After the war he went into business, but continued his military training with the National Guard.

SEN. WILEY URGES CONGRESS LEAD IN U. S. AIR POWER

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP).—Sen. Alexander Wiley [R., Wis.], calling for immediate creation of a senate committee on military aviation, said tonight that congress must assume "some leadership" in developing the United States air power.

Wiley estimated that appropriations to the navy and war departments for aviation from 1941 thru 1943 probably would exceed $34,000,000,000, but declared that "blindly voting money for airplanes is not enough."

"It is almost inconceivable that aviation funds should be tacked onto an army or a navy appropriation bill," the Wisconsin senator said. "This is no time to have our aviation program considered solely in terms of army and navy recommendations.

"This is a time for the representatives of the people to set up a committee to confer with aviation specialists and with representatives of the industry regarding the future development of aviation and to stimulate research and experimentation in new methods which will insure victory and the continued development of aviation in the postwar period."

Reported Missing

MARY FRANCES CHAPMAN.

Miss Mary Frances Chapman, 27 years old, is believed to be the first Chicago nurse lost in action in the Philippines. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Chapman, 4108 North Central Park avenue, said yesterday the navy department had notified them that their daughter has been reported missing.

Miss Chapman was expected home last summer after five years in the Philippines, but she decided to enlist for another year to be near her fiancé, William R. Hays, a navy warrant officer. Hays, who was wounded in action, is now in the United States.

Miss Chapman was born in Danville, and took her nurse's training in St. James Hospital, Newark, N. J. For several years she had been stationed in the naval hospital at the Cavite base.

AUSSIE AWARDED A BRITISH MEDAL BY YANK GENERAL

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

MELBOURNE, Australia, July 9.—Two brief ceremonies reported here today illustrate the close identity of American and Australian forces in the southwest Pacific war theater. At an advanced operational base in Australia yesterday Lieut. Gen. G. H. Brett, commander of air forces in the southwest Pacific, presented the British distinguished flying cross to Flight Lieut. Robert N. Dalkin of the royal Australian air force for gallantry in leading seven raids against the Japanese. It is the first time in this war theater that presentation of a British decoration has been made by an American commander.

Today Lord Gowrie, governor general of Australia, inspected an American camp. He was met at the station by a United States general and other high ranking American officers. He watched artillery in practice with mortars, machine guns in action, and American infantry in cross country maneuvers.

Lord Gowrie, who had a distinguished record in the last war, declared at the conclusion of his tour of inspection the men looked very hard and fit. "I am certainly glad they are on our side," he said.

HEAR NAZIS SANK OWN SHIP WITH WAR PRISONERS

MELBOURNE, Australia, July 9 (AP).—Australian inquiries thru the International Red Cross disclosed today that a German ship loaded with allied prisoners was sunk by a German submarine in the North Atlantic last January, a number of the prisoners being drowned. It was not explained how the mistake was made.

The Australian information department said Australian and Dutch seamen were placed aboard the prison ship last October after their steamer, the Mareeba, was sunk in the Bay of Bengal by the German raider Kormoran, also known as the Steiermark. The raider later was sunk by the Australian cruiser Sydney, which also was lost.

Sixteen Australian prisoners were among those drowned, the announcement said.

NAVY PERSONNEL OUTFIGHTS JAPS, JOHNSTON SAYS

Correspondent Stresses Superior Training.

New York, July 9 [Special].—Heroic deeds are being performed daily by United States navy seamen and flyers who six months ago were just average young Americans walking the main streets of typical American towns and cities, Stanley Johnston, Chicago Tribune war correspondent, today told more than 300 leading New York business and advertising executives. Johnston, aboard the aircraft carrier Lexington, was the only newspaper man present at the Coral sea battle.

Speaks at Luncheon.

Johnston related the story of the American naval victory to the group at a luncheon given by THE TRIBUNE'S New York advertising office at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel.

"The United States navy personnel is more than a match for the Japanese," Johnston asserted. "Our young flyers are being given more thoro training than the Japanese. This is particularly true in gunnery training, and the results are astounding.

"But these are not the broad chested, bass singing air heroes of the Hollywood films. They're just average American boys with a zest for their business, and thank God we've got thousands and thousands more like them."

Praises Navy Communiques.

Taking cognizance of the desire of his listeners for a word from an observer who had actually seen their men and machines under fire, Johnston cautioned that official United States navy communiques were utterly trustworthy.

"If anything, the navy's communiques understate American victories," he declared. "If the navy announces that two enemy vessels were sunk, you can bet that two, and probably four went down."

Many of the listeners had expressed a wish to hear an eyewitness account of a major battle not couched in the terse phrases of official army and navy communiques. After speaking for almost two hours Johnston devoted another hour to answering questions.

REVEALS TROOP GLIDERS BEING MADE IN WICHITA

Wichita, Kas., July 9 (AP).—Manufacture of large motorless troop transport gliders for the army air force is under way at the Wichita division of the Boeing Airplane company.

J. E. Schaefer, vice president and general manager of the company's Wichita division, said tonight that while details can not be made public, the air force gliders will be better than those used by Germans in the Crete campaign. The Nazis have used gliders carrying about two tons of supplies, or as many as 23 equipped soldiers.

NAZIS TRAINING 12,000 GLIDER TROOPS YEARLY

U. S. Army Report Shows German Developments.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 9.—Between 12,000 and 18,000 glider and parachute troops are trained yearly in the German army in addition to glider pilots who are in continuous training wherever the terrain is suitable, the war department disclosed today, adding that its information came from first hand observation.

While the figures may appear small, the war department informant added, there is still another class of German air troops, air borne infantry. The Nazis assign to them whatever number of troops may be needed with their equipment for air transportation to a theater of operations.

Gliders Get Important Roles.

On the evidence of intensive training of glider pilots in Germany, it is held certain that the Nazi high command considers gliders as vital part of air borne invasion tactics. The American army has just begun to work out a glider training program.

A German glider regiment consists of three battalions composed of four companies each, three of rifles and one of heavier equipment, such as mortars and machine guns. Each regiment has a 13th company equipped with 75 mm. howitzers and a 14th company with anti-tank guns.

One wing is assigned to each glider regiment. The wing is divided into four groups, each group consisting of 12 squadrons. The gliders are usually towed single or double, according to the information reaching the war department, altho it is possible that larger tows are used.

The ordinary glider for tactical use carries 10 fully equipped soldiers and an equal number is carried in the tow plane.

Gotha Glider Carries 23 Men.

A larger German glider, on which fairly complete information has been obtained, is the Gotha, with accommodations for 23 fully equipped soldiers including two pilots. This high wing, twin boom monoplane glider has a wing span of 79 feet and a length of 52 feet 6 inches. It has a wheeled undercarriage that can be dropped in flight. Landing is effected on three skids, the forward one being retracted in flight.

The regimental composition of parachute troops is similar to that of glider troops altho there is no direct relationship between them.

All heavy equipment, such as field kitchens and motorized elements, are sacrificed in favor of troops by the Germans in this organization of air borne infantry. They depend almost entirely on seizing such heavy equipment from the enemy after landing. Certain designated soldiers carry spray guns and on landing set to work painting over the enemy insignia on all available equipment and substituting the swastika.

TELLS HOW SAILORS BRAVED SHARKS TO AID WOUNDED MATES

San Francisco, Cal., July 9 (AP).—Uninjured sailors, led by a heroic officer, jumped into the shark infested Coral sea to make room in rescue whaleboats for wounded and burned members of their crew, two survivors of the United States naval tanker Neosho revealed today.

E. A. Flaherty, 22 years old, electricians mate, third class, from St. Louis, Mo., and D. J. Nelson, 22, signalman, third class, from Laurel, Mont., said when the Neosho started to sink in the Coral sea engagement, Lieut. [j. g.] Henry K. Bradford ordered all the men out of the boats to make room for those who were wounded.

"He [Lieut. Bradford] led the way himself, plunging into the water and grabbing a towline on the boat," Flaherty said. "About 14 or 15 jumped overboard from the whaleboat I was in. The lieutenant and two enlisted men were the only ones ultimately saved that I know of. They were picked up 10 days later from life rafts."

SECRET DEBATE ON SHIP LOSSES AROUSES M. P.S

Demand British Public Be Told Facts.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 9.—The war cabinet's quick change decision to hold the forthcoming shipping debate behind locked doors instead of in public session as previously arranged brought sharp and unfavorable reaction from many members of parliament tonight.

Emanuel Shinwell, Laborite, announced his intention of boycotting the debate. Others who feel that public anxiety must be allayed by an open discussion of ship sinkings may follow his example. Members of parliament representing all parties are reported to be considering a new appeal to the government to revert to its earlier decision. Some members, it is stated, are urging that the debate be abandoned, as was done recently in the house of lords, unless their demands are accepted.

Fear Aid to Enemy.

However, indications are that the government decision will stand. It was announced by Lord Privy Seal Sir Stafford Cripps in the house of commons. The government, he explained, wished to put before the members a frank review of shipping losses and construction, which could not be done openly because it would give valuable information to the enemy.

The decision to hold the debate in secret, Cripps said, was not reached because the government desired to conceal unpleasant facts or because it is unable to see its way thru the difficulties, but solely from the desire "to protect the food and lives of our own people, particularly our seamen."

The opposition leader, Arthur Greenwood, stressed that it was already understood that the debate was to be public and urged that this policy be adhered to in view of widespread anxiety thruout the country over merchant tonnage losses.

Cites U. S. "Frankness."

"Are you aware," Laborite Aneurin Bevan asked Cripps, "that there is a feeling in this country that the Americans are much more frank about the shipping situation than we are and that the American papers publish the figures of American shipping losses in a much fuller way?"

But Cripps informed Bevan that it would be easier to deal with the matter in secret session. He resisted a suggestion that even a part of the debate be held publicly. However, Bevan did elicit a promise from Cripps that the government would consider publishing "some further, fuller statement which expresses the general feeling of the house" at the end of the debate.

Meanwhile it was announced in a white paper that a proportion of the merchant ships built in the United Kingdom in 1941 and second hand ships bought abroad since the outbreak of the war had been offered for sale to allied governments. All vessels, however, remain on charter to the ministry of war transport for a maximum of six months after the end of the war.

Lockard Becomes Officer in Radio Ceremony Sunday

Fort Monmouth, N. J., July 9 (AP).—All America can listen in Sunday at ceremonies commissioning Staff Sergeant Joseph L. Lockard, whose unheeded warning of the approach of Japanese planes at Pearl Harbor Dec. 7 won him fame. The 20 year old Williamsport, Pa., soldier will receive his diploma from the officers candidate school here and be commissioned a second lieutenant in the signal corps on a national broadcast at 1 p. m. [Chicago time].

BRITISH FLYERS DROP 4,000 POUND BOMBS IN WILHELMSHAVEN RAID

LONDON, July 9 (AP).—A strong force of RAF bombers, attacking the German naval base and submarine building yards of Wilhelmshaven last night, loosed 4,000-pound bombs—the biggest the British ever have announced using—the air ministry said today. Great fires were left raging in the shipyards. Four bombers were reported lost in the attack, the first on Germany since the night of July 2. A royal Canadian air force report on the operation said some Canadian planes in the attack carried "extra special" bomb loads.

Say Wesermunde Hit, Too.

BERLIN, July 9 [from German broadcasts] — (AP). — British planes raided several places in the northwest German coastal district overnight, causing civilian casualties and damage, particularly at Wilheimshaven and Wesermunde, it was acknowledged today.

German motor torpedoboats have sunk six merchantmen totaling 19,000 tons off the British coast, a Transocean News agency dispatch said.

PLANES TO BRING WOUNDED BACK FROM WAR ZONES

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP).—Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson announced today that the air transport command, which since June, 1941, has delivered more than 6,000,000 letters and large quantities of supplies to soldiers overseas, now is forming an organization to bring the sick and wounded back from combat zones.

To be known as the air evacuation group [medical], the new organization will use transport planes equipped as flying hospitals for surgery, blood transfusions and other treatment. The planes will be able to carry as many as 40 patients.

One of the principal functions of the transport command has been to deliver bombers to war theaters, and Stimson said the huge planes always go out with a full load, mail being given a high priority rating.

Report 3 Norse Bishops Will Defy Quisling Ban

STOCKHOLM, July 9 (AP). — Three Norwegian bishops, dismissed from their functions by Premier Vidkun Quisling with Nazi approval last March, have announced their intention of resuming preaching in their dioceses, the newspaper Afton Tidningen said today. They are Bishop Hille of Hamar, Bishop Maroni of Christiansund, and Bishop Fleischer of Bergen.

Swedish Steamer Sunk on Baltic Coast; 14 Missing

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, July 9 (AP). —The Swedish steamer Margareta, 1,272 tons, out of Stockholm, was torpedoed and sunk today by a submarine in Swedish territorial waters in the Arkoesund, near the town of Norrkoping. Four men of the crew of 18 on board were rescued. The others are missing. The scene of the attack is about 75 miles southwest of Stockholm, on Sweden's east Baltic coast.

NEW LONG RANGE PATROL BOMBER TESTED FOR NAVY

Seattle, Wash., July 9 (AP).—A new long range all metal experimental flying boat, built as a heavily armed overseas patrol bomber for the navy, made its first test flight today. The veteran test pilot, Edmund T. Allen, and a crew of five took the ship into the air.

Built by the Boeing Aircraft company, which originated and now builds the flying fortress bombers for the army, the ship was described as able to carry a larger bomb load than any naval plane now in use.

It carries the name, "Sea Ranger," and has been designated by the navy as the XPBB-1. It is in the weight class of four engine aircraft, but is a two engine plane, with the engines believed to be the most powerful aircraft power plants now built anywhere. It carries a crew of 10.

REVEAL NAMES OF 7 KILLED IN BOMBER CRASH

Columbia, S. C., July 9 (AP).—The Columbia army air base announced today the names of seven men who died in the bomber which crashed yesterday at Smithfield, N. C. They were as follows:

Capt. James A. Plant, 27 years old, pilot, Long Beach, Cal.; 2d Lieut. Howard E. Henthorn, co-pilot, Ludlow, Ky.; Staff Sergt. Arlyn A. Gustaffson, 23, engineer, Wausa, Neb.; Staff Sergt. Louis F. Turner Jr., 23, radio operator, Chester, Pa.; Pvt. Samuel R. McDonald, 27, Raleigh, N. C.; Pvt. Joseph A. Schmidt, 25, Toledo, O., and Pvt. Frank E. Sailer, 34, Kane, Pa.

Willkie Seeks Permission to Visit All Battlefields

New York, July 9 (AP).—Wendell L. He did not indicate in what capacity he would make such a trip—whether as a civilian or an official observer.

TWO MORE SHIPS SUNK BY SUBS IN ATLANTIC RAIDS

Kill 4 on British Vessel, 9 on Norwegian.

The sinking of two more ships, one British and the other Norwegian, by 349 enemy submarines operating in the Atlantic was announced by the navy yesterday. The new attack brought to 349 the unofficial Associated Press tabulation of shipping losses in the western Atlantic since Dec. 7. Ships sunk in American coastal waters since that date now total 302 with 1,888 known dead, 1,812 missing, and 9,869 rescued. Details follow:

TORPEDO BLAST KILLS FOUR

A GULF COAST PORT, July 9 (AP). —Thirty-six British seamen were saved and four were killed in the torpedoing of a medium sized British cargo ship in the Atlantic May 14, the 8th naval district said today.

The ship was armed and got in one shot at random, altho the enemy sub was not sighted until the ship went down, some 25 miles from where it was originally hit by two torpedoes. A third passed under the ship.

The submarine fired a green star shell after sinking the ship, leading survivors to believe it was signalling to a second submarine near by.

The second officer and three sailors were killed by the torpedo explosions. Survivors aboard a dinghy landed at a West Indies port in 36 hours and two lifeboats landed within 63 hours. All were picked up later, together with survivors of other ships landed at various Caribbean and West Indies ports, and brought here.

NINE SEAMEN KILLED

A Gulf Coast Port, July 9 (AP).—Nine Norwegian seamen were killed in the torpedoing of a small Norwegian ship May 30 in the Atlantic, the 8th naval district announced today.

Twenty-one survivors made this port a few days later in two lifeboats, reporting that the sub commander, speaking English with a German accent, asked them details of their ship, then gave them bread and a bottle of rum. The ship was armed but unable to use its gun because the submarine was not sighted until two torpedoes, which struck after midnight, blasted their ship to the bottom within 25 minutes.

GERMANS ORDER SHIPS FROM PORTUGAL NOT TO LAND AT NEW YORK

LISBON, Portugal, July 9 (AP).—Under what local shipping authorities called a "verbal navicert" system, German blockade authorities told Portuguese shipping companies today that all their ships sailing for the United States "must go to Baltimore instead of New York."

Portuguese shippers said that in view of the German stand "we shall not be able to ship more cork, because Baltimore is congested and unable to handle such merchandise at present."

Altho German blockade authorities issue no papers to ships sailing from Portugal, the companies must contact them and follow their instructions regarding routes and ports of call, as well as the freight and persons they carry, or else "sail at their own risk," it was said.

FOOD IMPORTANT TO KEEP PEACE, AMERICAS TOLD

MEXICO CITY, July 9 (AP).—Asserting that welfed people generally have been peaceful, M. L. Wilson, head of the United States office of defense health and welfare, told 123 delegates to the second inter-American agricultural congress today that food may be as potent a factor in keeping the postwar peace as international agreements or armed forces. Wilson pointed out that hungry nations either have been trouble makers or have disappeared.

"The democracies believe," he added, "that total peace in a free world cannot be had until a minimum of food is available to assure the nutritional welfare of all the people."

Agricultural science, he said, assures that such a minimum for every person in the world is available. Therefore, he added, science and the cooperative movements of governments of this hemisphere are necessary to build a "food strength" which can become the dominant factor in world peace.

Colombia Will Build Motor Schooners for Coast Trade

BOGOTA, Colombia, July 9.—Construction of 100 motor schooners for service along the coast and to the United States by way of the Panama canal is being planned by the Colombian government, it was disclosed today. The vessels are to be built by a newly formed company in which the government holds a 51 per cent interest. It recently purchased a modern shipbuilding yard at Barrenquilla from its German owners for 500,000 pesos [about $300,000].

Bolivia to Buy $14,000,000 Worth of Arms fom U. S.

LA PAZ, Bolivia, July 9 (AP).—Minister of Defense Gen. Miguel Candia disclosed today that the Bolivian military mission now in the United States will buy $14,000,000 worth of armaments to bolster Bolivia's national defenses.

CLAIM GERMANS KILL 5,000 JEWS IN POLISH TOWN

700,000 Massacred in Nation, Prelate Says.

LONDON, July 9 (AP).—The Nazis have killed the entire Jewish population of Hrubieszow, a town in southeastern Poland, official Polish sources reported today. They placed the number of Jews at 5,000 and the total population of the town at between 15,000 and 20,000.

A charge that the Nazis have massacred 700,000 Jews in Poland since the start of the war was made by Cardinal Arthur Hinsley, archbishop of Westminster. He declared that "the Lord will repay in His own good time" for the German atrocities.

Polish Soldiers Accused

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 9.—Charges that some units of the Polish army are guilty of "grievous anti-Semitism," despite protests from Gen. Wladyslaw Sikorski, premier of the Polish government in exile, were made in the house of commons today by Miss Eleanor Rathbone, Independent, during a debate on the allied powers war service bill. This measure would give Britain the right to conscript into its forces the nationals of exiled governments here.

Miss Rathbone's allegations were supported by Laborite Dennis Pritt who complained that there was "plenty of evidence of the ill treatment of Jews in the Polish army." He said he had submitted evidence of this to the foreign office while the Poles still were fighting in France.

Charge Called Unfounded.

Pritt made his statement in reply to an attack on Miss Rathbone by Earl Winterton, Conservative, who declared there was "no word of accuracy" in her accusations and, "even if they were true, to make such statements which are calculated to be of the greatest mischief between us and the Polish army and Sikorski" showed "a great lack of responsibility."

Pritt insisted the charges were true and Miss Rathbone stressed that they were not directed against the Polish army or high command but "against the officers in command and the rank and file of certain units of the Polish army."

Bulgaria Acts Against Jews.

BERLIN, July 9 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—A decree published today empowered the Bulgarian government to take any measures against Jews without consulting parliament. The German Transocean news agency said the action was expected to stop Jewish real estate speculation thru the use of "straw men."

F. D. R. NOMINATES 20 AS ADMIRALS ON RETIRED LIST

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP).—President Roosevelt today sent to the senate the nominations of 20 naval officers to be advanced to the rank of admiral in retirement.

Included in the list were Vice Admirals Harry E. Yarnell, now adviser to the Chinese military mission in Washington, Joseph M. Reeves, and Clarence S. Williams.

The President stipulated that Rear Admirals Claude C. Bloch and James O. Richardson be advanced to the rank of admiral when they were retired and nominated the following rear admirals for immediate advancement to an admiral's status on the retirement list:

Thomas Washington, Samuel S. Robison, Henry A. Wiley, Richard H. Jackson, Louis McC. Nulton, Louis R. De Steiguer, Montgomery R. Taylor, Charles B. McVay Jr., Richard H. Leigh, Luke McNamee, David F. Sellers, Frank H. Brumby, Orin G. Murfin, Arthur J. Hepburn and Edward C. Kalbfus.

Rear admirals to be advanced to the rank of vice admirals on the retirement list included: Josiah S. McKean, Newton A. McCully, Guy H. Burrage, Henry V. Butler, and Thomas T. Craven.

Advancement to the rank of vice admiral when he is retired was asked for Rear Adm. William T. Tarrant.

Eisenhower Confirmed as Lieutenant General

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP).—The senate today confirmed President Roosevelt's appointment of Maj. Gen. Dwight David Eisenhower to the temporary rank of lieutenant general. Eisenhower is in London as chief of the American forces in the European theater of operations.

FILES PROPOSAL TO SEIZE BULK OF BIG FIELD LEGACY

Rankin Aims Measure at Tax Dodging Fortunes.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 9.—A drastic tax measure which would confiscate most of the vast fortune soon to be inherited by Marshall Field III., the experimental publisher, was introduced in the house today by Rep. John E. Rankin [D., Miss.].

The congressman explained that his bill to tax inheritances up to 95 per cent of their value is aimed at tax dodging fortunes and that he will press for its incorporation in the tax bill now under consideration in the house ways and means committee.

If the ways and means committee does not adopt his proposal, he will request the right from the rules committee to bring it up on the house floor as an amendment to the 1942 tax bill when it comes up for a vote, Rankin said.

Would Plug Tax Gap.

Rankin explained in introducing his tax bill that it is intended to "reach those vast fortunes that have so far escaped the estate tax, the gift tax, and the income tax—such as the Marshall Field estate." He added:

"It is simply unthinkable to me that congress should permit these vast fortunes to escape taxation while placing a burden upon every producing enterprise and every single individual who makes more than $600 a year. Before we resort to a sales tax let us go into these vast fortunes that have been pyramided and passed on from generation to generation by individuals who never earned a dollar of them."

Rankin said he has studied the will of Field's grandfather, the first Marshall Field, who made his money as a Chicago merchant. Under its terms the present income and estate tax laws do not apply because they became effective after the merchant's death, Rankin asserted.

Rankin said that Field III. will inherit a fortune he estimated at 200 million dollars, on Sept. 20, 1943, under terms of the will.

Cites Bad Investments.

Field has been investing his income from the estate in unprofitable enterprises, writing off the losses against taxes depriving the government of revenue, according to Rankin's study.

Under terms of the Rankin bill the government would take over at the time Field inherits the estate upwards of 150 million dollars, provided the 200 million dollar estimate is correct, Rankin said. His measure also would apply in the future to other fortunes which have dodged the estate and inheritance taxes.

Rankin noted recently that one Field enterprise, the radically organized New York tabloid PM, has been operating at a loss of $20,000 weekly, according to the admission of its editor, Ralph Ingersoll. This loss is charged off against taxes on Field's income, said Rankin.

Field in Draft Fight.

Ingersoll and Field are attracting notoriety currently because of their private war with Local Draft Board No. 44 in New York city over its refusal to defer Ingersoll from induction. Altho both Field and Ingersoll were rabid warmongers prior to Pearl Harbor, Field asked Ingersoll's deferment on the grounds that he is an employé essential to PM.

Ingersoll publicized his position in a rambling statement in PM the other day, which Rankin told the house "sounds like the whining confession of a draft dodger."

The Rankin tax bill, as referred to the ways and means committee, would tax the net value of estates determined after certain allowances, including a specific exemption of $50,000 in the case of the close surviving relatives—no farther removed than the grandchild or grandparent stage. Otherwise the exemption is $10,000.

Other allowable deductions would include funeral expenses, administration expenses, claims against the estate, death duties, losses incurred during settlement of the estate and not covered by insurance, and shrinkage in value of assets.

From 4 to 95 Per Cent.

The tax rates on the net value of estates would run from 4 to 95 per cent, as shown in the following schedule listing the net estate value and the amount of tax imposed:

Up to $10,000—4 per cent of the net value; $10,000 to $20,000—$400 plus 8 per cent above $10,000; $20,000 to $30,000—$1,200 plus 12 per cent above $20,000; $30,000 to $50,000—$2,400 plus 16 per cent above $30,000; $50,000 to $100,000—$5,600 plus 20 per cent above $50,000; $100,000 to $150,000—$15,600 plus 24 per cent above $100,000; $150,000 to $250,000—$27,600 plus 28 per cent above $150,000; $250,000 to $400,000—$55,600 plus 32 per cent above $250,000; $400,000 to $700,000—$103,600 plus 36 per cent above $400,000.

On $700,000 to $1,000,000—$211,600 plus 40 per cent above $700,000; $1,000,000 to $1,500,000—$331,600 plus 44 per cent above $1,000,000; $1,500,000 to $2,000,000—$551,600 plus 48 per cent above $1,500,000; $2,000,000 to $3,000,000—$791,600 plus 52 per cent above $2,000,000; $3,000,000 to $4,000,000—$1,311,600 plus 56 per cent above $3,000,000; $4,000,000 to $5,000,000—$1,871,600 plus 60 per cent above $4,000,000; $5,000,000 to $6,000,000—$2,471,600 plus 64 per cent above $5,000,000; $6,000,000 to $8,000,000—$3,111,600 plus 68 per cent above $6,000,000.

On $8,000,000 to $10,000,000—$4,471,600 plus 72 per cent above $8,000,000; $10,000,000 to $12,000,000—$5,911,600 plus 75 per cent above $10,000,000; $12,000,00 to $14,000,000—$7,411,600 plus 80 per cent above $12,000,000; $14,000,000 to $16,000,000—$9,011,600 plus 85 per cent above $14,000,000; $16,000,000 to $18,000,000—$10,711,600 plus 90 per cent above $16,000,000; above $18,000,000—$12,511,600 plus 95 per cent above $18,000,000.

According to this schedule the bulk of the estate coming into Field's hands would fall into the 95 per cent bracket. If all of the estimated 200 million dollar estate were considered net value, the tax would run to $185,411,600, according to the Rankin bill. In placing the return to the government at around 150 millions, Rankin apparently made ample allowances for deductions.

Gang Members at Slaying Scene

INGERSOLL ONLY NEWSMAN TO ASK DEFERMENT

New York, July 9 [Special].—Col. Arthur V. McDermott, New York City director of selective service, today said that Ralph Ingersoll, editor-publisher of the paper PM, is the only newspaper man he knows for whom a deferment from army service has been asked on occupational grounds.

Ingersoll's scheduled induction June 24 was stayed by a last minute telegram from Marshall Field, owner of PM, contending that the 41 year old editor was indispensable to the publication. Ingersoll's local draft board, accordingly, held a rehearing of the case Tuesday night, but yesterday continued its 1A classification. Ten days is permitted for filing of an appeal, but selective service headquarters today said Field's original plea might be considered as an appeal.

"So far as I know there hasn't been one case of it," said Col. McDermott, concerning any other newspaper deferment requests. "At least, if there has, it has not been brought to my attention."

He said this applied to men from the lowest to the highest in the newspaper business. He also noted that many newspaper executives now are in the armed services.

Court Orders Glencoe Park Beach to Admit Negroes

Federal Judge William H. Holly ruled yesterday that the Glencoe park district officials do not have the right to ban Negroes from the Park avenue beach in the suburb. The court issued an injunction restraining the village officials from refusing to issue beach tickets to the family of A. L. Foster, of 379 Jefferson avenue, Glencoe, executive secretary of the Chicago Urban league. Attorney Nelson Willis, counsel for Foster, said the injunction affects about 50 Negro families in Glencoe.

Yellow Kid Weil's Trial Date Is Set for July 28

Judge Julius H. Miner in Criminal court yesterday set July 28 for the trial of Joseph [Yellow Kid] Weil on a 10 year old charge of operating a confidence game. Thru his attorney, Morris G. Meyers, Weil asked for an earlier date and pleaded he was "languishing" in jail and needed medical treatment. Weil is being held at the county jail for lack of $10,000 bail.

TWO GANGSTERS STILL SOUGHT IN POLICE SLAYING

3, Under Arrest, Tell of Saloon Robbery.

Only two members of the Polka Dot Handkerchief gang were at large last night as police reconstructed the slaying of Detective Walter Storm Monday night in a tavern holdup in which he killed the gang's boss, Eugene Guzy, in a gun duel.

The hunted men are George De Pasquale, alias Chow Chow, alias Shots, 18 years old, and Anthony [Musty] Muskal, 25.

Widow at Scene of Crime.

On the fringe of the crowd stood Mrs. Helen Storm, the slain detective's widow, dazed from shock and grief. She said in a low voice:

"I was waiting at home for him, but he never came."

Charlene, wearing rumpled orange-tan slacks, her face swollen from crying, sat in a car with a police matron and said she didn't know anybody had been killed until the gang had sent her back to see what happened to Guzy. She then took a street car, she said, to a tavern on Ogden avenue, where she met the rest of the gang.

Admit Part in Holdup.

Both Piscopo and Gianos readily admitted that they had taken part in the holdup and demonstrated how they escaped. Both said De Pasquale was not present at this holdup.

Earlier in the day police questioned Theda Morgan, 22 years old, Gianos' girl friend, and released her.

Assistant State's Attorney David Leeds said that he would book Gianos, Piscopo, and Charlene on charges of murder and robbery this morning. Already 29 stickup victims have identified them.

Surprises Burglar

JEANNETTE GABEL.

Jeanette Gabel, 16 years old, 12136 Stewart avenue, awoke at 4 a. m. yesterday to find a man on his knees crawling out of her room. She screamed. The intruder arose calmly, walked leisurely down the stairs and escaped thru a bathroom window. An inventory by Jeanette's father, Harry P. Gabel, an attorney, disclosed nothing taken from his daughter's room but found $125, a diamond wrist watch, a ring, and two railroad tickets missing from his. Seventy-five dollars lying on his dresser, however, was not touched. Gabel reported the burglary to Kensington police.

POLICE SEARCH FOR BODY FAILS; OWNER'S IN JAIL

All day Wednesday and most of yesterday Lake county deputy sheriffs from Waukegan searched up and down the right of way of the North Western railroad north of town.

They were looking for the body of one Frank C. Dwyer, 41 years old, who gave his address as 5022 Irving Park road. On Tuesday night Dwyer left a note in a tavern in Kenosha, Wis., announcing that any one who cared might find his body next day along the North Western's right of way.

Thus the search. But no body was found. It wasn't entirely Dwyer's fault however. Early Wednesday Waukegan police picked him up for panhandling. He was fined $25 and costs and sent to the county jail to work it out. He was there yesterday while deputies were scanning the tracks, which they might still be doing had not Chief Deputy Walter Atkinson noticed Dwyer's name among the list of prisoners last night.

JUDGE PROPOSES DIVIDED CUSTODY OF PROXY BABY

Mount Clemens, Mich., July 9 [Special].—The court fight over 3 year old Alice Patricia Hoge temporarily ended today when Circuit Judge James E. Spier suggested that the mother and her sister divide custody of the child.

The mother, Mrs. Alice Juanita Horvath, 20, who said she bore the baby out of wedlock when she was 16, sought custody of the infant on a writ of habeas corpus. She was opposed by her sister, Mrs. Catherine Hoge, 30, whose husband, Carmel Hoge, 35, admitted he is the child's father. Intermingled family romances were related in testimony.

Following the closing arguments of attorneys, Judge Spier pointed out that the real mother was entitled to the child unless she were proved unfit.

YANKS IN BRITAIN WILL BROADCAST TO KIN ON W-G-N

Soldiers' Program Begins Next Sunday.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

"Stars and Stripes in Britain," featuring brief messages and entertainment by American fighting men in the British Isles, will be broadcast over W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcast system from 6:30 to 7 p. m. each Sunday beginning July 12. This program has been aired on the short waves by the British Broadcasting corporation at this same hour and henceforth will be rebroadcast on the Mutual chain.

Ben Lyon and Bebe Daniels, once favorites with American movie audiences and in recent years regular entertainers on BBC, conduct the program. Music is provided by various service bands.

Messages from a score of American fighting men in Britain will be relayed to families and friends at home on the American Eagle club program on W-G-N and Mutual from 10:30 to 11 a. m. Sunday. Interspersing the greetings from service men will be music by Geraldo, one of England's leading dance band conductors.

Besides the messages from the soldiers in the British Isles, W-G-N and Mutual present messages from American soldiers in Australia at 10:45 a. m. Monday thru Friday and at 10:15 a. m. Saturday. Recordings of these broadcasts are distributed to the families of the soldiers who speak, thru the coöperation of Mutual stations and the American Red Cross.

Hundreds of phonograph records collected by Barbara Fuller, young radio actress, will be presented to the Chicago Service Men's Center at 10:15 tomorrow night during the broadcast of Chicago at Night over W-G-N from the center. Miss Fuller is featured in the rôle of Melody Lee in "Painted Dreams," serial aired on W-G-N at 1:15 p. m. weekdays.

The records will be presented by Holland Engle, who conducts Chicago at Night, on which service men are interviewed, to Daniel L. Flaherty, administrative director of the Chicago Commission of National Defense. Miss Fuller made an appeal on the air for phonograph records after she had received a letter from a soldier in camp saying they had few records to play on their phonograph. Hundreds of radio listeners responded to her request and prominent orchestra leaders in Chicago donated complete albums of their recordings.

We must do everything possible to see that our boys find everything exactly right—just as Isbell's watches to see that everything's right for its fans. Here, delicious luncheons, dinners and snacks are greeted with "rightness" in mind — to keep you happy always.

HELEN WHITE.

Helen White, 17 years old, 1655 Gregory street, planned to visit her soldier boy friend at Fort Knox, Ky., but didn't think her wardrobe adequate. So she went shopping and spent $1,000. Helen, a soda fountain waitress, didn't worry because she still had $800. Worrying was done by Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Scafa of 6956 Normal avenue, from whom Helen confessed stealing the $1,800 during a visit last week. She gave herself up and was taken to the Juvenile Detention home while detectives were returning her purchases.

Two Cigar Stores Raided; Bookie Customers Routed

A squad of police from the commissioner's staff made handbook raids on two cigar stores yesterday. They broke down the door at 416-18 Rush street and drove out 23 customers. They arrested Sol Levine, 38 years old, as the alleged owner, and Louis Wolodowski, 30; Herbert Crafton, 38, and Harry Williams, 23, colored, as employés. Later, police visited a cigar store at 308 Adams street and sent away three customers. They arrested Albert Hoffman and Alex Shaffer.

DIES APOLOGIZES FOR CALLING BEW AID A COMMUNIST

Praises D. B. Vaughan, Who Sued Him.

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP).—Chairman Martin Dies [D., Tex.] of the house committee investigating un-American activities publicly apologized today for having accused David B. Vaughan, Board of Economic Warfare executive, of being "a sponsor of the American League for Peace and Democracy."

The accusation, Dies said in a statement inserted in the Congressional Record, was made "in a letter written by me on March 28, 1942," to Vice President Henry A. Wallace, chairman of the BEW, and released to the press.

Explains How It Happened.

Dies said he would pay the attorney fees contracted by Vaughan "in the protection of his good name." [Vaughan filed a $75,000 libel suit against Dies.]

"The records of our committee and the letterhead for the American League for Peace and Democracy showed that a man by the name of David Vaughn was a sponsor of the organization," Dies' statement continued. "Upon investigation, however, we have definitely determined that the David Vaughn who sponsored the American League for Peace and Democracy is not the same person as Mr. David B. Vaughan who was described in my letter to Chairman Wallace as head administrative officer of the Board of Economic Warfare.

Deeply Regrets Mistake.

"The records of our office do not show that Mr. Vaughan, who is presently administrative officer and chief of the administrative management bureau of the Board of Economic Warfare, has ever been affiliated directly or indirectly with the American League for Peace and Democracy or any other Communist or subversive organization.

"I deeply regret that this mistake was made and I am glad to retract it and to apologize to Mr. Vaughan for the error.

"Insofar as Mr. Vaughan is concerned, it is needless to say I have never known him. There has come to me, however, from the most reliable sources information that he is a splendid outstanding citizen."

TRAINING SCHOOL ESCAPE LEADER GETS 1-14 YEARS

Pleads Guilty to Assault on Supervisor.

A prison sentence of 1 to 14 years was imposed yesterday upon Santo Sartorio, 16 years old, leader of a break on June 11 by 12 inmates of the Illinois State Training School for Boys, near St. Charles.

Sartorio, whose home is at 3149 Princeton avenue, Chicago, was one of three wounded by deputy sheriffs after the escape. He remained in an Aurora hospital until 10 days ago when he was transferred to the Kane county jail at Geneva. Since that time he has caused so much turmoil in the jail that Sheriff Marcus Damisch yesterday insisted that his case be disposed of at once, instead of next Monday, the date set for his trial.

Enters Plea of Guilty.

As a result, Judge Charles D. Page agreed to hear Sartorio in the Circuit court at Geneva yesterday if the young hoodlum was ready. Sartorio changed a previous plea of innocent to one of guilty and Judge Page sentenced him, recommending he be confined not less than three years nor more than seven.

Sartorio pleaded guilty to assault to kill Keith Armstrong, recreational supervisor of the boys' school, who was slugged on the head with a heavy rod during an outing 25 inmates of Cleveland cottage had been given as a reward for 90 days of good behavior.

After Armstrong had been hurled from the school's 30 passenger bus and another officer had been overpowered, Sartorio took the remaining inmates on a wild ride to a point near Plano where the 12 mutineers scattered into the woods. All were recaptured within 24 hours and nine have been sentenced to prison, pleading guilty to larceny of an automobile and conspiracy to commit larceny. Two who have pleaded innocent will be tried Monday.

Beats Inmate of Jail.

Upon Sartorio's arrival at the jail, according to Sheriff Damisch, he let it be known he is a very, very hard customer. He became self appointed "executioner" for the jail's kangaroo court.

In this rôle on Tuesday he knocked unconscious an Aurora youth accused of larceny. When placed in solitary confinement, Sartorio shouted he would kill himself. At this, Anthony D'Antonio, 17, of 1923 Erie street—one of those to be tried next week—shoved an improvised knife into Sartorio's solitary cell and told him to "go to it."

Sartorio announced philosophically that he would wait to see what the court might do to him before ending his life. Then he set up a great uproar. Jail attendants recovered the knife and Sheriff Damisch announced Sartorio had worn out his welcome. He will be taken to Joliet penitentiary today.

ROOSEVELT RAPS FARM BLOC OVER SURPLUS SELLING

Asserts War Permits of No Compromise.

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP).—President Roosevelt, in a new rebuke to the house farm bloc, made it plain today he would accept no compromise of the farm appropriations dispute which restricted the government's authority to sell surplus wheat for live stock feed at subparity prices.

Signing a stop-gap measure to provide the agriculture department with July operating funds, the President said in a statement, "Our war needs do not permit compromise or partisan discord." He added that the disputed issues involved "more abundant production of things we need" which he previously had defined as meat, poultry, and dairy products.

"This is no time," he commented, "to hamstring successful principles."

Viewed as Senate Support.

Sen. Richard B. Russell [D., Ga.], chairman of a senate-house committee which has sought unsuccessfully since May 25 to compose differences of the two congressional branches over the $680,000,000 agriculture department fund, immediately interpreted this as flat support of the senate's amendment authorizing the sale of 125,000,000 bushels of government held wheat for feed at about 83 cents a bushel.

Accordingly, Russell said that when the conference group meets again, probably next week, he would ask the house members to seek another vote of that body on the question. The house previously had voted to bar the sale of grain held by the Commodity Credit corporation at less than full parity prices, $1.34 on the farm in the case of wheat.

"I think there is a possibility that the house may alter its stand," Russell told reporters. "I believe there was a misapprehension on the part of some members that parity to the farmer was involved in this amendment when it is only parity to the government that is involved."

Russell said he thought the senate's action in approving this week a bill directing government loans at full parity on six major farm crops demonstrated that the farmer was going to get parity prices for the things he raised. [Parity is a price calculated to give the farmer the same relative return he obtained in a past period, usually 1909-'14.]

Puts Floor Under Prices.

In effect, this measure would put a floor under farm prices at $1.34 a bushel for wheat, 97.6 cents a bushel for corn, 18.55 cents a pound for cotton, 7.3 cents a pound for peanuts, and $1.23 a bushel for rice. All are now selling under these levels except cotton and rice. The sixth affected commodity is tobacco, for which the parity price varies widely with types.

The house agriculture committee unanimously approved the bill today and Chairman Hampton P. Fulmer [D., S. C.] said he would regard house passage of the measure as removing the principal point of controversy in the $680,000,000 farm bill.

But Rep. Clarence Cannon [D., Mo.] of the house conferees saw nothing in the loan bill which he thought would change the house stand on the grain sales proposal. He previously had predicted that the President would veto the loan bill if it was passed, but agriculture committee members said it was approved by the bureau of the budget.

Launch Navy Transport at West Coast Ceremony

Long Beach, Cal., July 9 (AP).—The U. S. S. Doyen, the first navy transport built here since 1918, was sent into the water in a spectacular sidewise launching at Consolidated Steel Corporation yards today. The ship was named for the late Brig. Gen. Charles A. Doyen, who commanded the famous 4th brigade of marines, which repulsed the Germans at Château Thierry and Belleau Wood in the World war. It was christened by a granddaughter, Miss Fay Doyen Johnson of Washington, D. C.

THE PATRIOTIC Answer TO YOUR SAVINGS QUESTION

SAVING is so vital to this Country's war effort that the war could hardly be won without it. Naturally you wish to aid your Country by saving patriotically.

So War Savings Bonds should be your first consideration. They are the must investment for Victory. Here you can buy these bonds through partial payments suited to your convenience.

The savings shares of this Association also qualify as patriotic. For every dollar saved here helps to offset inflation, evidences the thrift desired by the Government and helps some family to buy a home. And homes are the source of the nation's strength.

More than 22,000 members of this Association — the largest in Illinois — are using its facilities. They are buying War Savings Bonds, saving and investing on the Bell Savings Plan, and acquiring homes.

If you wish to save systematically with safety, assurance of a substantial income and availability of your money when needed, investigate the advantages of this Association, which is under both State and Federal supervision.

SEE HOW YOUR BRAND COMPARES WITH OLD GOLD

Reader's Digest assigned a scientific testing laboratory to find out about cigarettes. They tested seven leading cigarettes and Reader's Digest published the results.

The cigarette whose smoke was lowest in nicotine was Old Gold. The cigarette with the least throat-irritating tars and resins was Old Gold.

On both these major counts Old Gold was best among all seven cigarettes tested.

WE'RE GOING BACK TO BATAAN!

THE MELTING POT NEEDS A STIR.

Dr. Frank Kingdon, a London born naturalized citizen resident of New York, is the leader of the so-called Union for Democratic Action, which has taken on the self-invited task of purging congressmen who were against intervention before Dec. 7. Dr. Kingdon's outfit challenges the rights of citizens and their representatives to criticize the administration or to hold any variation of opinion from that which the UDA has decided was right. These are fundamental rights in a free country and it is symptomatic that more than a few persons who join Dr. Kingdon in the attack upon them are, as Rep. Dies has shown, followers and admirers of bolshevism, which tolerates no criticism or deviation of opinion.

During a recent radio debate on the UDA purge Dr. Kingdon was asked if, as a former British subject, he held with the right of his majesty's loyal opposition to criticize the government. The doctor dodged that one by saying that there were people born in America who never had had America born in them. He was more right than he thought.

This country used to pride itself upon the quick assimilation of foreign born. We gloried in the thought that the United States was a great melting pot from which newcomers emerged as good Americans. But there is a good deal to indicate not only that all of the foreign born have not been assimilated but that some men born in America or of American parentage have practically ceased to be Americans.

Dr. Kingdon, among those born abroad, sees no anomaly in informing millions of patriotic Americans that he, more than they, knows what's best for their country. The prewar policies which he advocated were calculated to give inestimable benefits to his mother country and to impose incalculable sacrifices on the country he had adopted. His present effort to revenge himself upon those who chose to differ with him is a denial of democratic rights, but his claque of Communists and fellow travelers, themselves thoroly saturated with alien loyalties, can be counted upon to shout down that objection.

Dr. Kingdon is a candidate for further assimilation, but he does not stand alone. There is Mr. L. M. Peyovich, general secretary of the Serbian National Defense Council of America, whose letter protesting an editorial on Black George and his heir, the young king Peter of Jugo-Slavia, appeared in the Voice of the People. Mr. Peyovich, in advancing the argument that a reflection had been cast upon the loyalty of Serbians who had made this the country of their choice, demonstrated the persistence of the tendency to genuflect to the forms and symbols of European authority which Americans are thought to have put behind them.

But native Americans who tend to forget they are Americans represent a still greater problem in assimilation. There is Mr. Ralph Ingersoll, the editor of PM, who panted in print to put this country into the war and at the disposal of lands he elevated above his own, but who became a very diffident gladiator when his draft board beckoned. There is Mr. Archibald MacLeish, who did his bit by waging a war of nerves against the American people. There is Mr. Clarence Streit, whose Union Now scheme brands him as the leader of the 1942 edition of the Revolutionary war Tories. There are uncounted others.

Somewhere in between the foreign born and the natives who choose to forget the American heritage stands Mr. Henry R. [White Feather] Luce, born in China of American parents, who managed to achieve a straddle even in birth. Mr. Luce is another member of the school of editors who are too proud to fight in the war they did everything they could to help bring about. Mr. Luce is unique in the high value he places on his own hide.

It remains a question whether all these gentlemen will forever remain strangers to America, but if the melting pot happens to be still hanging over the fire it might be a good idea to toss them back in to simmer a bit longer.

THE IRON FENCE JOINS HIS PALS.

To that growing company of New Deal insiders that manages to get little things done around the house, war or no war, must be added the name of Fiorello [Iron Fence] La Guardia. As mayor of New York La Guardia rates a new official residence, and while the rest of the city ostensibly is conducting a hunt for scrap metal, the obliging WPA has fabricated a fence 400 feet long and 6 feet high out of old iron to pen him and it in.

Others whose property has recently been improved are Ed [Paving Block] Flynn, chairman of the Democratic national committee, who had the courtyard of his country place paved with stones stolen from the borough of the Bronx, and Sen. A. B. [Swimming Pool] Chandler of Kentucky, who came home to his country estate to find, to his surprise, that a grateful friend who had received a $1,745,150 war contract had snuck a full sized swimming tank into the grounds. Four tons of steel, together with brass and rubber, were expended in violation of priorities and a government ceiling of $500 on residential improvements.

In contradistinction to Mr. Paving Block Flynn, Mr. Iron Fence La Guardia is not accused of stealing anything and, as opposed to Sen. Swimming Pool Chandler, he does not get the fence for keeps. The official mansion, with attached fence, will descend to La Guardia's successor, when and if New York finishes holding practice blackouts and gets around to electing one. The people of New York are probably content to let Fiorello have his fence. If they had any assurance that he would stay on the inside looking out they'd probably even toss him a nut.

And that reminds us of Mr. Harold [Egg Crate] Ickes, another New Dealer, who uses his official limousine to carry eggs from his country estate to Washington where they are sold. Evidently he believes that if it's all right to carry one egg, a couple of dozen others can do no harm.

MONEY FOR INDUSTRY.

Corporations raised 162 million dollars by the sale of new securities during June. Of this total 2/3 was employed to refund outstanding issues. Thus corporations obtained only about 50 million dollars during the month. During the first half of the year the monthly additions to the new capital of corporations averaged about 80 million dollars. This compares with 270 million dollars per month on the average for the years 1919 to 1927; 719 million dollars a month in 1929; 412 millions per month in 1930, and 146 millions per month in 1931.

While capital issues were in such small amounts, the expenditure for new industrial equipment and new industrial buildings has undoubtedly been greater than for any comparable period. Thus new industrial buildings and machine tools alone totaled more than 1½ billion dollars in the six month period. Huge sums have been paid out for land, for machinery, for rolling stock. More working capital has been needed, because of higher prices, record amounts of work in progress, and increased inventories.

Nor have the banks taken over the function of the capital market. The weekly reports of federal reserve member banks in 101 cities show that loans have dropped nearly 600 million dollars since the first of the year. Last week's bank call in Chicago showed loans down 61 million dollars from Dec. 31 to June 30.

Where has the money come from, then? To some extent corporations have financed their wartime expansion out of profits retained in the business, or from the expenditure of previously accumulated depreciation funds. The United States Steel corporation has just called attention to its expenditure of 600 million dollars for new equipment during the depression years. Only a small amount of this money was provided by new financing.

But far and away the largest source of the funds for the wartime expansion of business has been the government itself. It has paid for the building of vast armament works thruout the country to be operated by private concerns, and it has made loans to corporations to provide their own plants.

Thus to a very large extent the capital market has become socialized. Radicals will hope that the substitution of the government for the investor as the source of new capital for corporations will be permanent. They will seek to attain this objective by means of corporation taxes so high that profits cannot be earned, and individual taxes at such a level as to leave nothing with which to buy securities. The consequence of that is a dictatorship of the Fascist variety if private management remains, or of the communist variety if the politicians take over.

THE NINE OLD MEN.

For sentimental reasons, at least, the return of Lon Warneke will be greeted with acclaim by those hardy souls who stick by the Cubs thru adversity. Mr. Warneke performed pitching prodigies in days gone by, but was traded when he seemed at the height of his powers. The trade was a shock to the fans, but not to any one who has tried to follow the party line laid down from the front office.

In the service of the Cardinals Mr. Warneke did a consistent job, but one that could not be considered spectacular unless it were compared with the performance of most of the pitchers who remained in favor with the Wrigley field management. Now he returns at the age of 33, after a dozen years in the big league, and at his time of life a great many ball players start to consider a filling station.

There is a certain fatality about the deals made by the Cubs management. On the same day that Mr. Warneke returns it is noted that Larry French, whom the Cubs traded to Brooklyn, has pitched nine victories without a defeat, while a number of other athletes whose work was not considered satisfactory on the north side are now doing well in the lineup of the league leaders.

The omens for Mr. Warneke's future career are being variously interpreted, but there can be no disagreement about the philanthropic spirit of the front office. This is not as noteworthy, perhaps, as when $185,000 was spent to bring Dizzy Dean to the north side with one game left in his glass arm, but none the less the repatriation of Mr. Warneke shines as a good deed in a naughty world. At the worst, he runs the risk of being turned out to pasture.

A home was also found recently for Jimmy Foxx in his old age, when his grandchildren might have been disposed to turn him out; and in time it is to be expected, unless the humanitarian instincts of the management are restrained, that the Cubs lineup will have the venerable appearance of the Supreme court in its more majestic days. The batting order will form on the right in wheel chairs and the Cubs will rank alongside the Rockefeller Foundation as an eleemosynary institution.

DANGEROUS PRESS MUZZLE.

[Detroit Free Press.]

About a month ago Commissar Molotoff arrived in Washington for important diplomatic negotiations. Every correspondent in the capital knew he was there. Yet, at the state department's request, not a word was printed in any American newspaper about his visit until he had left the country.

That is why the Office of Censorship's blanket "request" to the press to avoid "premature disclosure of diplomatic negotiations or conversations" is both surprising and irritating. This restriction should be immediately erased, not only because it insults the press, but, far more important, it provides a screen behind which the American people can be saddled with commitments having nothing to do with the war, without their knowing what is happening until it is too late for them to protest.

The constitutional provision that treaties must be ratified by the senate is no protection. Conventions, understandings, gentlemen's agreements, declarations of intention are only a few of the devices that have been used in the past to circumvent that provision. They ignore the senate's place in foreign relations entirely. We may know them for what they are; but peoples still thinking in terms of secret diplomacy accept them as good as our bond.

The press can be trusted not to print anything that will interfere with our war effort. Negotiations for reshaping the world after the war are in another category. About these, the press should not be shackled from keeping the people informed. They will have to live in that world, for better or for worse. If government by the people means anything they have a right to know what their servants are doing in time to influence their decisions. They can't if the press is muzzled on diplomatic matters.

While bowing to a refugee king a Washington matron fell flat on the face, thus affording his majesty a clear view of the buffet luncheon beyond.—Detroit News.

DEATH BY AUCTION SALE.

While auctioneers are chanting the requiem of the Auditorium, let us add a footnote to its history. Every one knows that Adelina Patti sang at its dedication, but almost nobody knows that she was not the first famous artist to stand upon its stage and send a trill over the great hall. That honor belongs to Lillian Russell.

• • •

Before the Auditorium was opened, Ferdinand Peck, its first president, and Milward Adams, its first manager, wanted to ascertain how a single singing voice would fare in the vast cavern of architecture. Lillian Russell was then appearing in Chicago with a comic opera company, so they asked her to come over and carol a bit, off the record. Lillian, a native daughter, was happy to oblige, and so she stood on the stage and sang while Mr. Peck and Mr. Adams listened from the back of the house and the lofty balconies.

• • •

Thus the acoustics of the Auditorium began their world-wide fame. Nobody remembers the titles of the songs that Lillian sang; they were, no doubt, in the forgotten repertory of the ancient sirens.

• • •

The man who told this story was Guy Hardy, who deserves to be called the Spirit of the Auditorium, for he spent a large part of his life there when the Chicago opera companies were going strong. It is unwritten history that the Spirit of the Auditorium once, in a dull summer, organized a Boul Mich tennis club for games upon the stage, and that B. L. T., founder of this column, was among the players. And likewise the Spirit, abetted by the present editor of this column, once, in a festive winter, gave a supper-and-dancing party in the foyer which was up to the standard of anything of the sort described in Balzac's novels.

• • •

We took our last march down an Auditorium aisle with Mr. Hardy the other night. He said that on the organ console the name of Roosevelt would be found, because the builder of the instrument was a member of the Presidential dynasty. He was right; the instrument was made by the Roosevelt Organ company [Hillborn and Frank Roosevelt, second cousins to Theodore.]

• • •

"Is your heart breaking?" we asked the Spirit, who seemed surprisingly chipper under the circumstances. "O, well," he said, "everything must die some time."

THE STORY OF A MEDAL.

He came home sobbing, his first day, from school,
And told me without shame he was afraid.
Later I took him to the swimming pool;
He clung to me and watched while others played.
His high school days were torture to us both;
No football lest, perhaps, a broken arm.
He was afraid to take a chance with charm.
His father wanted him to be a man,
And hunt and fish the way most he-men do.
"I'll do it," he would say, "because I can;
But I would rather stay at home with you."
And then the war came and he had to go—
His colonel sent the medal back to me.
Down in my heart I said: "We never know"—

A Bender on the Creeping Bent.

This is the third in a series of two diatribes about homely things, and this morning, dear friends, it is creeping bent grass lawns.

I wonder why the "creeping." I have it! It creeps; day and night it creeps. It is probably all right during the daytime, but I should think it would be rather spooky at night. But night or day it creeps around, takes root, and off it goes again a-creeping.

Now about the "bent." O, yes, in order to creep you have to bend over, and that is what the grass does. It creeps, bends over, takes root, and creeps some more. Really remarkable stuff, what?

Now that the "creeping" and the "bent" have been explained so no one will understand them, what happens? Well, the owner of the creeping bent lawn takes a tweezer and goes over the lawn, pulling out stray weeds and dandelions and giving it a good manicure. I have known people who sat in the middle of their lawns waiting for a weed to pop up, and when it did, "snap," they offed its head.

Now what? Well, you get your garden hose and you tenderly spray each leaf of creeping bent grass, which is crawling like mad by now. And then you sprinkle a bit of fertilizer on it, preferably with an eye dropper, and of course no one is ever to walk on it. The purpose of all this is to make it grow.

And then what do you do? You take a lawn mower, put your big cloppers right in the middle behind it, and walk brutally all over the lovely creeping bent grass and cut it all off.

DISEASED TONSILS HINDER DEVELOPMENT.

In most parts of the country grade schools have been dismissed for the summer. But foresighted parents are already beginning to think about getting Bobby and Jane ready for the forthcoming session in September.

Perhaps the school nurse or physician has suggested that it would be well to hold a "tonsil party." To take out these structures routinely is foolish. Badly diseased glands, however, should be routed.

That these areas may become lurking places for bacteria is well known. The formation of even minute abscesses within their tissues may be followed by enough absorption to retard normal development. Furthermore, whenever organisms linger in the vicinity the sufferer will be prone to exhibit more bouts with sore throat—perhaps more colds.

In this connection we must not forget that adenoid tissue—which usually wastes away as the child grows older—may lead to more trouble in the middle ear, more inflammation within the sinuses, with a lessening of vigor. This may be explained on the basis that the lungs—because of the resulting obstruction—will not obtain sufficient air. As a rule, the child is a mouth breather.

If the tonsils have been found to be enlarged and infected, the verdict "Get rid of them" cannot be accepted lightly. The procedure should be considered as carefully as the removal of an appendix or any other organ. This means that the youngster should be in the best possible physical condition.

If circumstances permit a local anesthetic is preferred by many experts. All of the nesting places for "bugs" must be destroyed. The best surgery, therefore, is none too good. This is not an operation for an amateur or one who is not sure of his ground.

What is accomplished? The body is relieved of the necessity of fighting a strain of bacteria which has influenced vitality. In itself this is a distinct gain. Let us not assume, however, that there will be no more sore throats or rheumatic fever. If we do, we will be disappointed. But the chances are that with germ laden tonsils out of the way, growth will proceed with less of a load upon the system.

Can the operation be performed in the physician's office? Yes, but it is rarely wise to do so. The patient should be watched constantly—at least for 48 hours—for signs of hemorrhage. Good nursing during this interval means a far more prompt recovery.

Even under unfavorable circumstances, only 25 per cent of our children may have glands that should be extirpated. If a tonsilectomy has been done on 50 per cent of the youngsters in a given community, we may infer that many normal structures have been attacked. A conservative but sane attitude takes the position that only when it can be shown that the glands are manufacturing or retaining pus will it be necessary to employ skilled surgery.

NOT ESPECIALLY.

L. T. writes: Is there any connection between acne and deficient thyroid activity?

REPLY.

Not a specific cause altho anything that lowers resistance, disturbs digestion, or is responsible for anemia should be considered. A substandard output on the part of the thyroid can be corrected easily.

WRONG SIDE.

P. B. writes: For some time I have had a sore spot on my left side under the ribs. Could this be gall bladder trouble?

REPLY.

SORE KNEE.

M. B. writes: Each morning when I waken, I have a dreadful pain in my right knee. Can it be old age? I am 25 years old.

REPLY.

THE JUDGES KNOCK OFF WORK.

Chicago, July 7.—The newspapers of July 4 inform us that our Cook county judges have shut up shop, in accordance with tradition, and have declared a moratorium on justice until Sept. 9. Clerk Victor Schlaeger of the Superior court reports that during the 10 month period just ended, 15,539 cases were filed and 14,950 disposed of. Clerk John Conroy of the Circuit court reports that 13,172 cases were filed and 9,305 disposed of. This would indicate that the Superior court judges have gone on vacation with 589 cases pending, and that the Circuit court judges have knocked off work for the summer with 3,867 cases waiting to be heard. However, these figures are rather misleading.

Based on reports published Jan. 1 there were pending, as of last Dec. 1, 16,263 cases in the Superior court and 13,699 in the Circuit court. Now, if the Superior court disposed of 589 fewer cases than were filed during the last 10 months and the Circuit court fell short of disposing of its total cases filed during the same period by 3,867, it is obvious that the two courts not only failed to reduce the total number of cases pending, as of last Dec. 1, but that they have fallen farther behind than they were before. For, of the 29,962 cases pending in the civil branches of both courts, as of Dec. 1, only a small percentage was filed subsequent to the opening of the 1941 fall term. The bulk of these cases represented calendars that were running at least a year late.

The diligence and enthusiasm manifested by our Cook county courts, particularly now that we are at war to preserve our democratic ideals, are an inspiring example of devotion.

FRANK J. HART.

SOUNDS LIKE A LANDLORD.

Evanston, Ill., July 2.—Have just read the suggestion in this column that the public be requested to buy war stamps as admittance to Soldiers' field or Grant park concerts. I think I have a far better idea. Mr. Henderson has compelled landlords to reduce their rents; he further claims that rent ceilings affected one-fifth of our population and mean a saving to tenants of 1 billion dollars a year. Now let Mr. H. compel these same tenants to invest the savings in rental in war bonds. The landlords could establish a "bureau" to see that this was carried out, since it goes without saying that landlords won't be able to buy bonds. After all, it would be one way of showing appreciation to Mr. Henderson and loyalty to one's country; 80 million dollars' worth of war bonds a month would just about be enough to run the office of the OPA the way Mr. Henderson would like to have it run, snoopers and all. FORMER DEMOCRAT.

CHRISTMAS PLANNING EARLY.

Chicago, July 3.—Why not decide now to refrain from indulging in widespread, expensive Christmas card distribution, but to adopt an inexpensive card, suitably inscribed, and with a seal or attachment for a war savings stamp? This would not be dragging the war spirit into the honoring of the Prince of Peace, but would be a sensible method to help in hastening the return of peace on earth and good will toward men.

The exchanging of gifts may also well turn from baubles to bonds.

S. G. WICK.

THE FARMERS' CASE.

Romney, Ind., July 7.—The farm bloc is right. Here are some truths that have been suppressed thruout the attack on agriculture: Prices for the food which return to farmers reasonable profits cannot be truthfully called inflationary. The formula for parity prices is not based upon cost, and consequently parity prices do not take into consideration production costs. It is extremely doubtful that they return to farmers production costs. They certainly do not reflect unreasonable profits.

Under the AAA farm program the administration pledged itself to raise farm prices to the parity level. By making parity prices its goal, it admitted them to be just prices for farm commodities. Under its ever normal granary program, it pledged that the surplus would be removed and not used to depress farm prices. That pledge has been broken.

Secretary Wickard tried to keep those pledges to farmers but was forced into line when the President remarked that he could fire either the secretary or Mr. Henderson. Subsequently the secretary and the price administrator issued a public statement in which they announced their intent to freeze feed grain prices at or below 85 per cent of parity. This they have done by offering the very surplus, which they assured farmers would never be used to break their markets, at prices so low that the market price of those grains has been frozen at correspondingly low levels.

In his article of July 6, Mr. Henning concedes that "substandard wages" should be allowed to rise. It's about time some one thought about "substandard farm prices." According to the director of the budget, this program against inflation is "a program of equality of sacrifice." I assume that also applies to our war effort. Where is the equality of sacrifice for the cash grain farmers when the price of the grains they produce is deliberately frozen by the administration at or below 85 per cent of cost? THE TRIBUNE reports that the farm labor situation has been relieved by the presence of large numbers of unpaid family workers on the farms of the midwest. Can any one name any other war industry or consumer goods industry where the worker's family has to work for long hours beside him without pay?

H. S. AVERY.

CONGRESS ABDICATES ITS POWERS.

Blue Island, Ill., July 7.—It is certainly humiliating to have our congress, which is the highest branch of our government, with power of grand jury and petit jury over both of the other sections, submit to the administrative agencies and even bow to the dictates of other underlings. Can the created become greater than the creator? Can the creatures of the Constitution become greater than the creator, the Constitution? O. E. G.

WHERE DID THE SKILLETS GO?

Chicago, June 28.—Seeing that the drive for scrap rubber is at its peak right now, a question has arisen in the minds of many people as to what happened to all the aluminum that was collected. Can any one give me an answer? M. H.

DOCTORS IN SERVICE.

Chicago, July 7.—Calling medical men for service with our armed forces is a problem, because a doctor not only has personal dependents to consider, but also untold numbers of sick and ailing who must not be neglected.

A method which might be employed and one which would create less confusion and demoralization among the ailing who are dependent upon the medical profession for relief, would be to secure the necessary number of doctors for our forces according to the length of time they have been out in practice.

It is natural to assume that the longer a doctor has been practicing, the greater the number of patients he must be treating. Accordingly, the first to be called should be those doctors who have recently graduated. The experience they will gain will prove invaluable to them in the future. After this supply has been exhausted, those doctors who have been out for one year can be called. By going down the line in this manner, we can soon have the necessary number of medical men to take care of our fighting forces and still have a sufficient number of doctors left to take care of things at home. In each classification, of course, due consideration should be given individual requests for exemption. B. L.

BEYOND THE TOMB.

Chicago, July 6.—The little lady and I ventured into the south end of Lincoln park Sunday and noted the grand manner in which the concrete mixers mixed up the landscape.

Fancy the amazement of the lone occupant should he view the cemetery in 1942.

When Chicago was young and Lincoln park was a cemetery one of the first to build a home north of the cemetery was a doctor who told his friends he had "a home beyond the tomb."

CONSERVATORSHIP.

Crown Point, Ind., July 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Is a guardian automatically discharged after the incompetent's death?

2. If not how long does he carry on after death?

3. A will is made but administrator was not named. Would a Circuit court judge have power after death to appoint the guardian administrator?

4. If an incompetent died intestate leaving only a son and a second childless wife would she be held to her dower interests as this is a lifetime income out of estate, or entitled to one-third of entire estate?

P. P.

1. Illinois law permits the conservator to continue for the purpose of closing the probate estate. You do not indicate whether your question arises in Illinois or Indiana.

2. It seems probable that an attorney has been employed and if so, he is in a better position to advise you than we are.

3. Yes. We assume that the will was made before the mental disability arose. Otherwise the will would be inoperative.

4. Mental incapacity would not affect this question. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

Test Your Horse Sense

By Dr. George W. Crane

Select the answers which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correct answers on page 29.

1. Which one of the following words would you associate with dog biscuit? Opine Feline Supine Canine.
2. If you lose your balance and fall when you try to stand with your eyes shut it usually indicates an injury to your Brain Eyes Ears Spinal cord.
3. A housewife would be most likely to employ saffron as a Water softener Dress fabric Food flavoring Perfume.
4. Which one of the following is associated with fishing? Lariat Lance Harpoon Saber.
5. The father of a mule would be which one of the following? Gelding Jack Stallion Steer.
6. You don't need to be a carpenter to make a perfect score on this problem about houses, but you will have to be expert in some more American idioms. Try to match the phrases in the left hand column below with the things with which they are normally associated. You are entitled to one point for each correct matching.

[a] Full house	[v] Ham of meat
[b] Open house	[w] Free treat
[c] On the house	[x] Social reception
[d] Big house	[y] Poker hand
[e] Smokehouse	[z] Prison

Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—The last question counts five points.]

AL SMITH TALKS WITH PRESIDENT; MUM ON N. Y. RACE

Rules Himself Out; 'Too Old,' He Counters.

Washington, D. C., July 9.—President Roosevelt, continuing a series of conferences which have brought a stream of New York politicians to the the White House this week, talked today with former Gov. Alfred E. Smith.

Alfred E. Smith.

Apparently Smith discussed the New York gubernatorial situation with the chief executive, altho he would not say so. He said his call at the White House was "more a personal visit than anything else, altho he and the President "talked about nearly everything."

A reporter remarked that the conference followed rumors that Smith was being discussed as the Democratic candidate for governor, but Smith said: "I didn't hear 'em—not around my hotel."

Dodges Gubernational Issue.

"Some years ago," a reporter remarked, "you asked Mr. Roosevelt to run for governor of New York state. Did he return the compliment today?"

"I don't remember," Smith replied with a grin, twirling a Panama hat which he substituted for his famous brown derby because of the hot weather.

"Have you announced your preference for governor?" he was asked.

"No."

"Do you expect to later?"

"No."

"Would you be receptive to the nomination?"

"No; too old."

"Would any circumstance make you receptive?"

"No."

To a question whether he would appraise State's Attorney General John L. Bennett, a leading candidate for the Democratic nomination, as a liberal, Smith said he didn't want to discuss the New York gubernatorial situation in any respect.

Preceded by Other New Yorkers.

Smith's trip to the White House followed visits earlier in the week by Sen. Robert F. Wagner [D., N. Y.], Rep. Michael J. Kennedy [D., N. Y.], the leader of Tammany Hall, and Edward J. [Paving Block] Flynn, Democratic national committee chairman.

The President was reported to have resisted the efforts of numerous politicians to get him to take sides in political feuds elsewhere while he reserved the right to dabble an experienced finger in the politics of his home state.

F. D. R. Prefers Mead.

New York, July 9 [Special].—President Roosevelt has informed New York's leading Democrats that he prefers Sen. James M. Mead to Attorney General John J. Bennett Jr. as the Democratic nominee for governor, it was learned today. His preference, it was said, was not because he has anything against Bennett, whom he picked for the Democratic nomination for attorney general in 1930, but because he believes that Bennett, if nominated, would be defeated, and that Sen. Mead would be certain to defeat Thomas E. Dewey, prospective Republican nominee.

With influential Democrats in this city and elsewhere stirred into belated activity for Sen. Mead by the impetus from the White House, they were somewhat puzzled by Sen. Mead's statement in Washington, in which he called for a conference of party leaders to determine the nominee, indicated he would not be a candidate if it would disrupt party unity, and said his first choice was State Chairman James A. Farley, chief sponsor of Bennett's candidacy.

22D CONSECUTIVE DROP REPORTED IN RELIEF CASES

June was the 22d consecutive month during which employment continued to reduce the relief load in Chicago, George J. Klupar, commissioner of the Chicago Welfare administration, reported yesterday. The CWA had 45,375 cases in June, a net decrease of 4,263 cases, or 8.6 per cent, from the previous month.

Applications likewise set a new record low in June. There were 2,231 petitions for relief during the month, compared with 2,245 in May, 1942. Klupar attributed the decline of the rolls partly to various employment programs, such as the placement and vocational counseling service, conducted by the CWA.

The welfare administration spent $22,542,084 during the fiscal year just ended, Klupar said. Salaries and expenses represented 9.87 per cent of this amount.

REPLIES TO MAIL QUERIES ON RENT CEILINGS BEGUN

The Chicago area rent administration yesterday pitched into a pile of 1,500 letters from landlords and tenants asking questions about rent ceilings. The office already has handled almost 10,000 personal interviews and telephone inquiries.

Earl Dean Howard, Chicago area rent director, and John F. McCarthy, chief rent attorney, said that procedures for adjusting rent disputes are being completed and that hearings on complaints will start early next week. Meanwhile, the rent staff is attempting to answer the large volume of accumulated mail.

"The inquiries have fallen off in the last few days," Howard said. "I believe the public has become familiar with the major provisions of the rent order and I expect compliance."

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks department will answer questions about the draft and military service, both in the daily columns and by mail, if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with the queries.]

E. E. M. asks: "May a soldier in the army make his close friend beneficiary of his government insurance policy? If not, could a will be made to that effect?"

ANSWER: A soldier may designate any number of beneficiaries within the following classes: Wife, child [including an adopted child, step-child, and illegitimate child], parent [including person in loco parentis], brother, and sister [including those of halfblood] of the insured. These limitations would exclude a close friend. There is no provision as yet relative to designating a beneficiary by means of a will. It must be borne in mind, however, the National Service Life insurance act is subject to amendment, revision and interpretation. Probably the best procedure to follow where the insured has no one within the permissible group to name as beneficiary is to make his estate the beneficiary.

F. A. P. writes: "It is announced on the radio every morning 'remember, you can enlist in the navy up to the very time you are actually sworn in.' Is this true?"

ANSWER: Technically one may enlist in any branch of service up to the moment the oath is taken, but it is certainly inadvisable to wait that long.

H. J. W. asks: Does the wife of a master sergeant have the right to post her letters to friends or relations by 'free postage'?"

ANSWER: Only men in the armed forces are entitled to this privilege.

Mrs. M. G. J. writes: "My husband has enlisted in the army air corps as a flying cadet and has seven months more of training ahead of him. Would my baby and I be included under the allotment bill?"

ANSWER: Air cadets receive $75 a month while in training and, in addition, they receive $1 a day as allowance for maintenance, which would exclude their dependents from the benefits of the legislation. At the time the cadet is being considered for training, he has to certify he will have no one dependent upon him while he is in training.

Mrs. D. S. C. asks: "How will the payment of the allotments be made—by check, money order, or cash? I have two sons in service. Will I be able to receive an allotment from both?"

ANSWER: Payment of the allotments will be made by government check, mailed once each month. Both sons could make allotments to you provided it can be established that each son had contributed a substantial portion of your support before his enlistment or induction. The mother will be required to submit affidavits.

PREDICTS PEACE BY '43 WITHOUT MARRIED DRAFT

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP).—Predicting the war would end "probably in 1942 and unquestionably in 1943," Chairman Andrew J. May [D., Ky.] of the house military affairs committee said today there would be no need for the army to induct married men or youths in the 18 and 19 year group.

The information on which he based his prediction, the Kentuckian told reporters, was "a military secret," obtained since the recent apparent Russian reverses.

The assertion that the drafting of married men and boys under 20 would be unnecessary, May said, was based on selective service records. Best estimates, May said, showed there were approximately 3,125,000 in the 18 and 19 year old group.

"With that many men yet to be utilized, and figuring 1,000,000 of them will become 20 years of age each year, it will not be necessary to provide for the induction of any one under 20," he said. This will provide all the men the army needs, he added.

DOUBTS TRAILER DWELLERS WILL BE ABLE TO VOTE

Walter J. Smith, deputy county clerk of Lake county, expressed the opinion yesterday that nearly 1,500 persons living in trailers in Lake county will not be eligible to vote there under the state-wide voters' registration law which went into effect July 1.

Smith, who is in charge of the registration in his county, said the law requires a voter's residence to be permanent, and that in his opinion a trailer home cannot be considered permanent.

Unless the attorney general rules otherwise, it is Smith's intention, he said, to deny registration to trailer occupants. Jay B. Morse, county clerk, said he will ask the attorney general for an opinion on the subject, covering houseboat dwellers as well as trailer dwellers.

U. S. Deposits $481,623 for Expanding Air Base

Clarence W. Beatty Jr., assistant United States attorney, yesterday deposited with the clerk of the federal court checks totaling $481,623 for payment to owners of land condemned by the government for expanding the Glenview naval reserve aviation base. The government has condemned 35 tracts totaling 556 acres.

STIMSON DENIES POLITICS MOTIVE IN LODGE RECALL

More Useful in Senate than Army, He Says.

Washington, D. C., July 9.—Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson said today his letter directing Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. [R., Mass.] to quit active army service as a major and return to the senate was without political significance and was not intended to have any such significance.

"It was a simple letter to a soldier who had performed his service creditably and was faced with two opportunities for service, in the senate and in the field," Stimson told his press conference, in response to a question.

"I followed a general directive and decided that he would be more useful in the senate."

Lodge Reveals Letter.

Lodge, who recently returned from army duty in Egypt and who is a candidate for renomination, made public the letter in which Stimson advised that "you will render more service to the American people by performing the important duties of United States senator, rather than devote your energies solely to the purely military phases of the war as a junior officer."

Some commentators yesterday interpreted Stimson's letter as implying support of Sen. Lodge in his campaign for reëlection.

Rep. Joseph E. Casey [D., Mass.] is a candidate in opposition to Sen. Lodge and is reported to have the support of President Roosevelt.

Presidential Secretary Stephen Early, emphasizing that he was not doing so as a result of Stimson's having written Lodge, gave reporters the text of a Presidential directive to the army and navy now in effect which requires members of congress to go on inactive duty.

All Members Affected.

The directive says:

"All members of the house and senate who are now serving in an active status will be placed on inactive duty, July 1, 1942, or immediately upon returning to the United States."

The directive originally made an exception for "those who wish to remain on active duty for the duration of the war," but this was rescinded the same day the original order was issued, June 17, at the suggestion, it was understood, of Stimson and Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox.

One official noted that the effect of modification would be to compel congressmen or senators who are in the armed services and are up for reelection this fall to get out and run their campaign or resign from congress and stay in the army or navy.

Several house members, including some last heard from at foreign stations, are on active service.

EMPLOYE GROUPS SWELL USO FUND BY GIVING $31,000

Gifts totaling $31,000 were given by employé groups to the United Service Organizations yesterday, bringing the drive to $1,214,354, Holman D. Pettibone, general chairman, announced. The day's receipts leave only $535,078 to be raised to reach the goal of $1,749,432 before the campaign closes July 31.

Outstanding among the contributions was $6,667 from workers at Marshall Field & Co., a donation which was exclusive of the subscription from the company itself and which exceeded the goal set by the workers by nearly $2,000.

Other gifts included $598 from civilian employés at the Great Lakes Naval Training station, $517 from civil service workers in the office of the inspector of naval material, $637 from employés in the office of the Illinois department of employment and compensation, $602 from the employés in the Cook county bureau of public welfare, $470 from employés in the office of the HOLC.

Among gifts announced from industrial employé groups was $1,340.47 from Crowe Name Plate and Manufacturing company, which the company matched with an equal gift to which was added $104.30 from a scrap rubber collection contest.

OLYMPIC HOTEL RAIDED, 2 SEIZED IN VICE CLEANUP

Continuing their drive to clean up the North Clark street district of vice, East Chicago avenue police last night raided the Olympic hotel, 1015 North Clark street, and arrested Miss Sally Sanders, 24 years old, and William Spencer, 49, the hotel clerk.

Detective Leo J. Kelley said Miss Sanders was but one of several women soliciting at the hotel bar. Two sailors found in Miss Sanders' room were released, he said.

Spencer was booked on a charge of keeping a disorderly house.

U. OF I. ADVISERS TO ASK BARRETT ABOUT JOHNSON

Vote to Hear Charges from Attorney General.

The University of Illinois citizens' advisory committee yesterday voted to invite Attorney General George F. Barrett to present in person his charges that Sveinbjorn Johnson, counsel for the university at $9,000 a year, also was receiving $6,500 a year as a New Deal propaganda agent in Illinois.

Despite assurances that the matter would be laid open for the public, the three hour session of a panel of the university's general advisory group in the Union League club was closed to reporters. President Arthur Cutts Willard of the university and Dr. Karl Meyer ,president of the board of university trustees, were at the meeting.

Vote for Investigation.

Already instructed by the trustees to investigate Barrett's charges, the advisory committee of citizens yesterday voted to do so. Then they decided to ask Barrett to appear during the week of July 20, "so that the charges may be clearly before the committee."

Benjamin F. Affleck is chairman of the executive committee of the citizens' advisory group.

Barrett in May notified the university trustees that he had accepted Johnson's resignation as "an assistant attorney general and so-called university counsel." However, the board voted, 5 to 2, to retain Johnson in the position he had held for 16 years.

Auditor Upholds Barrett.

As attorney general, Barrett said, he is solely responsible for legal matters of the university. Johnson was devoting his time to the federal government while being paid $9,000 a year by the state. State Auditor Arthur Lueder supported Barrett by refusing to continue Johnson's salary.

Proceeding further in the face of trustee opposition, Barrett asked the United States attorney general to determine whether Johnson has violated the Hatch act by engaging in political activity while on the federal propaganda pay roll as state director of the Office of Government Reports.

During the 1940 campaign, while Johnson was holding both jobs, he helped establish Democratic clubs in many parts of the state, Barrett said.

MAYORS REJECT U. S. SUBSIDY FOR BURDENED CITIES

Kelly Helps Defeat Plan for Aid.

New York, July 9 [Special].—The financial board of the United States Conference of Mayors today turned down a proposal to request a federal subsidy of half a billion dollars for cities overburdened in war time, and adopted resolutions asking that local governments not be deprived of taxation or other revenue due them on property being used in war production.

Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago was one of four mayors joining to squelch the subsidy proposal on the basis that it might lead to federal control of city governments. Mayor W. W. Wyatt of Louisville opened the attack on the subsidy, advanced by Corporation Counsel Robert Cutler, representing Mayor Maurice J. Tobin of Boston, Mass., as "just chicken feed when you are talking about a federal budget of 75 billions."

Kelly Asks 'Patriotic Way.'

Also joining in advocating defense of city home rule were Mayors John J. McDonough of St. Paul and C. D. Scully of Pittsburgh. Mayor Kelly added that there is too much of a tendency for rural sections in various states to dominate the cities.

"This war," said Kelly, "will have to be carried on without politics like that—carried on in a sensible, patriotic way."

After adoption of a motion to appropriate $100,000 for a study of long term solutions of city financial problems, Mayors Edward J. Jeffries of Detroit and Fiorello La Guardia of New York joined in proposing this two point program for immediate relief:

1. Realty and other taxation of war plants and equipment for which exemptions now are claimed, and

2. Continuance of sales taxes on war purchases.

Action on Taxes.

One of two major resolutions adopted asserted that proposed federal legislation to prohibit collection of municipal sales or use taxes in connection with cost-plus and other contracts involving the federal government should not be enacted.

The other resolution asked that neither the federal government nor any of its agencies seek to exempt from full assessment and payment of local taxes any property occupied by war production plants operated by private enterprise for profit.

EIGHT INCH RAIN DOWNSTATE AND MORE FORECAST

East St. Louis, Ill., July 9 [Special].—The weather man tonight forecast more rain after an unprecedented downpour of 8 inches earlier today flooded the lowlands of three counties, including Madison and St. Clair counties in Illinois and St. Louis county, Missouri.

State police continued to patrol U. S. highway 40 between here and Collinsville at Fairmont race track, where scores of families were evacuated from flooded homes and water still was hub deep on the pavement at many places. Belleville power was restored in midafternoon, but many streets in East St. Louis remained under water and were impassable.

Three deaths were attributed to the storm. Roy Raver, a fireman, was drowned when a swollen creek burst over highway 40 near Salem; Charles Brunelle, 12, of Pine Lawn and Robert Schmid, 15, also of Pine Lawn, drowned in flood waters of Cold Water creek in Granite City suburbs.

Belleville and East St. Louis reported damage of $500,000 and another $500,000 damage is estimated in St. Louis county. Estimates of the rainfall vary from different localities. The St. Louis [Mo.] weather bureau reported 6.3 inches fell between 11:30 p. m. yesterday and 11:15 p. m. tonight. St. Louis university gauge recorded 6.62 inches for this period. The Springfield [Ill.] station of the U. S. weather bureau at East St. Louis recorded an 8 inch rain here.

ALIMONY PLEAS TO SUPERIORS OF EX-MATE HALTED

Mrs. Dorothy Hayes of Pasadena, Cal., was restrained yesterday from writing letters to the superior officers of her former husband, Lieut. Col. Hayes, now on duty in Hawaii, concerning his alleged failure to keep up his alimony payments of $175 a month.

The injunction was issued by Superior Judge Rudolph Desort when Attorney Eugene Meegan set forth that such letters to Col. Hayes' army superiors tend to undermine his morale.

Hearing on a demand of the colonel to have his alimony reduced from the $175 to $100 a month is to be at a later date. In his petition for the reduction Col. Hayes set forth that while he is supporting an 84 year old father out of his salary his former wife, who divorced him May 2, 1938, in Chicago, is earning from $400 to $500 a month as a riding teacher in California.

OBITUARIES

Earl Comstock Moss.

Services for Earl Comstock Moss, sales engineer, who died Wednesday in his home at 316 Cumnor road, Kenilworth, will be at 3 p. m. tomorrow at 1567 Maple avenue, Evanston. Mr. Moss, who was 71 years old, was born in Chicago. From 1905 to 1938 he was Chicago manager of the Morse Chain company and thereafter served as consulting engineer. He was the designer of a silent chain transmission, said to be the largest ever built, at Snake River, Idaho. He leaves his widow, Jean Paton Moss, and three sons.

Vincenzo Formusa.

Vincenzo Formusa, a wholesale grocer in Chicago for 50 years, died of a heart ailment yesterday while being taken from his home at 151 Le Moyne parkway, Oak Park, to Mother Cabrini hospital. He was 79 years old. Mr. Formusa came here from Italy in 1892. He was a former treasurer of the Italian Chamber of Commerce in Chicago and had been cited a knight of the Italian crown. He leaves his widow, Grazia; a daughter, and three sons. Services will be at 8:30 a. m. Monday at Santa Maria Addolorata church, May and Erie streets.

Henry Schmidt.

Services for Henry Schmidt, 81 years old, resident of Kankakee for nearly 60 years, will be tomorrow. He was the father of the late Herman F. Schmidt, former city editor of the Kankakee Republican News. Two sons and a daughter survive.

Thomas E. Ryan.

Thomas E. Ryan, city supervisor of unimproved streets, died of a heart attack yesterday at the Arlington Park race track. He was 45 years old, and lived at 1347 Eddy street. Mr. Ryan had been a city employé for 27 years. A widower, he leaves his son, Thomas Jr. Services will be at 9:30 a. m. Monday from 3552 Southport avenue to St. Andrew's church. Burial will be in Calvary cemetery.

Fred Walton.

Fred Walton, 54 years old, for more than 25 years a member of the vaudeville team of Walton and Brant, died yesterday in his home at 46 East Oak street. He leaves a widow, Mary, who also formerly was a performer. Services will be at 2 p. m. tomorrow from 2500 North Cicero avenue. His body will be cremated at Acacia Park cemetery.

Mrs. Effagene M. Loomis.

Mrs. Effagene M. Loomis, 98 years old, died yesterday at her home at 333 Wisconsin avenue, Oak Park. She was the widow of the late Dr. E. B. Loomis and is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Charlotte A. Leland, and five grandchildren. Services will be at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow at the Madison Street Bible church in Oak Park. Burial will be in Graceland cemetery.

Joseph J. McAuliffe.

St. Louis, Mo., July 9 (AP).—Joseph J. McAuliffe, widely known St. Louis newspaper man and managing editor of the Globe-Democrat for 26 years until his retirement in May, 1941, died today of cerebral hemorrhage. He was 65 years old.

JUNIOR COLLEGE EDUCATION FOR SERVANTS URGED

Junior college education for domestic servants was recommended yesterday by Miss Ivol Spafford, former assistant curriculum director at the University of Minnesota, as a means of building up a menial job to a highly respected profession.

Miss Spafford spoke at the 20th annual institute for administrative officers of higher institutions at the University of Chicago. Employers, employés, and those interested in educational programs should work together to bring about this program, she said.

Another speaker, Dean William H. Spencer, of the school of business at the University of Chicago, warned that junior colleges are putting too much emphasis on technical training in their commercial courses.

MRS. MULLEN, 101, IS DEAD AFTER 10 DAY ILLNESS

Mrs. Martha Jordan Mullen, 101 years old, died last night in the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. A. C. Norwood, at 5947 Race avenue, after an illness of 10 days. She had broken her hip in a fall 13 months ago—only six months before she was 100—but she had recovered from that mishap and had been able to walk again.

Mrs. Mullen was born in Westminster, Md., Dec. 8, 1840. She came to Chicago about 1891. She learned sewing and became a seamstress after she was 50. For 40 years until she was past 90, she continued the occupation.

She leaves six grandchildren and 21 great-grandchildren.

Services will be at 10 a. m. tomorrow from 320 North Central avenue to St. Lucy' church, Mayfield avenue and Lake street.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

MURDER CHARGE IS FILED AGAINST ILLINOIS MAYOR

Springfield, Ill., July 9 (AP).—A murder charge was filed today against Lawrence Roller, 53 year old mayor and police chief of Mechanicsburg, Ill., in the fatal shooting of Willie Herman, 45, during an argument over the occupancy of a house.

Roller received a pistol wound in the head which Sheriff Harry Elelson said was self inflicted. The murder warrant, signed by the sheriff, was served on Roller at St. John's hospital here.

The shooting occurred last night in Mechanicsburg before a grocery owned by Herman. Herman was shot thru the heart.

AVOID THE UPSETS OF CONSTIPATION

White Elephant Directors Give Party on July 21

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE directors of the White Elephant Rummage shop give a party each spring for their city friends and one each summer for the country dwellers who contribute rummage to be sold at the shop. This summer's affair is to be a games party on Tuesday afternoon, July 21, at the Lake Forest residence of Mrs. D. Mark Cummings.

Even tho Mrs. Samuel T. Chase, the directors' poet laureate, is convalescing at the Mayo clinic in Rochester, Minn., she did not forget to write some of her usual sprightly verses to use as invitations. However, the committee did not want to bother Mrs. Chase with "business" matters, and more prosaic penny postcards already had been put in the mails when Mrs. Chase's poem arrived.

The rummage committee is hoping that Mrs. Chase will be back in Lake Forest in time for the rummage tea on the 21st. The committee also expects a sizable selection of gifts to be offered as admission to the party, for with housewives going thru attics and basements in search of valuable rubber and metal many items of no use to the government but with good resale value must have turned up.

Mrs. Dexter Cummings and her mother, Mrs. Phelps B. Hoyt, are giving a luncheon at the Shoreacres club on the day of the rummage tea.

Gallagher-Swain Wedding to Take Place Tomorrow.

Mrs. John J. Yowell of Glencoe will entertain at dinner tonight for Miss Eleanor Norton Swain and Richard Sears Gallagher, whose marriage will take place tomorrow in Trinity Episcopal church in Wheaton, with a reception following in the Wheaton home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Scott Underwood. Tomorrow Mrs. C. Kingman Perkins will give a buffet luncheon before the wedding.

The bride and her mother, Mrs. George Warner Swain, are former Chicagoans, but have been living in Madison, Wis., since the death last year of Mr. Swain. Mrs. Swain is here for the wedding, as is the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Percival Gallagher of Brookline, Mass., and his sister, Mrs. Henry B. Stearns of Watertown, Conn. Miss Mary Swain will be her sister's maid of honor, and Roger B. Conant Jr. of Dedham, Mass., will be best man. After Aug. 1 Mr. Gallagher and his bride will be at home in Brookline.

With her bridal costume today Miss Mary Wilder will wear an heirloom veil bordered in lace and a necklace of pearls handed down to her sister, Mrs. Edward W. Emery of Detroit, by their grandmother, the late Mrs. Thomas Edward Wilder. Miss Wilder and Ensign Frank Alexander Welsh Jr. will be married at 8:30 o'clock in the Skokie Country club, where the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Tucker Wilder of Glencoe, will give a reception following the ceremony. Ensign Welsh and his bride will reside in Norfolk, Va., after a wedding trip.

Sallie Wescott Dickey's Engagement Announced.

From Shaker Heights, O., comes word from former Winnetka residents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Livingston Dickey, of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Sallie Westcott Dickey, to Norman Boyd Roos, son of John Hencil Roos and the late Mrs. Roos of Winnetka. Miss Dickey attended Wheaton college and was graduated from the Katherine Gibbs school in New York in 1941. She is a provisional member of the Cleveland Junior league. Her fiancé attended the Hun school and received his degree in 1935 from Princeton university. At present he is stationed at a southern post as a sergeant in the army.

Mrs. Thomson Henshaw of Short Hills, N. J., announces the engagement of her daughter, Hope, to John Greenleaf Owen Jr., son of Mrs. Owen of Chicago and Eau Claire, Wis., and the late Mr. Owen. Miss Henshaw was graduated from the Kent Place school. Mr. Owen, a graduate of the Hotchkiss school, attended Princeton university and now is at an aviation school in the east.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Rayner of Lake Forest announce the engagement of their daughter, Ann, to Ensign Charles Edwards Wood Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Wood of Cincinnati, O. The wedding will take place on Aug. 22 at the Church of the Holy Spirit in Lake Forest, and Ensign Wood and his bride will live here. Miss Rayner attended the San Luis school in Colorado Springs and was graduated from the University of Colorado. Ensign Wood is a graduate of the United States Naval academy at Annapolis.

L. Gifford Gardners Name First Child Robert Gifford.

Ensign and Mrs. L. Gifford Gardner have named their first child Robert Gifford for his father and late maternal grandfather. The baby, who is a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Gardner of Winnetka and of Mrs. Robert Bear of Evanston, was born on Monday in the Evanston hospital, and by the time his father leaves for the west coast on Monday to serve in the communciations department of the navy, he will be just a week old. Mrs. Gardner and the baby may follow Ensign Gardner when his orders are more certain. Mrs. Gardner Sr. and her daughter, Miss Evelyn, haven't yet seen young Robert, as they left early this week for their Cape Cod summer home.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Dewes Burgweger [Helen Chancellor] are receiving congratulations on the birth of their first child on Sunday in the Evanston hospital. The baby, who has been named for his father, is a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Justus Chancellor and Mrs. Meta Dewes Burgweger of Winnetka and Henry B. Burgweger of Buffalo.

Six Young Farmerettes Who Are Now Hard at Work

Szell Repeats His Success at Ravinia Park

BY EDWARD BARRY.

George Szell has in extraordinary degree the ability to mesmerize musicians. He can make a giant orchestra almost part of himself and control it as perfectly as you or I could a mouth organ. Whatever effect he imagines comes to be translated into sound immediately.

Conducting the Chicago Symphony orchestra at Ravinia park last night he gave a convincing example of this power in the evening's principal item, the Schubert Seventh symphony.

The profundity of Mr. Szell's musicianship and the purity of his taste, combined with this ability to get an orchestra to do his exact bidding, resulted in a superb performance. The symphony's second movement had a radiant lyricism, its third and fourth an authentic grandeur.

Mr. Szell's directing goes so far beyond the mere business of beating time and indicating entrances that a description of all that he does might easily constitute a full length manual of the conductor's art. For one thing, he expresses in his gestures the length and contour of a musical phrase. Much of the exalted quality of the Schubert was due to the precision with which the musicians caught his meaning. Themes, when their character demanded it, were of a subtle breadth and tranquility.

We of the audience realized that we were in the presence of something indubitably great, and at the symphony's conclusion there was stamping mixed in with the applause.

The Schubert was followed by a beautifully fluid performance of Smetana's "The Moldau," and that by Strauss' "Till Eulenspiegel's Merry Pranks."

The orchestra prefaced the program with "The Star-Spangled Banner," a proceeding so normal that it would ordinarily not be mentioned. However, there is some news value in the fact that during last night's performance of the anthem all uncertainty as to who is the most patriotic member of the orchestra was swept away. The violinist, David Moll, not only played the tune but sang the words.

St. Louis Symphony to Appear Here for School Fund Benefit

A November date music lovers will circle in red on their calendars is the 30th, when the St. Louis Symphony will appear at Orchestra hall, with Vladimir Golschmann conducting and Rudolph Ganz as soloist. The board of trustees of the Chicago Junior school is sponsoring the concert as a benefit for its school, located near Elgin. The school's purpose is to help wide-awake boys obtain an education in a friendly, homelike atmosphere, and it coöperates with the parents or guardians of students thru the scholarship fund.

Mrs. G. H. Simpson.

Mrs. George H. Simpson, who is general chairman of the benefit, is entertaining at luncheon at her home in Winnetka today for her committee. Helping her are Mrs. John Grant McDonald, Mrs. C. Morton Winslow, Mrs. O. Chester Brodhay, and Mrs. Alden Scott Boyer. Howard Bede is president of the board of the school.

Front VIEWS and PROFILES

BY KATE MASSEE

The Tough Branch.

From Variety, via L. W.:

"Frank Chapman, husband of Gladys Swarthout and former concert and operatic baritone who retired last year to devote himself to managing his wife, has applied to the marines for a commission."

Likenesses.

The USO club on South Wabash avenue, operated by the National Catholic Community service, is by way of becoming something of an art center. The other evening, Helen Cummings gave of her talents to make portrait photographs of 48 service men from this area. The pictures were made into postcard size and sent as special gifts to the boys' mothers. Other news in the facial department of the club is that Bob O'Reilly's caricatures are reaching new heights. Those who can sit quietly for 15 minutes are rewarded with humorous and very excellent likenesses. There's even talk of having a display of Bob's art in a Michigan avenue window some time soon.

California Contrasts.

In a letter from Mildred Moore of Chicago, temporarily living in Beverly Hills, Cal.:

"The swimming pool at Town House was formally opened on Sunday. . . . A delectable buffet table 100 feet long, umbrellas in the garden, swimming and diving exhibitions, and a tennis match with Charles Chaplin, Rudy Vallee, Mickey Rooney, and Errol Flynn playing. . . . On the sidelines William C. Tilden, tennis instructor at T. H.; Zasu Pitts, with her small daughter, Ann, and Maj. Walter Frazier, who's been stationed out here for some months. . . . Later to a house 'cooling,' quite the thing in California as many are closing their estates for the duration and taking smaller houses. Our hosts' house, which they'd spent years dreaming of and building, has fireplaces in every room, swimming pool, and so on. Shortly after Pearl Harbor the owner offered his services in a shipbuilding yard and is now a welder, working weekdays and Sundays. They've taken a tiny apartment near the yards and both are happier than they've been in years."

Those Were the Days.

In re item concerning the mauve decade when bicyclists were bicyclists:

"I carry a vivid picture in my mind of Sunday afternoons during my childhood, watching mother and father prepare to pedal from Trinidad, Colo., to Raton, N. M., a distance of about 25 miles, and over a road that in these days of endless cement ribbons would be considered impossible. . . . They were dressed in high styles of the day—mother in a divided full skirt, shirtwaist, and sailor hat; father in his business suit, the trousers held close with bicycle clips.

—Sadie Pierce Martin."

Convalescence.

Picking at the coverlid as we recuperate from the flu, we keep remembering a recent conversation with Alexandra Potts, who'd just returned from attending a wedding in Haiti. Somehow her description of the punch served at the wedding reception has particular appeal, so we'll get it out of our system: A huge punchbowl of iced ginger ale, gently laced with white rum and waxy gardenias floating on the top. Pretty?

Calumet Region Music Festival to Salute Yanks

A salute to the armed forces of the United States will form the theme of the second annual Calumet District Music festival to be held in the Hammond Civic center tonight at 8 o'clock. It is a preliminary of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S 13th Chicago Music Festival to be held Saturday night, Aug. 15, in Soldiers' field.

George Calder.

The Hammond festival is sponsored by the Hammond park board, of which James Malo is president. George Calder, supervisor of music in the Whiting public schools, is the festival director in coöperation with A. B. Scott, head of Hammond's recreation department. Philip Maxwell, director of THE TRIBUNE'S festival, will be master of ceremonies at the concert.

The program will feature bands, choruses, baton twirlers, and winners of vocal and instrumental contests which have been held in the Hammond region thruout this week.

Among the groups on the program will be the Carnegie-Illinois Male chorus of Gary, directed by Harry Walsh, who also will direct community singing, and the 72 piece Carilico band, also of Gary, directed by Kenneth Resur. The choristers will appear in their working clothes.

The opening feature will be the posting of national colors by American Legion posts 168, 16, 232 and 126 under the direction of Louis Colleys of Legion post No. 168. The singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" and the pledge of allegiance will follow.

R. C. Dixey is chairman of the baton twirling and flag swinging contests. Mrs. Kenneth Resur will present a group of baton twirlers from Gary.

Festival Luncheon

Announcement will be made soon of the location of the 6th Chicago Festival luncheon which was scheduled for Friday, Aug. 14, in the grand ballroom of the Stevens hotel. Nearly 2,000 people attend this function each summer. All persons holding reservations for the luncheon should send their money to the festival headquarters by July 15. The plates are $1.75 each. Checks or money orders should be made out to Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., and sent to the festival headquarters in Tribune Tower.

Women in War Work

Seven young women, five of whom are graduates of the College of St. Teresa, Winona, Minn., were enrolled at the American Television Institute, Inc., 433 East Erie street, this week by way of a preliminary venture into the training of women by the army signal corps. Col. Charles N. Sawyer, signal officer of the 6th corps area, said in announcing the enrollment that the further training of women will be opened here as rapidly as schools can be set up.

Patricia Ann Hayes.

"The signal corps now has the authority to hire women and to train them as mechanics," he said. "It is my idea from what I read of the demand for men that we can't use able bodied men in repair shops if we can get women to do the work."

Concurrent with the announcement of the actual enrollment of seven women was the further announcement of the offer of the University of Chicago to train 20 women for the signal corps. This training will be in ultra high frequency and electronics, courses which correspond to the senior year and a year's post-graduate work in an electrical engineering school. Students for these courses should have degrees in mathematics, or physics, or electrical or general science. They will be used as instructors, quite likely, or in the maintenance of delicate test electrical equipment or research. The five St. Teresa college alumnæ are trainee instructors.

Patricia Ann Hayes, Julia Gallagher, Mary Sturm, Laura B. Strouth, and Rose Ann Zimmerman are the St. Teresa quintet at the Television institute. The two others, Mrs. Pearl Kennett, Downers Grove, and Miss Edna Cummings, Wilmette, are enrolled to become specialists in radio. They, too, will teach.

Miss Hayes, 21 years old, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Hayes of the Hayes hotel, 6343 University avenue. She was graduated at St. Teresa's this June with a degree in mathematics and physics. She had 147 semester hours of credit, an excess of approximately 20 hours or more, according to individual college requirements. She lacks only two hours of finishing her work in meteorology. She won a scholarship from grade school to high school [she attended Mercy], and from high school to college. Her brother, Frank Hayes Jr., 22, also is in the signal corps. He's in class from midnight until 8 o'clock every morning at the Burr school.

Miss Strouth and Miss Gallagher are both living at 3249 Washington boulevard. Miss Strouth comes from Minnesota and Miss Gallagher from Springfield. They both hold degrees in mathematics, as do the other girls from St. Teresa's. Miss Sturm resides at 5460 Crystal street, and Miss Zimmerman at 102 East Chestnut street.

Women who are 18 to 45 years of age and have degrees in physics, or mathematics, or electrical or general science are invited to file applications now for entrance to the University of Chicago training course for signal corps work. While degrees are preferred, women who have at least two years of college mathematics or physics plus an ESMDT [engineering, science, and management defense training] radio course will be considered.

Information may be obtained from the signal office, 6th corps area, 209 West Jackson boulevard, Harrison 3780. Application for training may be made with the signal corps ROTC instructors at the Universities of Wisconsin, Michigan, and Illinois [states in the 6th corps area] or application cards may be obtained from any recruiting office or any recruiting officer.

Women in the 18 to 45 age group with a minimum of two years of college mathematics [including calculus] and one year of college physics or the equivalent will be taken for instruction as signal corps workers as rapidly as possible. To facilitate the opening of schools as soon as equipment is obtained, women who are interested should file applications now, following the procedure given for those women wishing to enroll at the University of Chicago.

The St. Teresa young women at the Television institute are enrolled in a 12 weeks radio mechanics course. This will be part of their training to equip them to teach men electricity, magnetism, and theory. For, just as women may replace men as radio repairmen, so they may replace them as instructors.

Enrollment with the signal corps means going onto a wage scale, just as being hired by any employer. The over all wage scale for women is the same as for men, $1,800 to $2,600 a year, the rate fixed by the Civil Service commission.

All signal corps students accepted here must pass an entrance examination. Of course, the first obligation of the 6th corps area is to provide sufficient school facilities for the men. An announcement of the enlarged training program for technicians in the army signal corps field service was announced in yesterday's TRIBUNE. However, the training for women has been authorized; training of a few women has actually started, and women who are interested can at least make application now in preparation for the future opening of schools for them.

[The Women in War Work department reports on women's activities in war and defense work and answers questions of women wishing to take part in these activities.]

Ganz, Matyas Share Honor in Park Concert

BY CECIL SMITH.

Maria Matyas, one of the mainstays of the Chicago Opera company's mezzo-soprano division a few years ago, returned to Chicago from her present home in Ithaca, N. Y., to sing in Grant park with the Chicago Opera orchestra under the direction of Rudolph Ganz. A gray sky failed to make good its threat of interrupting the concert, and the large audience was able to remain thruout the evening, giving repeated tokens of great enjoyment.

Always a capable and refreshing young artist, Miss Matyas has continued to extend and improve her style since she moved away from Chicago. The exactness of her pitch and the evenness of her scale were always sources of gratification, as they still are; but her singing used to be a little overcautious, as tho she wanted to hear each note in its separate correctness.

This has been changed now. She has developed a flowing melodic line, and she has increased her control of vocal nuance and color. A mature understanding of major musical values shone forth in her performances of "Connais-tu le pays," from Thomas' "Mignon," and in the Seguidilla and Habanera from Bizet's "Carmen." As encores she added "My Hero," from "The Chocolate Soldier," and "Comin' Thru the Rye."

Mr. Ganz made Tschaikowsky's fifth symphony his chief contribution with the orchestra, and interpreted it in memorable fashion, despite the poor response of a sluggish group of orchestra men. His conception of the music was marked by taste, which is rare in contemporary Tschaikowsky conductors, and by a commanding ability to project the work in truly unified fashion, which is rare in conductors of any music. The remainder of the program consisted of the overture to Wolf-Ferrari's "The Secret of Suzanne," the ballet music from Massenet's "Le Cid," and Victor Herbert's "American Fantasy."

More Donations Received for Camp and Ice Funds

Donations totaling $20 were received for the Camp Algonquin fund and $15 for the ice fund by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., yesterday. The camp fund provides vacations for underprivileged children and their mothers at the United Charities camp on the Fox river 43 miles from the city, and the ice fund supplies ice for needy families thruout the summer. The gifts yesterday were $10 to each fund "In Loving Memory of D. B. N.," $5 to each fund "In Memory of a Little Boy," and $5 to the camp fund from Mrs. Anna C. Rugh of Racine, Wis. The Camp Algonquin fund reached a total of $466.68, with the ice fund at $100.

SUGAR ECONOMY TAUGHT IN BOOKS BY MARY MEADE

Gives Secret of Jellies of Equal Goodness.

Yes, jams and jellies usually do require a goodly amount of sugar for thickening and sweetening, but there are ways and means of cutting down the unpatriotic amounts of sugar required by most recipes.

When you buy a copy of "Mary Meade's Best Jams and Jellies," you'll find a copy of rules for making sugar substitutions included in the booklet. These rules explain clearly just how to use honey or light corn sirup in place of part of the sugar in any recipe for jam, jelly, preserves, conserve, marmalade, or fruit butter, and there are lots of good recipes for these fruit spreads in the booklet. It's available for 20 cents at the Tribune's Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and in the Tribune Tower; or it will be mailed to you for 23 cents in stamps. Address mail requests to Mary Meade, Tribune Tower.

IT'S PATRIOTIC TO SAVE YOUR KITCHEN GREASES!

Vary Vegetable Cookery with This Baking System

For a pleasant contrast from the usual vegetable dish, try wrapping your vegetables in tender baking powder biscuit dough and baking them. Combine any leftover cooked vegetables, or use a can of mixed vegetables. Roll out biscuit dough quite thin, and cut it into rounds or squares. Place about ¼ cup of the vegetables on each piece, sprinkle with salt, pepper and dot with butter. Moisten the edges of the dough, fold over, and press tightly together. Pierce the top with a fork to allow the steam to escape. Arrange on a baking sheet and bake about 15 minutes in a hot oven, 400 degrees. Brush the tops with milk to give a glaze and a deeper brown. Serve turnovers with mushroom sauce or meat gravy if desired.

A FIG SANDWICH SPREAD IS IDEAL FOR A LUNCHEON

Here's just the filling for those sandwiches that accompany a salad luncheon. In fact they'll star on any summer luncheon table.

Fig Sandwich Spread.

1 cup dried figs
1 3 ounce package cream cheese
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
1 tablespoon paprika

Cover figs with boiling water and let stand 5 to 10 minutes. Drain thoroly and dry off. Chop finely. Cream cheese until softened; then add figs, salt, onion, mustard, and paprika and stir until well blended.

Spices Flavor Savory Raisin Sauce for Ham

Here's an excellent raisin sauce to serve hot over sliced baked ham or pork: Tie 8 whole cloves and 1 stick cinnamon, broken, in muslin bag. Blend ¾ cup sugar and 3 tablespoons flour in saucepan, add ⅓ cup vinegar, 1 cup water, 1 cup raisins and ¾ teaspoon salt. Add spice bag and simmer 10 minutes. Remove spice bag.

KILL SUMMER FATIGUE WITH FRUIT DRINKS

These Punch Recipes Are Thirst Quenchers.

Cool beverages, made with orange and lemon juice, are more than thirst-quenchers. They're refreshing sources of those good, protecting vitamins, A, B, and C that help to prevent fatigue. In addition to their plentiful supply of juices, these citrus fruits yield extra flavor in their skins. The clean rinds can be grated and added to any cool beverage, and thin slices of the fruit, decoratively placed on the rims of the glasses, will provide an extra squeeze of juice.

When you're preparing any one of these sugar saving beverages, remember to use lots of ice, but don't have it crushed for it melts too rapidly and dilutes the drink.

Golden Punch.
[Serves 8.]

1 No. 2 can apricots or 2 cups cooked dried apricots
½ cup lemon juice
1 cup orange juice
2 bottles gingerale
Fresh mint

Put apricots thru strainer. Add lemon and orange juice. Mix with gingerale before serving and pour over ice cubes in tall glasses. Garnish with slics of lemon and mint.

Jam Punch.
[Serves 8.]

2 cups raspberry jam [or other flavor]
1 cup boiling water
½ cup lemon juice
4 cups cold water

Mash jam, add boiling water. Place over heat and melt, stirring constantly. Add lemon juice and cold water. Strain and chill. Serve in tall glasses with ice and garnish with lemon slices.

Honey Punch.
[24 punch glasses.]

5 cups water
1 cup honey
4 cups orange juice
½ cup lemon juice
2½ cups grapefruit juice

Dissolve honey in half the water which has been brought to the boiling point. Add remaining water and chill. Add orange, lemon and grapefruit juices and chill thoroly. Serve over block of ice in punch bowl. Garnish with slices of lemon and orange.

TODAY'S PRIZE RECIPE

Spaghetti in Sherry.
[Serves six.]

6 tablespoons butter
1 medium onion, finely chopped
½ pound beef tenderloin, finely chopped
½ pound fresh mushrooms, sliced
6 tablespoons flour
2 cups beef stock
¼ cup sherry wine
3 tablespoons tomato paste
Salt and pepper to taste
1 pound spaghetti
Parmesan cheese

Melt 2 tablespoons of the butter in heavy skillet and add onion, browning lightly. Add meat and, when lightly browned, add mushrooms. Meanwhile melt remaining butter in saucepan and add flour, mixing well. Heat until flour is well browned, then stir in beef stock gradually. Cook until thickened. Add this sauce along with wine to meat and mushroom mixture. Dilute tomato paste with an equal amount of water and add. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Cover and lower heat. Simmer gently for half an hour. Cook spaghetti until tender, about 20 minutes. Drain and serve topped with meat and mushroom sauce. Sprinkle with grated parmesan cheese and serve.

PRUNE WHIP PIE RATED DELICIOUS, NUTRITIOUS, TOO

If fluffy fruit whips have always met with success as dessert in your house, the family will be overjoyed at the sight of this delicious pie. It's filled with tender, nutritious prunes and chopped walnuts, seasoned with a dash of cinnamon and topped with whipped cream. Sounds good, doesn't it?

Prune Whip Pie.
[8 inch pie]

1 cup chopped cooked prunes
1½ tablespoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ cup chopped walnuts
3 egg whites
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup sugar
1 baked 8 inch pie shell
6 cooked prunes, pitted
6 walnut halves
Whipped cream

Mix prunes, lemon juice, cinnamon and walnuts. Add salt to egg whites and beat until stiff; gradually beat in sugar. Fold in prune mixture and heap into baked pie shell. Decorate top with 6 walnut stuffed prunes, and bake in slow oven [325 degrees] 35 to 40 minutes, or until firm. Serve cold, topped with whipped cream. [This mixture may be baked in a buttered baking dish and served cold with custard sauce if desired.]

Try This for Added Zest in Familiar Hamburger

To make zippy barbecued hamburgers for Sunday night supper, brown 1 pound ground beef in 1 tablespoon lard. Grind 1 large onion and 1 green pepper and combine with 2 tablespoons sugar, 2 tablespoons dry mustard, 1 tablespoon vinegar, 1 teaspoon salt, and 1 bottle catsup. Add to meat, cover and simmer slowly for 30 minutes. Serve on toasted buns. This amount will serve 8.

To Enjoy Steak Fry Fully, Choose Your Cuts with Care

When choosing meat to broil over the campfire, be sure that the cut is fairly tender, well marbled with fat, with a small amount of gristle and connective tissue. Steaks and chops not more than a half inch thick, are best. Care must be taken not to char the meat on the outside before it is cooked to the desired stage on the inside. A charcoal fire is better than a wood fire which must be burned down to a bed of coals before it is satisfactory for broiling.

SYNOPSIS.

When Juliet Johnson, New York dancer, goes to Mexico to visit her London show girl friend, Elaine, who has married Sir James Lynn, British oil magnate, she finds that her hostess invited her there to cloak an illicit romance with Harold, earl of Festone. Six weeks later, Lord Festone is found dead in a wrecked auto. But police discover he died of a bullet wound and, as no gun is found, they say it was murder. The Sir James seems to be the principal suspect, a number of others become involved in the murder, including: Elaine; Mrs. Sharon Lathrop, much-married divorcée, who once shot Festone; Philip Rankin, English art dealer and former classmate of Festone's as well as an old friend of Sharon's; Maria, the maid; and even Juliet. Juliet likes Philip, but pays no heed to his advice to return home before she gets too involved. When she sees Sir James burning letters, she manages to salvage enough of the charred fragments to discover they were notes of warning to Sir James about Elaine's and Festone's affair, and that they were written on her own typewriter. She copies them to make sure, tears the copy up, throws it in her wastebasket, and hides the burned bits under her mattress. But some one was watching at Juliet's window when she was trying to dicipher the notes, and some one puts a sedative in Juliet's brandy that night. So Juliet sleeps soundly and the next morning the torn copy of the letters is gone. She rehides the original notes in the toes of her red evening slippers and questions Maria, who served breakfast to Juliet in her bedroom. Maria denies having seen the torn copy. The copy is found by police in Sr James' bureau drawer, but Juliet is so frightened she denies she wrote it. In the meantime, Sir James has admitted to Morelos, head of the investigating police, that he, Lady Lynn, Lord Festone, and Mrs. Lathrop dined together the night of the murder, and that his wife and Festone left the dinner to go dancing, while Mrs. Lathrop drove him home, but became so ill she had to spend the night at his house. Later, he claimed, he knocked at Sharon's door, but she did not answer. And hearing a car drive up, he presumed it was his wife returning home, so he retired to his own room. Two of Sir James' revolvers and his cigaret case are missing from the living room mantel. Elaine tells police her husband threatened to kill her when she asked for a divorce to marry Festone. Sharon gets Philip and Juliet to go with her to Festone's house to recover a pair of jade elephants she says belong to her. They enter by a secret doorway. While there, Juliet discovers the missing cigaret case wrapped in a handkerchief. She takes the handkerchief and, when leaving, sees Maria in the courtyard. She tells Philip about the cigaret case and gives him the handkerchief. It is initialed "S. L." He tells Juliet he loves her and insists she go back to New York. Maria admits being in the courtyard, but warns Juliet to forget it. Police send for Juliet to come down to headquarters.

INSTALMENT XVII.

EMPTY SLIPPERS.

The uniformed man behind the desk said that Señor Morelos was expecting Señorita Johnson. Right this way. Philip asked, in Mexican, if he might accompany the young lady. That would be quite all right, the man answered courteously.

They were ushered into a small, bare, stone room—relieved only by a desk, a swivel chair, two straight chairs—and a box which Juliet recognized immediately as her typewriter case.

She twisted her handkerchief nervously.

"Now, there's nothing to be afraid of," Philip cautioned. He didn't look any too comfortable himself.

In a few minutes Morelos hurried in, bright eyed and beaming.

He sat down at the desk, unlocked a drawer, pulled two pieces of paper from it. The torn copy! He came directly to the point.

"Now, señorita, I wish you to explain. This note was written on your typewriter." He pointed to it. "We have found that it bears only your fingerprints—no other's."

Philip smiled confidently into Juliet's wide, frightened eyes.

"Tell the truth, dear. It will be better for you in the end." His composure gave her courage.

Suddenly she realized how glad she would be to tell the truth. Her words tumbled over each other. Morelos and Philip—one seated on each side of her—listened intently.

She told of going into the living room after Elaine had been questioned; of seeing Sir James burning papers; of his being called from the room by Maria; of her putting out the fire and cadging the remaining burnt fragments; of taking them to her room and reading the three notes as best she could; of the face at the window; of hiding the notes under the mattress and going to dinner; of returning and copying the one note to verify her suspicions that it had been written on her typewriter, of tearing up the copy and throwing it into the wastebasket when sleepiness overcame her; of putting the fragments under the mattress and of falling into a deeper sleep than she had ever before known.

Morelos, never taking his shining eyes from her, nodded frequently as tho assenting to her version and believing it true. Yet she felt that it was such a fantastic story, she must be making it up as she went along.

Then she told of Maria waking her; of Maria's entrance to the room; of her shower; of the serving of breakfast; of Maria's conversation about Mrs. Lathrop and Lord Festone; of her discovery that the torn manuscript was missing; of her suspicion that Maria had taken it, and of Maria's denial.

"Why did you suspect her?" Morelos asked pleasantly. "Has anything happened since which would make you suspect her?"

She thought she saw a look of alarm in Philip's eyes.

"Why—I—I—don't think so," she stammered.

If she told Morelos of seeing Maria in Lord Festone's courtyard, she would have to tell also of Philip's and Sharon's and her own presence there.

"Then you did not write the original notes? Where are they now?" Morelos asked, eyeing her slim figure with masculine approval.

"Stuffed in the toe of my red evening slipper on the floor of the closet in my room," she answered promptly.

"Bueno. We will send for them. I must request you to remain here until they arrive. And I want to remind you, señorita, that you have been withholding evidence and that here—as in your own country—that is a very serious offense!"

He spoke sternly. Juliet's bright red lips quivered.

"O, I know it. Eve been an awful fool. I don't know why I did it. I was afraid."

Philip put an arm about her and whispered that everything would be all right now that she had told the truth.

"I'm afraid this lady doesn't know much about the ways of justice," he explained apologetically to Morelos. The investigator didn't hear him. He was talking in swift Spanish into the telephone.

"I hope your story is completely true, señorita," he said to Juliet when his telephone conversation was ended. "We will soon know. A man is coming at once from the Lynn residence with what you call the charred fragments. I have ordered Sir James to come to this office immediately." Juliet admired him for that. Imagine any one "ordering" Sir James to do anything!

The three sat silently for 25 minutes. Morelos was busy writing notes. Philip smiled at Juliet and patted her hand to give her courage. Morelos looked up at the sound and smiled. Juliet pulled her hand away.

The waiting time seemed interminable.

"I brought them all," he explained, opening the bag and dumping out a jumble of wedgies, oxfords, patent leather pumps, sandals, walking boots and three pairs of evening slippers.

"There they are!" Julia pointed to the red slippers.

Morelos felt in one—then in the other. Juliet's black eyes widened as his thick fingers came forth—empty each time.

"There is nothing here," he said. His eyes narrowed.

"There must be," Juliet protested. "Maybe the notes fell out in the bag."

A hasty search was made of that—also of the toes of the other shoes. No notes.

"Are you sure?" Philip began.

"I'm positive," Juliet answered. "I know where I put them. O! You don't believe me. You don't either of you believe me!"

At that moment Sir James, massive, grim and brown, lumbered intc the small office. He nodded briefly to all three.

Rapidly the sharp eyed investigator outlined for him the story which Juliet had told—stressing her account of the burning of the original letters.

Sir James, without any change of expression, looked steadily at the investigator. He turned to the triumphantly smiling girl.

"You must be dreaming. Never received any such letters. Never saw any such letters. Never burned any."

He spoke slowly and deliberately.

When Sir James declared pompously that he knew nothing at all about the letters Juliet saw him burn in the fireplace, she turned on him in helpless fury.

"You lie, Sir James, you know you lie!" she screamed, rushing toward him.

NOW IS THE TIME TO MAKE A TASTY FROZEN DESSERT

Recipes Given for Varied Kinds of Ice Cream.

Smooth, velvety frozen desserts make their appearance as soon as warm weather arrives, and economical, sugar saving ice creams will be more popular than ever this summer.

You may have been disappointed before with homemade refrigerator ice creams because they were too expensive made with pure cream, or because they contained icy, unappetizing particles which spoiled the texture of the product. Sweetened, condensed milk, used in the following recipes, is inexpensive and the high concentration of milk solids in the milk and sugar gives a smooth, creamy texture to the ice cream.

When you're purchasing sweetened condensed milk, don't confuse it with evaporated milk, which contains no sweetening. Whipped evaporated milk may be used instead of whipped cream in frozen desserts which have lots of flavor, such as chocolate, mocha, strawberry, apricot, and coffee ice cream. The flavor of the evaporated milk, however, is not always desirable in plain vanilla ice cream.

Evaporated milk will whip best if it is first scalded. Place unopened can of evaporated milk in pan of cold water and bring to boiling point. Boil 1 minute. Remove and chill thoroly before whipping. Or, open the can of milk, measure the desired amount, and heat in double boiler over boiling water for 4 minutes. Then chill thoroly before whipping.

Fresh Strawberry Ice Cream.
[Serves six.]

½ cup water
1 cup crushed strawberries
¼ cup confectioners' sugar
1 cup whipping cream

Mix sweetened condensed milk and water. Add berries, sweetened with sugar. Chill. Whip cream to custardlike consistency. Fold into chilled mixture and pour into freezing tray. Freeze until half frozen, then scrape from freezing tray. Beat until smooth but not melted. Replace in freezing unit until frozen.

Chocolate Ice Cream.
[Serves six.]

1 square [1 ounce] unsweetened chocolate
⅔ cup [7½ ounce can] sweetened, condensed milk
⅔ cup water
½ teaspoon vanilla
½ cup whipping cream or evaporated milk, whipped

Melt chocolate in top of double boiler. Add sweetened condensed milk and stir over rapidly boiling water 5 minutes until thick. Add water and mix well. Chill and add vanilla. Whip cream to custardlike consistency and fold into chilled mixture. Freeze in freezing unit of refrigerator until half frozen. Scrape from freezing tray. Beat until smooth but not melted. Replace in freezing unit until frozen.

Mocha Ice Cream: Decrease vanilla in the above recipe to ¼ teaspoon and use ⅔ cup strong black coffee in place of water.

Chocolate Sherry Ice Cream: Add 3 tablespoons sherry or 1 teaspoon sherry extract, ¼ cup candied cherries, finely chopped, and ¼ cup candied pineapple, finely chopped, just before folding in whipped cream.

Vanilla Ice Cream.
[Serves six.]

⅔ cup water
1½ teaspoons vanilla
1 cup whipping cream

Mix sweetened condensed milk, water, and vanilla. Chill. Whip cream to custardlike consistency. Fold into chilled mixture. Freeze in freezing unit of refrigerator until half frozen. Scrape from freezing tray and beat until smooth but not melted. Replace in freezing unit until frozen.

A Simple Summer Luncheon Dish

Here's that simple summer luncheon dish you've been searching for. It's an attractive and mouthwatering sandwich loaf. To make it cream ⅓ cup butter and blend in 1 cup grated cheese, 2 tablespoons mayonnaise, ¼ cup sweet pickle relish, and 1 teaspoon prepared mustard. Blend well. Remove crusts from 1½ pound loaf of unsliced bread. Cut in six slices, lengthwise, about ¾ to ¼ inch thick. Spread with cheese mixture and roll up, wrapping in waxed paper. Chill in refrigerator until serving time. Garnish with sliced stuffed olives and serve on lettuce with crisp celery and other relishes.

VARIETY OF WAYS SUGGESTED FOR SERVING CHERRIES

Fresh, ripened sweet cherries always make good "hand-to-mouth" eating, but they're excellent, too, in fruit compotes, salads, and cooked or baked dishes. Try some of these suggestions for serving those luscious cherries:

Cherry Bounce: Half fill a baking dish with pitted sweet cherries. Sprinkle with sugar that has been mixed with a little flour and cinnamon. Add ⅓ cup orange juice for each 3 cups of cherries. Cover with rounds of pastry dough and bake in a 375 degree oven for about 25 minutes.

Cherry Custard Shortcake: Bake your favorite sponge cake recipe in individual cup cake molds or buy the molds at the store. Fill centers with a creamy custard filling and top with big, black, sweet cherries. Serve plain or with whipped cream.

Cherry Fruit Compote: Peel and segment 2 oranges and 1 grapefruit. Add 1 cup sweet, pitted cherries and ⅓ cup grapefruit juice. Sweeten if desired. Chill and serve.

Cherry cocktail: Combine 2 cups of large, sweet pitted cherries with 1 cup pineapple wedges. Pour over this combination ⅓ cup pineapple juice and the juice of 1 lemon or lime. Chill thoroly. Sprinkle with minted sugar and serve. To make minted sugar, mash finely chopped mint leaves with a little granulated sugar.

Tip for Measuring Sirups.

When you're using honey or sirup in a cake or cookie batter put it into the cup after fat has been measured. It'll pour out readily without sticking and measurements will be more exact.

You're right, Uncle Sam, and SALT is vital to food

DAIRY PRODUCTS—Cows can't live without salt. This vital mineral is indispensable to the production of milk, butter, cheese and other dairy products.

VEGETABLES—Without the addition of that important "pinch of salt," most vegetables would taste flat, unappealing. Salt makes them palatable.

BREAD AND CEREAL—In the making of our morning cereal and our daily bread, nothing can take the place of salt in the flavoring of these important basic foods.

MEAT, POULTRY, FISH—Salt is essential to the life of cattle, pigs, etc. and is indispensable in meat-packing, fish curing. It is vital to refrigeration and is used universally as a condiment and preservative.

Salt is important in the production, preservation, preparation or serving of most of the "Victory Foods"

● If all the salt were removed from your body, you could not live forty-eight hours!

Since the beginning of time, salt has been a vital necessity in the life of man and animals. It has influenced the location of nations and cities; it has caused wars; it has been used as money; and has given rise to superstitions.

Today, in addition to its use as an essential food, salt is employed in the manufacture of numerous chemicals; it is used in making glass and soap and paper and textiles, and in the glaze and enamel trades; salt plays a part in metallurgical processes—in the production of steel, for example. On the farm it is used as an insecticide, as a fertilizer, and as a lick for cattle.

In other ways too numerous to mention, salt touches the life of every man, woman and child.

There will be no salt shortage in America!

More than eight billion pounds of salt are produced annually in the United States!

The Morton Salt Company, America's largest distributor, has modern laboratories and refineries strategically located from coast to coast to insure adequate distribution of pure, high-quality salt to every corner of the nation.

Morton's Salt, known everywhere through its famous slogan "When it rains, it pours" will continue to be available to the average family at a cost of only 2¢ a week!

Plain or iodized, Morton's Salt ends the annoyance of clogged saltcellars because its uniform cube crystals do not stick together in rainy weather.

Overseas Fund Increase Voted by Methodists

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

A 25 per cent increase in giving for the international work of the Methodist church during the next year was voted yesterday by a joint session of the council of bishops and the world service commission of that church at the Stevens hotel. This increase will mean an additional million dollars to be offered in 41,000 Methodist churches. Last year, ending May 31, the church gave $4,324,150 to world service.

The plan calls for a nation-wide period of prayer and sacrifice, to be accompanied by an offering for present emergencies. Further emphasis will be placed on communion contributions to the "fellowship of suffering and service fund," which is being used for overseas work in countries at war and for the church's service to armed forces. Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf of the Chicago area [Illinois] was named convener of the commission of 15 to carry out the plan.

An outdoor celebration of holy communion in Washington park at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning will be the feature of the day's sessions of the 4th district convocation of the African Methodist Episcopal church being held under the chairmanship of Bishop John A. Gregg at Du Sable High school. Bishop W. A. Fountain of Georgia will be the celebrant. A picnic dinner will follow the service. The convocation will continue thru Sunday.

The Chicago district of the Colored Methodist Episcopal church opened its 55th annual convention Tuesday at the Mount Carmel C. M. E. church. Sessions will continue thru Sunday. Bishop James Bray is presiding bishop, and the Rev. E. P. Murchison, chairman, is presiding elder.

The Lutheran Old Folks home at Arlington Heights will celebrate its golden jubilee Sunday afternoon. The principal speaker will be Dr. Walter A. Maier of Concordia seminary, St. Louis, Mo. Music will be provided by the mixed octet of Grace Lutheran church, River Forest, and the Lutheran Harmony band.

A thousand Lutheran young persons of the Augustana synod will gather Sunday for a two week bible conference at Lake Geneva, Wis. The Rev. H. Conrad Hoyer, president of the Illinois Conference Luther league, will deliver the opening address. Other speakers will include Dr. Samuel Miller, Lutheran Bible institute, Minneapolis, Minn.; Dr. Oscar Benson, vice president of the Lutheran Augustana synod; Dr. George Hall, Gustavus Adolphus college, St. Peter, Minn., and the Rev. Winfield Johanson, Highwood.

Moody Memorial church, North avenue and Clark street, will hold a rally honoring soldiers, sailors, and marines tomorrow night. The program is sponsored by an interdenominational committee of Christian young people.

The Geneva Summer School of Missions will hold its 24th annual session from Aug. 9 to 16, at Conference Point, Williams Bay, Wis. Among faculty, speakers, and missionaries will be Miss Marie Preston, Mrs. Wilbur Ale, Mrs. John White, Miss Mary Beth Fulton, and Miss Ruth Howard.

Thru the Looking Glass

Week-ending or vacationing where only the mosquitoes mar the scene? Then remember there is such a thing nowadays as a mosquito-repellent that isn't all gooey and horrible in odor. It's a thin cream, with a really quite pleasant fragrance, and it vanishes completely into the skin, giving you an invisible film of protection. Once it's on you're completely unconscious of its presence, but the mosquitoes won't be. They'll shun you.

It must be applied to any exposed surface; you'll want to use it rather generously on ankles and hands, probably, but it's perfectly safe to use on the face. You'll find that it doesn't visibly mask the skin nor make it feel sticky or stiff. If you're out where the pests are for a considerable time it may be necessary to re-apply it from time to time. It's a good thing to pack with the vacation supplies and, of course, it can be used by every member of the family. We know several fishermen who would never be without it.

Lately, this cream has been having a great boom in sales near some of the army camps where mosquitoes are particularly troublesome. If you know some man at a camp where they're pretty thick you'd probably be sending him the most welcome of gifts if you popped a jar of this into the mail. It works and it's easy to use.

This has been on the market for a couple of years; people buy it regularly. This summer it has a companion piece—a cream that acts as a chigger repellent. It's brand new to us and we haven't yet had a chance to have it tried out but if it's as efficient as the mosquito cream we have high hopes. ELEANOR NANGLE.

On the House

If you have a room with walls decorated with a modern water thinned washable paint, and you are ready to clean the walls for the first time, it's good practice to add 2 or 3 per cent of ordinary 40 per cent formaldehyde to the washing water. . . . This will prevent the paint film from absorbing water and will toughen its resistance to abrasion. . . . Then sponge the surface lightly with a soft sponge or cloth and if necessary add a small amount of mild soap suds to loosen the dirt. LOUISE BARGELT.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY.

Busman's Holiday.

The secretary to one of our leading obstetricians spent a typical busman's holiday over the Fourth. Babies being no novelty to her, she devoted the week-end to a mother cat and four "little strangers."

Strangers, indeed they were. In fact, the first time the secretary caught sight of her new family they had moved in—all five—a bit unceremoniously and were curled up on the blanket belonging to the family dog. Oddly enough the dog, a toy schnauzer, didn't object and they are now one big happy family on the secretary's back porch.

This being the 20th century, the mother cat is a follower of the most modern methods: she feeds her new born babes on the dot, at regular intervals, and no amount of squealing between feedings does them a bit of good. And they are doing very well, thank you . . . the doctor's secretary reports.

No Disturbance.

From the sterner sex [signed Vic Ellis]: "Is it possible for a mere man to invade the White Collar Girl column and settle the 'Holiday Disturbance?' Your only error was in suggesting that there is but one set of answers to the problem. There are at least four arrangements of the nine digits in which the first three are one-third of the last three and the middle three the result of subtracting the first three

White Collar Citations.

Two girls in editorial positions on house publications — Marguerite Sammons of Chicago and Elizabeth Stroud of Wilmington, Delaware, have been honored by the United States treasury department. "For distinguished service rendered in behalf of the National Defense Savings program this citation is awarded" is the wording accompanied by the gold seal. The service which earned the recognition consisted of suggestions and releases, mimeographed and sent to some 3,500 industrial publications to aid in the sale of war bonds. The patriotic Miss Sammons [whose room number is 1776] is the only woman officer [she's vice president] of the National Council of Industrial Editors association . . . she's contributing some material to a college text book. . . . AND she's young and beautiful.

On the Memo Pad.

The readers who first became acquainted with Monica Ann—the army nurse — thru her devoted "Aunt Nellie's" tribute in this column may be interested to hear she is in India with native "Sabus" to wait upon her and the desert for a playground. . . . The most intriguing pile of rubber [for the salvage campaign] glimpsed in an outlying business district was topped by a rubber horse, such as children use on the beach, a resplendent creature, lending color and drama to the sacrificial heap. . . . The oldest woman working in Britain's war factories is 83 years old. She makes part of the landing gear of planes. . . . The two young men secretaries, graduates of the Jones Commercial High school, mentioned in this column because they were unemployed a week after graduation, now have jobs and are doing nicely.

Legion Auxiliary Will Give Party for Men in Service

A large party for men in the service will be given tomorrow night at the George L. Giles post of the American Legion clubhouse at 5745 South State street by the post's auxiliary. The national defense committee is in charge of arrangements, and women of neighboring clubs have been recruited to assist the hostesses. Mrs. Cora Cundy, 6232 Prairie avenue, is president of the auxiliary. The defense committee is headed by Mrs. Stella Buster.

Devise Tricks to Ease Over Child's Fears

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

At this point we are not, in our family, immersed in the care of very little boys and girls, but it is all quite fresh in my mind, so I realize that often mothers need help in detail about the small things that come up in the process of raising a family, molehills which can nevertheless swell to mountainous size in the day's routine. The inexperienced young mother, especially, often finds herself floored by things such as her little children making a fuss over shampoos, fearing a haircut at the barber's, or frequently balking or crying over the daily bath. She asks, "How can I manage?"

A few practical hints are more helpful in this sort of thing than generalization. Here, for instance, is a letter about bath time: "I thought perhaps my experience might be valuable enough to pass on. I have two children, one who is nearly 3, and another 8 months old. Neither of my children has ever been in a small baby's tub. From six weeks or two months they have been bathed in the large tub, and neither ever has shown any fear.

"They have both fallen down in water and gotten up by themselves. Of course, I'm right there, and if I saw they couldn't get up I would certainly help them. When they do fall, I don't shout or make a fuss. I wipe their faces and put dry cotton in their ears, and joke about the way they swim for such tiny gold fishes.

"I find even with the baby, altho he doesn't understand, he is calm and laughs, because children are governed by adults' thoughts. If mothers will be careful with soap around forehead and eyes when washing the hair, put dry cotton in the children's ears, and not pour water over them regardless of where it runs, they won't be half so terrified. And if, while you're washing, you do a little singing about the three little kittens, or their favorite animal or flower, they'll forget to cry in waiting to hear what comes next."

Here are surely practical points, especially the one about soap in the eyes. Even a face cloth that has had soap on it and has been rinsed can retain enough soapiness to sting the eyes, and soap in the baby's eyes during a bath is a great troublemaker. Even the purest castiles will sting, so it is best to wash and dry the eyes first and to use a fresh cloth for the purpose. During shampoos, ears and eyes must be watched.

Looking at Hollywood . . . . By Hedda Hopper

Hollywood, Cal., July 9.—President Roosevelt has given permission to Republic to use the radio transcription of his declaration of war against Japan for a sequence of "Flying Tigers," which will be the first picture to focus public attention on our Chinese allies. We can't show too soon nor too often our appreciation for those courageous people's conduct of a war against insuperable odds.

When Lester Cowan takes "The Commandos" company on location to Victoria, B. C., he'll pick up one of the cast, Robert Coote, from the RAF there. Coote, who left pictures two years ago to enlist, is taking advantage of a leave to get back into grease paint. Lillian Gish has arrived in town to confer with Lester, and he's also having sessions with that fine actress, Ruth Gordon. But Barbara Everest, English actress who came over for "Anne of England" with Flora Robson, will play the lead. Barbara tells me her ship was one of a convoy of 65, and the crossing took 23 days.

Miniature Talent Scout.

From a 12 year old boy in Pullman, Wash., comes a letter recommending a little girl next door: "She's six, is in the third grade, plays piano, does parts in school plays, learns a long piece just by reading it twice. Buys her own clothes, can read as good as a 10 year old, and can do anything from bathing a baby to slopping the hogs." Maybe Metro should have had a look at her before casting Margaret in "Journey for Margaret," 'cause when a friend of mine there looked over 500 possibilities, she said the mothers must all have been marked by Shirley Temple—every last one of them was gotten up like Shirley.

This and That.

I hear Norma Shearer's Monty Arrouge is in the service, being trained as a pilot. . . . Laird Cregar's reason why there aren't more legitimate theaters in Hollywood is: "When people are working on movies, they go to bed early. When they're not working, they relax so thoroly at each others' homes they don't move until 4 a. m.—and then creep home and collapse." . . . Virginia Gilmore rented a house in Balboa for a month, then got Lynn Bari's rôle in "That Other Woman," so she's now turned the house over to service men. . . . When Dennis Morgan lit a campfire on the desert wastes near Gallup, N. M., where they're making "The Desert Song," a man rode up, told him to put it out. Man was an Indian air raid warden,

Virginia Gilmore.

Retort Courteous.

Not long before the death of John Barrymore, he received a letter from the owner of a hotel near Uniontown, Pa. Seems they feature beds of great lovers, and he wrote: "Since we consider you one of the great, we've been wondering if you'd sell us your bed and at what price. Of course, we'd want a testimonial proving that it is actually your bed." John's reply was as follows: "I was charmed by your letter, and also about the idea of the testimonial which has exquisite possibilities. I am devastated to have to inform you that the bed is still in use—and will continue to be, I most sincerely trust—for some years to come. When I have no further use for it, I should be most happy to consider your offer, altho it is practically committed to the Smithsonian institution. I feel sure that a man of your astuteness, however, could achieve some blanket arrangement with them to transport the bed to your hostelry in whatever is your busy or mating season. After all, you must remember that the beds George Washington slept in are features in private homes and mountain caravansaries from the Potomac to the Orinoco. Again many thanks, my dear sir, for your stimulating offer."

Never Stops Pitching.

While Joe E. Brown was in the hospital here before starting "The Daring Young Man," he addressed the newspaper men's convention at Oakland, Cal, by long distance, told of the need of our men in Alaska for newspapers. The idea's caught on. Now 100 newspapers thruout the land are sending 50 copies each to the boys up there. So Joe's spending his spare time now rounding up musical instruments for them. . . . When Duke Ellington plays his concert at Carnegie hall, he'll use all his own music, which includes a new war song—"And That's the News from Here."

Land Sakes.

When Arthur Hornblow wanted Mary Martin for "Calgary Stampede," the studio said she wasn't the outdoor type. Now Arthur's moving to Metro, so Mary's being cast as an outdoor girl. Maybe it's because her closeups for "Ta-Ra-Ra-Ra-Ra Boom-De-Ay" in "Happy Go Lucky" were too hot for the censors.

Cubs Give Sally and Her Guests Thrill of Lives

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

The Chicago Cubs and the Boston Braves gave us a most exciting show, and battled for four extra innings before the Braves won. One hundred boys and girls saw this thriller and loved every single minute.

It was our first big party of the year, and certainly one of the most successful we've ever had, even tho our favorites weren't winners. Every one came on time, and even the weather man was good to us. The rain clouds gathered and threatened just before game time and several times during the exciting afternoon, but happily, the showers never came.

We had excellent seats, since the Cubs always see to it that we're in boxes just in back of third base, and every single boy and girl had an opportunity to watch many of their baseball heroes, including Jimmy Foxx, Stan Hack, Novikoff, and one of their old favorites, Lon Warneke.

During the exciting extra innings my guests yelled themselves hoarse, bounced up and down in their seats, tore programs in strips, and almost forgot to fill up on the refreshments provided for them.

When the game was finally over, 100 boys and girls agreed that never had there been such a thrilling ball game or such a swell party!

Gang Doctor Screen Drama Expertly Done

"UNDERCOVER DOCTOR."

Produced by Paramount.
Directed by Louis King.
Presented at the Studio theater.
Featuring J. Carroll Naish, Broderick Crawford, Janice Logan, Lloyd Nolan.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

They're devoting a lot of time on the Studio screen this week to renegades of the medical profession. . . . In "Wasted Lives" a doctor talks briefly and forcefully against abortion, producing facts and figures to illustrate his points. . . . Then, after an entertaining little mess of shorts—you'll love "County Fair" in which, unexpectedly, animals and fowl turn toward you with remarks pertinent and impertinent—comes "Undercover Doctor," a darned good feature picture made in 1939—and where has it been since then, I'd like to know?

It's good because it's so expertly acted and directed. . . . The subject matter is gangster stuff—and not new. However, because of skill in presentation, you wouldn't leave for the world before the picture has ended. . . . And that's something coming from me to you. I think.

The "undercover doctor" is a small town surgeon lured from respectability by the tremendous fee he receives one dark night from a public enemy for patching up said P. E.'s pal. . . . He had thought to report the matter to the police—and had thought again. . . . On second thought he decided he'd accept the offer to become the underworld's undercover stitcher upper. . . . And so—pretty soon there he is in the big city in a big suite of offices with a big practice, consisting mostly of idle ladies with naught to do but think about moods and medics. . . . Of course, in the end, the F. B. I. catches up with him.

Mr. Naish is the smoothest thing ever as Dr. Morgan. . . . Broderick Crawford—my practically favorite comedian, western preferred—scares you silly as P. E. No. 1. . . . Janice Logan, as the doctor's office nurse, is crisp and charming, and Lloyd Nolan plays a bright investigator brightly.

See you tomorrow.

There's Glamor in New Teatime Dresses of Satin

BY REA SEEGER.

Sleek black satin, the old smoothie, has come to town to charm the susceptible men in uniform as well as the ladies hungry for something femme fatale. New arrivals shine and glimmer like black quicksilver under the sun or beside flickering candles while dining out of doors of a hot summer night. They're the last gasp in form revealing swank, the last word in deft cutting and draping to dramatize the almost liquid slick material.

Brand new afternoon and teatime dresses, good for glamor atmosphere for a hasty dinner date, have everything . . . a telltale hint of what's to come for fall and winter as far as a frozen silhouette is concerned. They are shining examples of what designers have done despite all the complications and hazards of restricted supplies. Nothing ever equals the suave swank of these first summer satins. There is peg top fullness in the otherwise severely slim skirts, tricky shirrings and folds and pleats and even tucks likewise artfully managed in the bodice and then repeated in the very brief sleeves. With the daring low cut vee necklines, they are superspecial attractions after the casually cut gathered skirts and peasant style bodices of the summer fashions.

Top any of these satin dresses with a black cartwheel hat of sheer felt or satin or straw, pull on long wrinkled-at-the-wrist gloves, add footgear of dull black in summer suede, clutch a stunning large bag under your sun tanned elbow and you have the costume of the hour, provocative, alluring, new and exciting.

FASHIONS by ANGELA

Don't tell us. We know you have barely gotten your summer wardrobe into high gear. And now the first fall felts and velvet hats are making their appearance. It does seem a little inconsistent but it is the way of the fashion calendar . . . always months ahead of the weather man. However, it is fashionable and that's reason enough for most of us. So if you want to be the first with the latest you absolutely need a velvet hat.

The first harbinger of fall in the upper left corner is a mitey black velvet turban—a small triangular bit to fit the top of the head and a few clever twists of the velvet to make the front elevation. Little streamers ending in velvet feathers made to look like baby ostrich plumes dangle from this knot over the right eye.

In the center is a feminine version of the Turkish fez. It comes in black as well as a variety of colors. And in velvet or belting ribbon. The tassel is made of long loops of velvet or ribbon rope. There's a face veil, too. Under $3.

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1942: By Ely Culbertson.]

There are many different situations in which a trump lead is the best of all openings, but this does not apply against slam contracts. Only once in about 100 cases should a trump be opened against either a small or a grand slam. The reason for this, obviously, is that a trump lead almost invariably delivers "control" of the hand to the declarer, who certainly can be expected to win the first trick and thus get the jump on suit establishment or other types of play. The lead of a trump against a slam is particularly reprehensible when the leader holds one fairly sure trick and therefore needs to build only one other trick for defeat of the contract. Consider today's hand.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 spade	Pass	6 hearts	Pass
Pass	Pass

There was nothing particularly scientific about South's bidding, but no one can deny its effectiveness. From South's point of view, a small slam became an excellent investment the moment North opened with one spade and the only apparent risk of jumping to six hearts was that a grand slam might be missed.

West, a player who consistently looks for "safety" in all his bridge activities, went into a long huddle and then produced the one and only lead that could give South his contract! "Afraid" to lead away from the diamond queen or club jack and "afraid" to give up control of the spade suit, West made the unimaginative, wooden, and downright craven opening of a trump. Needless to say, that was enough to scuttle the defenders' ship. Declarer drew trumps and quickly set up dummy's spade suit for the one club discard needed.

The hand would have been defeated with any of three different leads! Obviously, if West chose a spade, he would lead the ace and on East's play of the ten spot a spade continuation and ruff would quickly follow. On a diamond opening, dummy's only entry would be removed before the spades could be established and West would only have to hold up the spade ace for two rounds. With a club opening the defenders would establish a club trick for themselves before declarer could knock out the spade ace.

Your Stars ★ Today ★

By WYNN

Friday, July 10.

Whatever is of emotional significance in our lives gets emphasis today. Take a long second look at the tendency to write or say something far reaching in its consequences. Know well what you are doing before you cast off into doing it.

Your Year Ahead.

Your year ahead looks promising for personal gain, happiness, if deserved, and if this is your birthday. Make hay. Push your interests in person: Feature yourself. From June watch inner emotions. Danger: Oct. 6-14; Feb. 7-20; June 13-20.

Tomorrow.

Desire vs. duty; you know which will take you furthest and safest.

Do you want an individual interpretation of your own personal date? Send 10c for 1942 horoscope to Wynn, Tribune astrologer, 286 Fifth avenue, New York, N. Y.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 9.—The White Sox broke into local baseball circles with an impressive bang this evening, possibly proving that the three day layoff during the All-Star festivities was a tonic. With Johnny Humphries conducting a classy performance from the mound, the Chicagoans did their hitting in bunches and thus fabricated a speedy 4 to 2 decision over the tail-end Senators in the opener of the eastern tour. It was only the Sox's sixth victory in 22 battles on the Atlantic front this season.

The Sox were so loaded with vigor that they put Humphries on easy street in the first inning, three runs skipping across the plate because of batting maneuvers by Myril Hoag, Taft Wright, and Luke Appling. It didn't take the Sox right hander long to let two-thirds of this fancy margin escape, but he settled down quickly and, as a reward, was given another extra run in the sixth. This also was a contribution from Hoag and Wright.

Spence Is Troublesome.

Humphries, while fashioning his fifth victory which brought him up to a fifty-fifty rating, had little trouble with anybody except Stan Spence. The Senators' best bat swinger fired a double in the first inning to aid in the promotion of a run. He got another in the third to account for the second Washington run.

After that second double, Humphries took charge in a big way. He was touched for a fluke single by Jake Early with two out in the fourth, a single by George Case in the fifth, also after two were out, and a single by Roberto Estalella in the sixth, again after two were gone.

Then John improved a bit more. Only nine men faced him in the last three innings, making a total of six in which only three Senators survived, none of them reaching second base.

Moses Fans, Then Comes Action.

Moses led off in the first inning with three strikes, but there was an immediate improvement. Hoag slashed a single thru short and Kuhel built a pass for himself by fouling off every good pitch. Wright slapped a single to left, Hoag scoring and Kuhel taking third. Kuhel counted and Wright sprinted down to second on Cullenbine's momentary fumble of the hit. Appling belted Wright home with his single which sailed over first base. Appling strolled down to second on the throw-in, but received no assistance from Kennedy or Kolloway.

All-Star Relief Fund Mounts to $77,800; Bears Give $600

The $100,000 drive for Army emergency relief thru the medium of the ninth annual All-Star football game is pushing steadily toward its goal. Contributions this morning total $77,800. Thirteen donors yesterday added $2,600 to the fund.

Peoria fans, who have supported the All-Star game robustly thru the years, are coming to the support of the special $100,000 campaign. There were four $100 donations in yesterday's mail.

The biggest check was $600 from the Chicago Bears. The General American Transportation company donated $500 and Robert J. Fox of the Peter Fox Brewing company sent $300. Albert Pick Jr. of the Pick Hotels corporation turned in $200, with the request that the two 50 yard line tickets which will be presented to him for his contribution be given to a sailor from Great Lakes and a soldier from Fort Sheridan who will be chosen by their commanding officers for outstanding records.

Donations to the army emergency relief drive are deductible in income tax computation. Checks should be made payable to Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., and directed to Arch Ward, sports editor of THE TRIBUNE. For each $100 contribution the donor will receive a 50 yard line ticket for the game between the College All-Stars and Chicago Bears at Soldiers' field the night of Aug. 28. The All-Stars will be picked by a coast to coast poll which will open in more than 200 cities Sunday. The complete list of contributors follows:

WARD, WEHRLE REACH 3D ROUND IN WESTERN GOLF

Spokane, Wash., July 9 (AP).—Corp. Marvin [Bud] Ward, bidding for his third successive Western Amateur Golf association title, won two matches today, but at times looked more like a week-end dubber than a champion.

The National as well as Western title holder put out Otto Rosand, Spokane, 7 and 6, in the first round and then had to struggle to beat Fritz Metzger of Tacoma, 3 and 2, in the second round.

Bud Is Four Over Par.

The army produced one entry who was really on the beam. Corp. Pat Abbott of Lowry field, Denver, played the Manitou layout four under par to defeat Phil Baird, Spokane, 3 and 2. In the first round Abbott swamped Bob Wiley, Puyallup, Wash., 7 and 6, and was square with par for the 12 holes. Abbott is a former national public links champion.

Present National Public Links Champion Bill Welch of Houston punched out a second round victory over Sergt. Ray Kimmel of Olympia, Wash., 3 and 2, after defeating Jack Walters, Tacoma, Wash., lefthander, 2 and 1, in the morning.

Former Western Champion Wilford Wehrle of Racine, Wis., got the scare of his life from A. B. [Buck] Bailey, assistant football coach at Washington State college, but won 1 up on the 19th. He eliminated Emmett Durgan of Spokane, 5 and 4, earlier.

Bailey Tests Wehrle.

Bailey, who had beaten Chick Evans Jr. of Chicago, 4 and 3, in the first round, squared his match with Wehrle on the 17th, halved the 18th and lost the extra hole by missing a 5 foot putt. Wehrle won it with a par 4.

Harry Givan of Seattle, ex-Walker cup player and first day leader in the qualifying with a 69, regained his form to overwhelm Lou Cook, Pullman, Wash., 7 and 5, in the second round. He won his morning round from Joe Hutton of Spokane, 4 and 3.

UPPER BRACKET.

Corp. Marvin Ward, U. S. army, beat Fritz Metzger, Tacoma, Wash., 3 and 2.
A. F. Appleton, Seattle, beat Dr. Melvin Asprey, Spokane, 1 up.
W. J. May, Spokane, beat Larry Huseby, Tacoma, 3 and 1.

R. B. Van Demark, Tacoma, beat Dave Dixon, Vancouver, B. C., 2 and 1.
Wilford Wehrle, Racine, Wis., beat A. B. Bailey, Pullman, Wash., 1 up, 19 holes.
Warren Priem, Seattle, beat Donald Taylor, Seattle, 1 up.
Kenneth Storey, Spokane, beat Palmer Smith, Seattle, 1 up, 21 holes.

HOW TO FIND THE HOME YOU WANT

Because results are better, advertisers place more real estate want advertising in the Tribune than in any other two Chicago newspapers combined. This makes the Tribune the best place to start your search for a home, because the more homes to select from, the better your chances of finding exactly the one you want. Read the real estate want ads in the Tribune.

Lon Comes Home to Wrigley Field

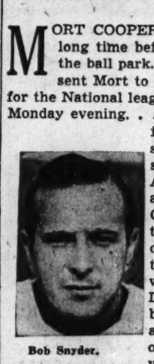
In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

MORT COOPER, the Cardinals' fine right hander, perhaps will go a long time before having two of three consecutive pitches hit out of the ball park. . . . A home run by Jim Foxx last Saturday in St. Louis sent Mort to the showers. . . . He pitched no more until he started for the National league All-Stars against the Americans in the Polo Grounds Monday evening. . . . Lou Boudreau hit his second offering into the left field upper deck. . . . Jackie Robinson, former U. C. L. A. half back, who scored a touchdown in the college All-Star football game last August, is at Fort Riley, Kas., and a buddy of Corp. Joe Louis in the mounted detachment. . . . Danny Fortmann, co-captain of the Chicago Bears, came to town the other day to talk terms with Owner-Coach George Halas. . . . Dan didn't sign, but you can bet he'll be in the world champions' lineup against the All-Americans the night of Aug. 28 in Soldiers' field. . . . Danny was the youngest player in National league history, only 19, when he made his debut in 1935. . . . Bob Snyder, the Bears' No. 2 quarter back and goal kicking specialist, will be a member of the Notre Dame coaching staff this fall. . . . The Braves, Reds, Giants, and Phils bar No. 13 on uniforms. . . . Claude Passeau of the Cubs seems to be doing all right with the jinx number on his back. . . . Two more members of the Tribune sports department, making four in all, have joined the nation's armed forces. . . . William Fay was inducted at Pittsburgh, Pa. . . . Joe Morang, who has been writing about service athletics, will be sworn in this morning as a gunnery sergeant in the marines and leaves tonight for Quantico, Va. . . . Joe was in the marines in China a few years ago. . . . They join Jimmy Segreti of Great Lakes and Lieut. Dick Ramey of the air corps. . . Good luck, fellows. . . . The Wake welcomes back Lon Warneke to the Cubs. . . . He never should have been sent away.



Bob Snyder.

Danny Fortmann.

In their first 75 American league games the White Sox hit just 13 home runs. . . . Last season, when the Sox also were noted as powder-puff hitters, they knocked 47 out of the park. . . . Quick, will some one furnish a new word to express such powerhouse futility. . . . The baseball broadcasters don't like it a bit when Jack Knott pitches for the Athletics and Bob Swift is catching. . . . They have to remember not to say: "Swift is catching and Knott pitching," which sounds pretty silly if you repeat it out loud. . . . Iowa will have some corn-fed lads on its football squad this fall: Jerry Kubal, 238 pounds, and Bruno Niedziela, 230, of Chicago; Roger Kane of Mundelein, 225, and Ralph Beardsley of Anamosa, Ia., 215. . . . The Yankees never have won a night game from the Athletics, which isn't as bad as it sounds. . . . The world champions play no night games at home. . . . The first six National league games for Army Emergency Relief and Navy Relief funds brought in $161,000. . . . A $75,000 gate is expected when the Dodgers play the Giants in the Polo Grounds.

I can face what comes to pass,
Cause I've been the practice victim
Of a ladies' First Aid class!

I've been squeezed and bandaged, too.
Fractures, shocks, and faints I've acted

I have hobbled home when finished
With new aches and pains which came
From those First Aid practice sessions—
Well, I've just myself to blame!

They have stopped my circulation,
And have bandaged up my face.
They have lifted me on stretchers;
Carried me at even pace.

I've been thru those First Aid lessons
[As my stiffened joints will show]
Come on war, I'll face your horrors.
I can take it! Boy! I know!

Let the Nazi bombs come falling;
Let Japan's small hornets pass;
I'll brave all—I've been the victim

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Cubs hit safely in all except the sixth and thirteenth innings at their Wrigley field homecoming yesterday, but their total of 13 safe smacks and a considerable amount of the never-say-die spirit left them on the short end of their opener with the Boston Braves. The affair was decided, 4 to 3, in favor of Casey Stengel's fellows when Buddy Gremp smashed a homer off Jake Mooty with one out in the 13th.

Gremp's shot was the second homer of the game for Boston. Chet Ross knocked one off Vern Olsen after Tommy Holmes had walked in the third inning. The two runs thus produced stood up for a 2 to 0 lead for Al Javery until the Cubs tied the count in the seventh with one earned and one unearned run.

The Braves went ahead when Ernie Lombardi scored after his third hit in the eighth, on a single by Max West. The Cubs got a runner to third in the eighth and in the ninth a single by Stan Hack, Phil Cavarretta's sacrifice and a single by Lou Novikoff again tied the score.

Ernie Is a Villain.

The Cubs almost won, but not quite and, curses on Lombardi's guardianship of the plate, in the 11th. With two down in the 11th Charley Gilbert, who had replaced Novikoff as a runner and in the field, walked. Jimmy Foxx, who previously had struck out twice and had halted rallies two other times by popping to the infield and grounding into a double play, lined a terrific liner against the wall in deep left center. Gilbert legged it for home, but was nipped by an eyelash at the plate, Holmes to Nanny Fernandez to Lombardi.

Hack, who scored two of the Chicago runs and drove in the other one, made four hits in his first five times at bat. He scarcely could be criticized for not being able to do some slugging when he came up in the 11th and 13th innings. Lenny Merullo hit safely his first three times at bat but couldn't help much in his last three. Conversely, Bill Nicholson hit safely his last three trips to the plate.

Vern Does Fairly Well.

Olsen, Chicago's starting pitcher, in quest of his sixth straight victory, went eight innings before he gave way to a pinch batter. He yielded three hits in the first six innings,

Lon Warneke's Return Brings Joy to Fans

Lon Warneke arrived at Wrigley field before noon yesterday and immediately formed a reception committee of one to greet the well wishers. Later on Lon went out to bat some fungoes but didn't get much chance, what with welcomers and photographers. Even Frankie Demaree of the Braves, one time Cub team mate of Warneke's, joined in the "welcome home" salutations.

To make Lon's homecoming a complete success he was assigned uniform No. 19, which he wore during his entire previous tenure with the north siders. Lou Novikoff, who had been wearing No. 19, obligingly switched to No. 14.

He Has Confidence.

"I'm glad to get an early turn," said Lon. "Pitchin'—that's what I hired out to do."

"I don't figure to fall below .500 or anywheres near it," Lon said to one who has followed his entire major league career with a measure of enthusiasm.

"I reckon 18 and 13 was the closest I ever come to bein' a .500 pitcher and I'm not fixin' to lose more than I win now."

Lon Still Isn't Convinced.

Lon was too busy with greetings to get around to any tales about recent hunting and fishing exploits, but says he's become partial to fishing over hunting.

He still argues that only a superhuman marksman can hit the middle

IT'S BEST SELLER AGAIN IN $3,000 SKOKIE HANDICAP

Equipoise Mile Winner Beats Copperman.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Best Seller, winner of the recent Equipoise mile, came right back to score again at the same distance in speedy company yesterday at Arlington Park. He beat six rivals in the $3,000 Skokie handicap, getting home three lengths ahead of Copperman. Sales Talk was third.

Best Seller, which has been performing brilliantly for his new stable, the Darby Dan farm of Columbus, O., was the favorite in the betting, returning $5.80, $3.20, and $2.80 for win, place, and show.

Sales Talk Takes a Hand.

The race resolved itself into a succession of duels. First Sweepida and Technician went out head and head to battle for the lead. They held command until they reached the far turn, where Sales Talk went up to join them. On the swing around the curve Best Seller moved up on the outside and for a few strides the four horses were neck and neck.

Then Best Seller and Sales Talk, running like a team, moved clear of the others, and that was the end for both Technician and Sweepida.

Head and head, Best Seller and Sales Talk battled thru the early stages of the stretch run. Then Best Seller, under Herb Litzenberger's good handling, drew away. Copperman, which had been following the two leaders, came up to take second place away from Sales Talk by the margin of three-quarters of a length.

Thumbs Up Triumphs.

Louis B. Mayer's Thumbs Up, a 3 year old son of Blenheim II., renewed his duel with Calumet farm's Wishbone in the Bubbling Over purse at seven furlongs. In a previous encounter during the present meeting Wishbone had won by three-quarters of a length at six furlongs. Yesterday the distance was stepped up to seven and Thumbs Up got a weight shift in his favor. But that wasn't all. He also got a clever ride by Ralph Neves and the net result was that he beat Wishbone by half a length. These two were eight lengths ahead of the third horse, Sis Baker.

The Calumet colt had been established as the 1 to 2 favorite, while the Mayer representative was held at 4 to 1. The winner paid off at $10, $2.80, and $2.80 across the board.

It's a Duel All the Way.

Both Neves and Wishbone's rider, Buddy Haas, watched each other closely thruout the race. They paid little attention to any one else. They let Sis Baker and Lum's Pride go out to set the pace. Wishbone was striding along in third place and Neves was holding Thumbs Up at his rival's right flank.

As they went into the far turn they began moving up simultaneously. They swept past the tiring Lum's Pride, caught Sis Baker at the head of the stretch, and then raced on side by side. At the eighth pole Thumbs Up began asserting his superiority. He forged ahead inch by inch until he had a lead of a half length as they went under the wire.

Occupation—by 6 Lengths.

Occupation, John Marsch's fast juvenile colt, dominated a six furlong allowance event. It was the first time this season that 2 year olds were asked to go three-quarters of a mile. With a new jockey, Les Balaski, and a new set of blinkers, Occupation went right out to take the lead on the break and he led all the way to win by six lengths. This was his third victory in five starts. He had run second to Littletown on both of the occasions when he was beaten.

Occupation was the favorite, returning $4.60, $3.60, and $2.80 across the board. A long shot, Alquest, slipped into second place to pay $30.80 and $8.40 for place and show. Corona was third.

Later in the afternoon Buildinger, a full brother of Occupation, won another race for the Marsch stable. Running at odds of nearly 6 to 1, he whipped seven rivals of the $4,000 claiming class. After following Equistar's pace he took the lead in midstretch and got home a length and a quarter ahead of After School. Equistar saved third money. Both Buildinger and Occupation are sons of Bull Dog and Miss Bunting.

GOLFERS HOLD SPECIAL DISTRICT TOURNEYS TODAY

The Chicago District Golf association and the Chicago Women's District Golf association today will hold special one day events that are expected to attract large fields. The women will gather at Bryn Mawr for the first of their one day tourneys, while the CDGA members will journey to Lake Geneva's Big Foot club for their second one day handicap event of the season.

Ohio State Gets Another Swim Star from Hawaii

Columbus, O., July 9 (AP).—Bill Smith, the 18 year old swimming star from Hawaii, arrived on the Ohio State campus today and announced he would enter the Buckeye school. Smith, son of a former Detroit Irish policeman and an Hawaiian mother, holds all the free style world records from 220 yards to the mile. The marks, set more than a year ago, recently were accepted by the A. A. U. Another Hawaiian star, Kiyoshi Nahama, will be eligible to compete for Ohio State in September.

Jimmy Evert, Smidl Reach Net Semi-Final

Jimmy Evert, Notre Dame freshman, and Bob Smidl of River Forest, a junior at William and Mary, entered the semi-finals of the men's singles in the North Shore tennis tournament at the Evanston Tennis club yesterday.

Evert advanced by virtue of a 6-3, 6-3 victory over Howe Atwater of New Trier High school while Smidl upset Olen Parks, captain of Notre Dame's undefeated tennis team last spring who was ranked fourth in the seedings. The scores were 6-4, 6-4. Atwater previously had upset Evert's brother, Jerry, Senn High star, 6-2, 7-5, in a junior boys' semi-final match.

Smidl vs. Greenberg.

Smidl will meet top seeded Seymour Greenberg of Northwestern university in the lower bracket semi-final match at 2 o'clock today while Evert is scheduled to play his semi-final match with Gardner Larned of Chicago tomorrow afternoon.

Atwater's victory in the junior boys' competition qualified him for a title match with Marvin Beskin of Chicago, who reached the finals when Alvin Bunis of Cincinnati defaulted.

Complete Girls' Bracket.

The final bracket in the junior girls' division was completed as Nancy Corbett of River Forest, Rollins college co-ed, defeated Vivian Greenberg of Chicago and Elaine Passow of Chicago Glencoe, 6-3, 6-0. Both boys' and girls' finals will be played this afternoon.

Activity in the women's division yesterday was limited to a pair of semi-final matches in the women's doubles. Catherine Wolf and Baba Lewis reached the finals by defeating Nancy Corbett and Elaine Passow, 6-1, 6-3. In the other match, Pauline Betz and Peggy Welsh defeated Jo and Margaret Otter, 6-1, 6-1. The finals will be played tomorrow.

SERVICE FUNDS WIN AS PIRATES CRUSH PHILS, 9-0

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 9 (AP).—Pittsburgh's Army-Navy game tonight was a success for every one except the Phils, who were beaten, 9 to 0, after the Pirates had broken up a hurling duel between Rube Melton and Rip Sewell with an eight run blast in the eighth inning.

The 29,480 western Pennsylvanians who jammed Forbes field for the event contributed $36,308.51 to the fund. Estimated receipts from concessions and other sources will raise the total to more than $45,000.

Elbie Fletcher tripled to start the Pirate eighth. Before the third batter had been disposed of, eight runs were in on seven hits, two errors, and two stolen bases, and Manager Hans Lobert had called Earl Naylor and Walter Beck to the mound.

A three hour show, featuring six bands, preceded the game. Score:

Midwest A. C. Girls Enter Swim Trials

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The Midwest Athletic club girls' swimming team is one of the first entries accepted for the 13th annual Chicagoland 100 yard free style swimming races. The names of ten girls, who will compete in four of the five age classes, have been submitted by Mary Jane Kent, of Wilmette, co-captain of the team.

Miss Kent will swim in Class D, for girls 17 and 18 years of age. She qualified for the championships last year but did not place in the finals in California park pool where the 1942 title races again will be held July 26. The other members of the Midwest team and their classifications are:

Class B, Ona Scott and Barbara Linden.

Class C, Judith Swerdlin.

Class E, Eloise Beatty, Florence Sheils, Cecilia Hammerstrum, Shirley Davis, Carolyn Odgen, and Dorothy Dodson.

Rusty Garst Is Back.

All of the Midwest girls will swim in the preliminary qualifying races in California park July 19. Trials will also be held that same afternoon in the Whealan pool, Devon and Milwaukee avenues. On Saturday, July 18, trials will be staged in the Cermak pool, 7600 Ogden avenue, Lyons, Ill., and in the Sherman park pool, 52d street and Racine avenue. Approximately 120 boys and girls will win gold qualifying medals in these four sectional meets and will then compete July 26 for the Chicagoland championships.

Fourteen boys competed in the finals of Class A last July. Garst won with the time of 1:13.2 for 100 yards. Jack Tully, Kenosha, Wis., won the Chicagoland silver medal and Roy Kelly of Beilfuss natatorium won the bronze medal in the championships.

All 14 boys received gold qualifying medals by winning their races in the trials that preceded the Chicagoland championship races.

Four days remain in which entries will be accepted for the races. All letters must be postmarked before midnight Monday.

Since the deadline for entering the races will be strictly enforced it is important that individual entries be submitted immediately. You may use the blank which is printed daily in these columns.

COMPLICATIONS PUT TRIS SPEAKER ON DANGER LIST

Cleveland, July 9 (AP).—Tris Speaker, baseball immortal who in 1920 piloted the Cleveland Indians to their only pennant, was placed on the danger list at Lakeside hospital late today after his physician said his condition had become worse. Earlier, the 54 year old outfield great had been reported on his way to recovery.

Southern All-Stars Win from Little Rock, 5 to 1

Little Rock, Ark., July 9 (AP).—The Southern association All-Stars defeated the first place Little Rock team tonight, 5 to 1, here. The All-Stars pounded Manager Willis Hudlin, Callahan, and Hawley for 13 base hits.

WAGNER, RED SOX BEAT NEWHOUSER AND TIGERS, 2-1

Detroit Gets Four Hits in 11 Innings, Boston Six.

Boston, Mass., July 9 (AP).—Manager Joe Cronin, pinch hitting with the bases full and one out in the 11th inning, hit a long fly that sent Pete Fox home with the run that gave his Boston Red Sox a 2 to 1 victory over the Detroit Tigers today as they opened a home stand against the western clubs.

The overtime game was a pitchers' duel between Charlie Wagner and Hal Newhouser. Wagner turned in a four hit game to gain his eighth victory of the season and the Detroit southpaw held the Red Sox to that many blows for 10 innings.

YANKS, 5; BROWNS, 2.

New York, July 9 (AP).—The New York Yankees, rested after an intermission for the All-Star games, turned loose some of their old time power today to whip the St. Louis Browns, 5 to 2, in their series opener as Hank Borowy registered his seventh pitching triumph against one defeat. Borowy, top ranking pitcher of the American league, held the Browns to six hits in seven and two-thirds innings but he had to turn the game over to Johnny Murphy when a blister developed on the middle finger of his right hand.

With King Peter of Jugo-Slavia among the spectators, the Yankees went to work on Eldon Auker early, scoring three runs in the fourth inning off the submarine ball pitcher who had beaten them twice before. It was the eighth defeat against 10 wins for Auker, who leads the league in pitching victories. Joe DiMaggio, Tommy Henrich, and Charley Keller led the nine hit Yankee attack.

ATHLETICS, 5; INDIANS, 2.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 9 (AP).—Buddy Blair led the Philadelphia Athletics to a 5 to 2 victory over the Cleveland Indians tonight by hitting a homer in the eighth off Relief Pitcher Joe Heving.

Blair had hit a triple earlier in the game. His homer which struck a flood light standard in right field, came with the bases empty. The Athletics turned in a 10 hit attack, including six for extra bases. Their former teammate, Chubby Dean, was on the mound against them until the eighth inning, when he withdrew for a runner. Boston Homer Defeats Cubs in 13th, 4 to 3 two harmless singles in the seventh, and the two safe ones which put the Braves ahead, 3 to 2, in the eighth. Mooty, tho he had a penchant for putting the first batsman on base, pitched nobly for four and a third innings before Gremp spoiled his show with that 13th inning homer. It was Gremp's third maximum wallop of the season. Ross' earlier one, by the way, was his fourth in '42.

Double Play Halts Cubs.

Lou Tost was the winning pitcher. He was the third employed by the Braves. The replacement of Javery in the ninth by John Sain seemed a bit hysterical, but things worked out all right. Hack had opened the ninth with a single, his fourth hit, and had moved up on Cavarretta's sacrifice. Javery then was supplanted by Sain. Novikoff knocked Sain's first pitch into center field and Hack got home with the tying run. Foxx then tapped into a double play and it was Sain's game to win or lose until Casey Stengel sent in Tost at the start of the 12th.

Nicholson opened against Tost with a single to center, but Lou Stringer whiffed and Merullo lined into a double play. Tost never had any trouble thereafter.

Lyons Faces Washington in Game Tonight

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 9.—Ted Lyons, who never has pitched a league night game, altho he has operated in them against the Cubs during a city series, will get his formal baptism in the second of the current set tomorrow evening. Ted asked that his customary Sunday assignment be moved up so that he could go to his Louisiana home where his mother is seriously ill. The Senators threaten to start Buck Newsom.

STOCKS ADVANCE AGAIN; EXPERTS WONDERING WHY

Observers were uncertain as to the cause, some suggesting that inflation provided the buying cue while others pointed out that stocks which did not stand to benefit from inflation were equally popular. The war news provided nothing much in the way of bullish stimulant. Public nibbling in the market was reported recently for the first time in many months.

Volume Best this Year.

The list got off to a somewhat hesitant start as assorted customers cashed profits, but the advance was soon resumed on active dealings. Trading slowed late in the session, altho transfers totaled 844,290 shares, largest since last Dec. 31. They compared with 576,860 yesterday and recent totals of 200,000 to 300,000.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up .4 of a point at 37.7 against yesterday's upturn of .8. At today's mark the composite was 5.3 points above the year's low and only 1.5 under the 1942 peak. The market was the broadest in quite a while, 801 individual issues being traded. Of these 572 were up and 85 down.

Santa Fe went into new high ground since 1938 with a net gain of ¾. New highs for 1942 were posted for General Motors, Chrysler, Goodyear, United States Rubber, J. I. Case, and United States Gypsum.

CHICAGO VOLUME UP.

Chicago Stock exchange prices ran up briskly yesterday as trading volume rose to 29,000 shares from 17,000 Wednesday. Of 107 issues traded, 78 advanced, 8 declined, and 21 closed unchanged.

The volume leader was Chicago corporation with 3,650 shares and closing 1-16 higher at 1. Aviation corporation, General Motors, Commonwealth Edison, Santa Fe, Armour of Illinois, Borg-Warner, and United States Steel showed gains ranging from ⅛ to 1 point.

DAY by DAY on the FARM by BOB BECKER

Geese Raid Corn Field.

July 9, 1942.

THE Canada geese which live on the farm apparently have learned all the tricks of raiding the field crops and living off the country, judging by what they have done to one field of growing corn. They are not overlooking any bets when it comes to taking what they want from a field without asking anybody's permission. These alert birds found the sprouting corn extremely tasty so they went into action. This week we could see how they had reached up to the green succulent leaves and pulled them off or shredded them. Four rows of plants in one field of corn have disappeared. Altho the damage to one field of corn is not tremendous, what has been done illustrates how these big honkers can mow down the green stuff when they find it handy.

Stalks of corn (left) damaged by Canada geese which leave the farm ponds to feed in the fields each morning and evening. Right: Corn not damaged by the geese now is more than two feet tall in fields adjoining the farm ponds. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

They Also Like Wheat.

That the geese have gone after the young corn is not surprising to us because we have seen their appetites for winter wheat, and in Louisiana we have watched flocks of 5,000 to 10,000 honkers drop down on what was supposed to be a newly sprouted pasture for cattle and simply eat up the tender green shoots of grass before the cows could enjoy the field.

The geese on the farm maintain a schedule that is about ideal for either bird or mammal. You may see them in the corn field early in the morning when it's cool and pleasant. After they have had a good meal of green stuff and as soon as the sun begins to get warm, they head back to their favorite loafing spot in the shade of some willows near the pond. Here they loaf and doze thru the heat of the day with time out occasionally for a cruise on the water. Along toward evening when it again is pleasant to be in the fields the geese listen for the "fall in" order from the boss and then they leisurely amble to the corn field for another attack on the corn plants.

Goslings Join Flock.

The two little goslings which were hatched out on the pond this spring now are with the main flock of geese. They were seen this week.

It's mosquito time in the woods. We haven't made any scientific count of these insects and they may be just as numerous in the woods as ever, but this week [after walking thru the woods near the big pond] we had the impression that the insects weren't as bad there as they were last summer. If our observation is correct the Gambusia top minnows which feed on mosquito larvae get the credit. They continue to wage a daily war against the larvae.

This week we noticed that the minnows were very much on the job in the big pond. They're breaking water everywhere as they gobble up the minute larvae which, if not consumed by the little fish, would develop into mosquitoes.

BIG MAN POWER SHORTAGE NEAR, GENERAL WARNS

Chicagoans Urged to Tap New Sources.

Chicago will have a worker shortage of at least 100,000 persons when war production reaches its peak, Brig Gen. Frank J. McSherry, director of operations for the War Man Power commission, said yesterday in an address in the Palmer House. He spoke at the opening meeting of a two day man power conference and job clinic, the first gathering of its kind.

Brig. Gen. McSherry.

Representatives of several government agencies attended the meeting, and, in a panel discussion that followed Gen. McSherry's speech, explained government employment methods and answered questions to show workers and professional persons the best procedures for getting government jobs.

Seek to Aid Displaced Labor.

The clinic was arranged by the Chicago Association of Commerce and government officials to help solve the problems of workers and executives who have lost or will lose their jobs as civilian businesses close because of war conditions. About 800 men and women attended the first day's sessions.

Gen. McSherry said 19,900,000 persons must be added to war industry and military personnel between now and the end of 1943. To meet this requirement the nation will have to draw on an untapped potential labor supply—its 29 million housewives, he said.

Speaking of this city, Gen. McSherry said: "Chicago has a great deal of unemployment now. But you will need 200,000 additional workers when war production hits a peak. That is 100,000 more than you have available."

Must Hire Older Men.

The time has come, he said, when industry must hire older semi-skilled and unskilled workers. Older skilled labor already is being put to work, he added.

Many women will have to be hired to fill factory jobs heretofore held by men, he said, adding:

"Women can do anything a man can do, within the limits of their strength. They are doing it in England, Germany, and Russia. In many cases they are doing a better job than the men. For one thing they have more patience."

Between now and the end of 1943, Gen. McSherry said, 8,600,000 persons engaged in nonessential production and civilian service industries will give up the jobs they have now and will take new ones. Many of these, he said, will need training.

Training on Job Is Urged.

The only way the demand for skilled labor in war production can be met, he said, is by training on the job. He told how many aircraft and other plants had made instructors out of their toolmakers and other highly skilled workers, training less skilled employés for the kind of work formerly done by the men who became instructors.

Gen. McSherry urged an easing of restrictions on the hiring of aliens and foreign born citizens. Discrimination against Negroes, which he attributed partly to unions, also needs to be remedied, he said.

The military services have discovered that "pirating" of labor reduces the total output, Gen. McSherry said. Steps are being taken to prevent such practices, he said.

He also warned that America must not compromise with the axis powers, but must "sign the peace in Tokio and Berlin." If a compromise were made, Germany and Japan would bide their time until they could throw two-thirds of the resources of the world against America and "make slaves of our children," he declared.

Explains Civil Service Policy.

Dr. Emery E. Olson, chairman of the United States Civil Service commission, explained the commission's hiring policies. He urged administrative, scientific, and professional persons to submit their records immediately to the Civil Service commission so that the nation can call upon them when they are needed. He said filing of such records is a "patriotic duty."

J. R. Hawkinson, of the commission's Chicago office, said the government's demand for workers changes as to types. Inspectors, typists, stenographers, expediters, and individuals "with soothing personalities" are currently in demand. He said the latter were needed to handle ticklish situations in connection with control programs that ruffle business men.

Doomed Firms Plan Conversion.

Paul A. Mertz, district representative in the training-within-industry program of the man power commission, said many business executives who know their companies will have to go out of business are inquiring about ways to fit themselves into the war program.

Regional supervisors of the apprentice training service of the Federal Security agency opened a two day national conference in the Morrison hotel yesterday. William F. Patterson of Washington, D. C., chief of the apprentice service, is in charge of the meeting.

Gen. McSherry, in addressing the supervisors, told them that the progress of the apprentice training program, under which youths from 16 to 23 learn skilled trades "on the job" not only must be maintained but must be expanded because of the need for war production leaders.

Chicago Mart Acts to Admit Corporations

The board of governors of the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday approved and submitted to members an amendment to the exchange's rules that will permit corporations dealing in securities and their officers to buy membership on the exchange. It will become effective if not vetoed by one-third of the members within a week.

Heretofore membership on the exchange has been restricted to individuals dealing in securities, or partnerships. Announcing approval of the change by the governors, Arthur M. Betts, chairman, said the board recognized that the corporate form of organization under present methods of stock exchange as well as state and federal regulation can be just as satisfactory from the public point of view as the traditional partnership form of stock exchange membership. He said such a broadening of the membership would increase the exchange's diversity and flexibility.

Investment Firms Hail Move.

Officials of several Chicago investment firms commended the move. They heralded it as one of the most progressive actions taken by an organized market in recent years.

Betts said that he had been informed by Harold L. Stuart, president of Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., that it is the intention of his firm to apply for membership as soon as the new amendment becomes effective.

"I have held an individual membership in the Chicago Stock exchange continuously since 1905," Stuart said in a statement to Betts. "I think this is a progressive step on the part of the exchange and in the course of time, believe it will develop a substantial contribution to the activity, volume, and importance of Chicago as a central market place for securities."

Hopes New York Will Follow.

Newton P. Frye, president of the Central Republic Company, Inc., declared the change a constructive one and said he hoped the New York Stock exchange would do the same.

Saying that it is the intention of the Illinois Company of Chicago to join the exchange, John S. Loomis, president, said admission of corporations to membership shows vision on the part of the exchange governors. He predicted that it will make the exchange a bigger and better market place for securities.

POTATO FUTURES RISE ON FEDERAL DRYING PROGRAM

Discovery that the recent lend-lease order for 1,600,000 pounds of dehydrated potatoes will be filled from crops to be harvested in the late fall sent potato futures prices climbing yesterday on the Chicago Mercantile exchange. The November Idaho contracts advanced 9 cents a hundred pounds to close at $2.74. Transfers involved 1,800,000 pounds.

The department of agriculture estimates that 7 pounds of raw potatoes can be reduced thru dehydration to a single pound. Trade sources have placed needs for the initial order as high as 14 million pounds. The six dehydrating plants under construction are located in areas producing their main potato crop in the fall.

STAPLES PRICE INDEX UP 0.1 POINT IN WEEK TO 98.5% OF 1926 BASE

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP).—The labor department reported today its commodity price index rose 0.1 point in the week ended July 4 to a level of 98.5 per cent of the 1926 average.

This was 12.3 per cent above a year ago. Compared with a month ago the general price level was 0.2 point lower.

Hike Standard Brands' Ads, Adams Urges

James S. Adams, new president of Standard Brands, Inc., urged yesterday that the big food enterprise expand its advertising to increase business volume. Addressing 300 persons in the Sherman hotel at the second of a series of regional stockholders' meetings, he said the company was capable of handling twice its 1941 business.

Explaining that some stockholders had written him demanding further reductions in advertising expenditures, Adams said: "This company has cut advertising expenditures steadily over a number of years, and that's one of the things that is the matter with it. The companies cited as successful by the stockholders who want us to cut advertising do just the opposite. I don't know where you think these companies get their business."

Pledges Continual Advertising.

Adams said that as long as he heads the company it will strive to build a better product, get it to the customer as cheaply as possible, and then continually advertise to get the business.

The executive spoke bluntly to stockholders who demand that salaries of top executives be kept below $25,000 a year. He said executives' pay must be considered in the light of what management produces for the stockholder. To obtain the best men Standard Brands must offer the best profit incentive, he added.

Favors Incentive Plan.

Adams said that when the proper time comes he will recommend adoption of an incentive plan under which executives will receive moderate salaries plus a share in profits after the company has met business requirements and paid "just dividends" to stockholders.

The company's dividend payments, amounting to 40 cents in 1941, were suspended this year, he explained, to preserve the cash position which was declining.

He said the management probably won't consider a common stock dividend until near the end of the year.

Halsted Street State Bank Will Pay 5% on Deposits

Repayment of $42,472, equal to 5 per cent of claims, to the 6,000 depositors of Halsted Street State bank, Chicago, was authorized yesterday by the state auditor.

Retailers Call on Henderson to Simplify Orders of OPA

The price control program will collapse if the Office of Price Administration continues to issue its regulations in a form that is as complicated as the recent interpretation of the rules on men's and boys' clothing, the Illinois Federation of Retail Associations asserted yesterday.

J. T. Meek.

In a letter to Leon Henderson, price administrator, J. T. Meek, federation secretary, assailed the clothing regulation as a "conglomeration of language decipherable only by lawyers and accountants, and by its length adding to the danger of an eventual breakdown of the much needed stopgap against inflation."

Breakdown Predicted.

"The maximum price control order will break down under its own ponderous weight if future interpretations are similiarly complex," Meek said.

"Merchants are not lawyers, and the regulations should be put into words that can be understood by the retailers who must try to live under them."

There is danger, Meek added, that complicated regulations will make it impossible for merchants to abide by the rules.

Part of Meek's letter to Henderson follows:

"Two weeks ago we forwarded to you a copy of a letter to Illinois congressmen urging them to support you in your efforts to administer the general maximum price order, and suggesting that they might better direct their energies to freezing wages and raw commodity prices than to spend their time in criticizing the price order and developing subsidies at the expense of the American taxpayer.

Need Lawyers to Interpret It.

"But we wish to criticize regulation 177 on men's and boys' clothing and previous interpretative orders. Regulation 177 may be a masterpiece of constructive draftsmanship, but to the merchants of this country it is nothing more or less than a complete crossword puzzle without answers.

"Taking the equivalent of a full page in a daily newspaper and occupying six pages in the Federal Register—the regulation cannot be commended for its brevity."

6 Month Meat Output Biggest in U. S. History

Farmers and the meat packing industry cooperated in the first half of 1942 in making available to the United States and its allies the largest supply of meat ever produced, the department of agriculture revealed yesterday. More cattle, hogs, sheep, and lambs were run thru the packing plants than ever before.

Reporting on the slaughter of meat animals in packing plants having federal inspection, the department gave the following information about meat output in June and the first six months of this year:

BEEF—The meat packing industry raised the output of beef in June more than any other class of meat. Production went up 20 per cent from last year. A total of 1,039,128 head was slaughtered, a new record, compared with 867,141 head a year earlier. Six months slaughter was 5,757,751 head against 4,941,911.

Pork Exceeded Only in 1933.

PORK—June pork production was exceeded only in 1933, just prior to the little pig massacre, and was up substantially from 1941. For the six months, it was the fourth largest in history. June slaughter aggregated 4,553,937 head against 3,336,052 in the corresponding month last year. The total for the half year was 26,927,086 head compared with 23,312,972.

SHEEP AND LAMB—The June slaughter has been exceeded but the half year output is the largest on record. A total of 1,481,443 head passed thru the packing plants last month compared with 1,378,099 head a year earlier. For the six months the new record is 9,212,529 head, against an output of 8,789,755 head a year ago.

The department reported the packers used 475,099 calves in June compared with 439,832 a year earlier.

HOG PRICES RALLY

A slight letup in selling of hogs by farmers checked a two day break in the market at the stockyards yesterday. Prices recovered 10 to 15 cents of the recent losses, with some kinds selling 20 cents above Wednesday's lows.

Both the top and average prices rose 10 cents to $14.85 and $14.30 a hundred pounds, respectively. Top grades were within 15 cents of the 22 year July peak established at the start of the week. Competition for the smaller supply was brisk.

FIX LAST YEAR'S PRICE AS TOP ON WOMEN'S FURS

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP).—The OPA fixed prices of women's fur garments today at the highest levels prevailing during the 1941 selling season, pointing out that, because of the seasonal quality of such goods, the trade had difficulty in using March, 1942, ceilings.

It announced also that ceiling prices for frozen fruits and vegetables of the 1942 crop and for jams, jellies, and preserves made from the new fruit would be raised shortly. It said the ceiling on peanuts and peanut butter may be discarded entirely in September.

LIFE INSURANCE INTEREST YIELD SETS NEW LOW

The net rate of interest earned by the nation's life insurance companies on their invested policy holder funds in 1941 was 3.41 per cent, the lowest in the history of the industry, the Institute of Life Insurance reported yesterday. The rates were 3.61 per cent in 1940 and 3.70 per cent in 1939.

"The rate of return that life insurance companies are able to earn on investments is one of the most important factors in the cost of life insurance," the institute said. "The 1941 earnings were approximately one-third of a billion dollars less than would have been the case had the rate enjoyed in 1917 still prevailed. It is the decline in interest rates that has made necessary the dividend reductions and rate increases during recent years."

C. & E. I. Reports Smaller Net Income than Year Ago

The Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad reported yesterday that its May net income was $174,688, compared with $180,420 in May last year. Five months' net income was $645,931, against $684,942 in the like 1941 period.

ACT TO CURTAIL DUPLICATION OF RAIL, BUS LINES

Rate Body Studying War Traffic Needs.

Springfield, Ill., July 9 [Special].—The Illinois Commerce commission today tackled the problem of doing away with nonessential and duplicating transportation services in Illinois at the behest of Joseph B. Eastman, national director of defense transportation.

More than a score of representatives of railroad lines doing business in Illinois met this morning with a committee from the commission and outlined approximately 70 runs which they said could be eliminated without seriously inconveniencing the public, because of highway transportation between the affected points.

Bus Hearing Recessed.

This afternoon bus operators met for the same purpose, but recessed until July 23 because of confusion in regard to the nature of the meeting. The bus men discussed informally some moves that have been made to combine schedules, but did not enter into a discussion of how their service could be operated in a way not to duplicate rail service.

Most of the railroad runs proposed for abandonment have shown losses in recent years or have been up before the commission previously for abandonment for some other reason. In about 50 per cent of the instances, the cases are already docketed with the commission.

Railroad representatives estimated that the suspensions suggested would result in transferring 21 locomotives, 11 motor trains, and 62 pieces of passenger equipment to other uses.

Vital to Troop Movements.

Representatives of southern railroads in particular insisted that Eastman's move was a vital necessity if troop transportation to and from southern camps is to be kept on schedule. Other lines set forth as their reason for releasing the equipment from local runs the need for additional motive power for government freight and express.

Bus men were loud in their complaints against wildcat bus operators in war plant areas and demanded that the commission take immediate action to stop such activities, which they contend are carried on at the expense of certified carriers.

William J. Walsh, supervisor of the motor vehicle section of the commission, told the operators that his group plans immediate action, not only as protection for the certified bus lines, but also as a means of cutting down on the use of rubber.

Warned to Coöperate.

Maurice Lennon, attorney for the Illinois Greyhound system, told bus operators to coöperate in every respect with the Illinois Commerce commission lest the power of that commission be transferred to a Washington agency.

"This commission is better fitted and has a more intimate knowledge of our problems than any man in Washington who might attempt to direct us by remote control," Lennon said.

The bus operators had little to offer in the way of suggestions to avoid duplication of service, with the exception of a few cases where plans are being made for bus lines on identical highways to stagger and combine schedules.

Lines to Be Abandoned.

To release the approximately 100 pieces of railroad equipment for other uses, the rail representatives suggested abandonment of the following schedules, most of them round trip:

Alton railroad, trips 11 and 12, Chicago to St. Louis and St. Louis to Springfield; Wabash railroad, Decatur to Hannibal run; B. & O., Flora to Shawneetown and Flora to Beardstown; Alton, Bloomington to Roodhouse; Illinois Terminal company, Decatur to Danville [six trains] and Decatur to Mackinaw junction [six trains]; Big Four, Mount Carmel to Cairo; L. & N., St. Louis to Evansville, Ind. [four trains]; C. & N. W., Geneva to Clinton, Ia., and Crystal Lake to Wisconsin points; M. & I., Salem to Kellogg; C. & E. I., one train between Chicago and St. Louis and one between Chicago and Evansville; I. C., Effingham to Indianapolis; Burlington, seven local runs in northern and western Illinois; Southern railway, St. Louis to Louisville, Ky.; Nickel Plate, Peoria to Frankfort, Ind.

Chinese Currency Board Values U. S. Dollar Higher

CHUNKING, July 9 (AP).—The Chinese currency stabilization board today announced a decision to change the official exchange rate to 5 1/16 American cents to the Chinese dollar, effective immediately. The change means roughly 19¾ Chinese dollars for one American dollar, or 104 Chinese cents more than the old rate.

Railroads Move Nearly Million of U. S. Armed Forces a Month

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

The railroads in the first five months of this year carried approximately 4½ million soldiers and sailors—more than were moved during the first 13 months of American participation in the first World war, Ralph E. Clark, Washington, an official of the Association of American Railroads, said yesterday. He spoke before the summer meeting of the Midwest Shippers' Advisory board in the Palmer House.

Ralph E. Clark.

This huge number of soldiers and sailors was moved in solid trains, special cars, and in small groups. Altho involving a large amount of detail, all these men were moved with only slight interference with normal train operation.

Bigger Job Lies Ahead.

Clark said that the job of moving armed forces will grow progressively as the army approaches its objective of about 4½ million men in arms by the end of the year. It is estimated that each man will be moved by railroad from five to seven times from the time he goes into service until he leaves our shores for foreign duty.

"Passenger traffic is running far above any comparable period since the advent of the private automobile transformed the riding habits of the American public," Clark said. "Much of this private automobile travel has now returned to the rails, but the amazing increase for the first four months of this year of 88 per cent over 1939 and 44 per cent over last year in revenue passenger miles is largely the result of the greatest volume of military traffic ever carried by the railroads."

The freight departments of the railroads are also establishing new records, Clark continued. Measured in ton miles [a ton mile is the movement of 1 ton of freight one mile] the performance in the first five months of 1942 has never been exceeded in any five months on record.

Ton Mile Gain 40 Per Cent.

Clark said that this remarkable achievement is the more astonishing because carloadings figures—which hitherto have been rated as the most accurate measure of railroad traffic—have shown declines in recent weeks from last year. Altho the ton mile figures for the first five months of this year showed a 40 per cent gain over the like 1941 period, carloadings showed a gain of only 8 per cent for the period.

The railroads' freight hauling record is attributed to the heavier loading of cars, longer average distance freight is carried, faster train operation, and more speed in loading and unloading cars.

A. H. Schweitert, head of the traffic department of the Chicago Association of Commerce, said that heavier loading has made it possible to reduce the number of cars in less than carlot service.

Tax on Freight Flayed by Paul and Henderson

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP).—Price Administrator Leon Henderson and a treasury tax adviser joined today in opposing a 5 per cent tax on freight and express charges on the theory that it might disrupt the entire price control machinery.

Henderson wrote a letter to Chairman Robert L. Doughton [D., N. C.] of the house ways and means committee saying that the levy, proposed as part of the new tax bill, would be "most undesirable" at this time.

Paul Opposes Measure.

Randolph Paul, tax adviser to Secretary Morgenthau, also submitted a memorandum to the committee outlining objections to the proposed tax.

He said it would create "a great deal of confusion in industry and trade and increase the problems of the Office of Price administration, and would discriminate between businesses which hired carriers and those which used their own transportation system."

Unless the tax were limited to common carriers it would be difficult to administer, he said, because of the large number of small motor carriers.

Henderson Tells Views.

Henderson told the committee:

"Under the President's anti-inflation program this office is bending every effort to maintain the general price ceiling, particularly at the retail level, where it directly affects the cost of living. This problem is being dealt with under very great difficulties at best. The proposed tax would seriously increase these difficulties."

In cases where the tax could not be passed on to the consumer the levy would add to costs and, Henderson said, "the inescapable result would be to squeeze civilian firms just that much more and to raise the issue of relief from the price ceiling."

ICKES HITS COAL USERS' FAILURE TO STOCK EARLY

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP).—Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior, federal petroleum coördinator, and solid fuels coördinator, said today there was a growing possibility of a coal shortage next winter, unless the public changes what he described as its attitude of indifference to government appeals for summer purchase and storage of fuel.

New "danger spots" have developed, he said, in the midwest and in the Pacific northwest. New England previously had been described as a fuel emergency area.

"We have less than 60 days left in which sufficient transportation and mine production will be available for stock piling of coal," Ickes told reporters. "We expect conditions to grow tighter in September."

WLB TO CONVENE WARD-CIO LABOR HEARING MONDAY

Hearing in a dispute between Montgomery Ward & Co. and employés belonging to the CIO United Mail Order, Warehouse, and Retail Employés union, will begin Monday in the Edgewater Beach hotel before a panel of the War Labor board, it was announced yesterday by Attorney Francis Heisler, counsel for the union, who said he has been notified by letter from Washington.

The dispute, according to Heisler, involves charges that the company did not keep faith in bargaining with the union over a contract and wages. The company claims is has not recognized the union as bargaining agent. The War Labor board unanimously voted to take charge of the case despite the company's stand that the board had no jurisdiction inasmuch as the company has no war contracts.

The board took the stand that it has jurisdiction in any labor controversy in wartime which might bring on a strike affecting a large number of employés and the public.

CELOTEX PROFITS SHOW DECLINE IN SIX MONTHS

Net earnings of the Celotex corporation of Chicago, manufacturer of structural insulating materials, declined in the six months ended April 30 to $518,012, equal to 69 cents per share, from $761,235, or $1.07 per share, a year ago.

Earnings before provision for income and excess profits taxes were $1,430,359, compared with $1,210,753 for the corresponding 6 month period a year ago.

United Air Handles More Traffic Despite Plane Loss

United Air Lines planes flew 7 per cent more revenue passenger miles in the first half of this year than in the corresponding period in 1941, Harold Crary, vice president in charge of traffic, announced yesterday. Crary said the company was able to increase the number of seats per plane and thus carry more passengers even tho a substantial number of its planes were turned over to the army.

ILLINOIS FINDS SUBSTITUTES IN RUBBER CRISIS

Chemists Put State Crops to New Use.

Promising rubber substitutes are being made from Illinois farm products at the department of agriculture's research laboratory at Peoria, some having even reached the pilot plant stage, department spokesmen disclosed yesterday.

"Altho the efforts of chemists to meet the rubber shortage center mainly on producing a synthetic product from such large scale raw materials as grain and petroleum, the department of agriculture is working on so-called rubber substitutes and rubber extenders," the department reported.

Wide Use for Substitutes.

"Substitutes would be useful for many products that do not have such huge and exacting requirements as tire manufacturing. Extenders could be mixed with natural rubber to reduce the amount of the scarce material.

"Chemists working with such farm products as soy bean oil and corn oil have produced materials that look, smell, and feel much like natural rubber. Some of these products stretch 200 per cent or more, return to their original forms and have tensile strengths of approximately 500 pounds per square inch."

Chemists and engineers say the general run of rubber has a 600 per cent stretch and a tensile strength of 3,000 pounds or more. But, they add, a substitute that is only fractionally as strong or as elastic as natural rubber is entitled to be called promising for some purposes.

Purpose Determines Value.

The importance of the rubber substitutes and extenders found at the Peoria laboratory depends on their intended use, the chemists said. Some must be resistant to abrasion, cracking, oxidation, heat, and the effects of light and chemicals.

The department said most of the work so far has been only on a laboratory scale but some of the products are being tested in the pilot plant. If they prove satisfactory, the next step will be commercial production.

WOOD FOR HOME GADGETS PROVES POPULAR AT MART

Many items of wood and other substitute materials, where metals formerly were used, are introduced for the first time at Chicago's home furnishings markets and are meeting an enthusiastic reception among retailers, officials of the Merchandise Mart said yesterday.

Included are wooden vegetable containers, garbage cans, cabinet units to contain such commodities as sugar and flour, and rural and city mail boxes.

Alfred Auerbach, of the OPA's consumer durable goods section, told manufacturers exhibiting at the American Furniture Mart that a ruling on price ceilings for items being exhibited the first time probably will be issued next week.

The National Retail Furniture association announced election of Leo J. Heer, Chicago, to replace William J. Cheyney as vice president in charge of the association's Washington office. Heer is executive editor of the National Furniture Review.

WPB EXECUTIVE ASKS U.S. AID TO LITTLE PLANTS

Would Spend 200 Million a Year to Save Them.

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP).—A War Production board executive outlined to the house small business committee today a proposal for government subsidies to an estimated 24,000 small industrial enterprises threatened with being "forced to shut down before Oct. 1."

Philip D. Reed, chief of the WPB industries branch and chairman of the board of the General Electric company, declared it was necessary to preserve small business to prevent "a tremendous and imponderable change" in the postwar structure.

Emphasizing that he spoke as a private citizen, Reed told the committee there were approximately 24,000 concerns unable to fit into the war picture or to obtain material for civilian production. He added that his figure did not include thousands of retail and wholesale enterprises for which he suggested no relief.

Calls for New Agency.

Reed suggested the creation of a government agency authorized to defray during the enforced shutdown, the minimum fixed charges and maintenance costs of plants closed down, and to make loans to plants unable to operate at a profitable level.

He said this program could be handled thru the War Production board if necessary, and would cost an estimated annual $200,000,000, a figure based on the theory that fixed charges of the 24,000 concerns would be 5 per cent of their total previous business of $4,000,000,000 annually.

"It would involve only a realistic preservation of a national asset, physical, economic and spiritual, which we will sorely need in the years of readjustment ahead," Reed said.

Sees Towns Threatened.

Reed said the "future of thousands of small communities" was dependent on private plants. Those aided should be only those that can demonstrate a desire and fitness to be kept alive, he asserted.

He said his suggestions were made to stimulate consideration of this subject and "not as a complete and definite program."

"I do not know and would find it difficult to estimate what percentage of these 24,000 industrial concerns have sufficient financial resources to weather a prolonged period of idleness," Reed declared. "I do believe that liquidation or bankruptcy would be the rule rather than the exception before the war is ended."

BANK CLEARINGS CUT BY HOLIDAY, BUT EXCEED 1941

New York, July 9 (AP).—Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., reported today bank clearings declined last week because of the July 4 holiday, but were 16.9 per cent above a year ago.

The mercantile agency's survey of 23 large cities showed a total of $6,407,401,000, or 11.8 per cent less than for the preceding five day period, a drop about half as great as occurred in the corresponding week of 1941.

New York's clearings for the week were $3,545,109,000, a rise of 14.5 per cent over 1941. Chicago's total at $372,900,000 was up 15.2 per cent from a year ago.

CEMENT MAKER.

Alpha Portland Cement has been recommended to me as an investment in stock selling below its asset value. I would like a report on the company, including the equity per share of its capital stock, its price range between 1937 and 1941 and dividend record for the same period. Thanks.—J. F. B.

Answer: Alpha Portland Cement company ranks among the five leading domestic cement producers and serves principal industrial areas east of the Mississippi river. Eight company plants with an annual capacity of about 12½ million barrels of cement are located in the east, middle west and south. Raw materials used are quarried from company owned properties totaling 6,493 acres.

The company was organized in New Jersey in 1910. Sole capitalization is 634,090 shares of no par capital stock outstanding. On March 31, equity per share was $32.29. The stock ranged from 8½ to 39¾ between 1937 thru 1941, and 14½ to 21¾ in 1941. Dividends last year totaled $2, $1.50 in 1940, and $1 in 1937, 1938, and 1939. The company has declared 75 cents in dividends this year.

	Sales.	Net income.	Per share.
1941	$9,976,600	$1,325,673	$2.09
1939	6,988,706	747,097	1.17
1938	6,332,661	235,107	.37

PHILIP MORRIS.

How much did Philip Morris earn per common share last year compared with the preceding year? I have been told its sales rose sharply last year, but higher federal taxes held earnings down considerably. Do you have these figures available?—T. B. C.

Answer: Philip Morris & Co. earned $8.01 per common share in the fiscal year ended March 31, compared with $8.14 in the preceding year. Sales in the fiscal year ended March 31 totaled $112,565,200, against $87,352,065 in the preceding year. Federal income and excess profits taxes rose from $2,622,483 in 1940 to $6,211,217 last year.

"SCRATCH ONE JAP FLAT-TOP!"

THIS is the artist's conception of a dramatic moment in the Battle of the Coral Sea when American airmen sent to the bottom a Japanese aircraft carrier. The story of the heroic deeds of United States navy fliers in this encounter was told by Stanley Johnston, Tribune war correspondent, in his epic series on the Battle of the Coral Sea. Seventy-six American planes surprised the Jap carrier, which was escorted by cruisers and destroyers, and hit her with 16 1,000 pound bombs, three 500 pounders, and 12 torpedoes during a furious fight. As the carrier went down in flames, said Johnston, Lieut. Comm. Bob Dixon, in command of the squadron, spoke into his radio transmitter the immortal words: "Scratch one Jap flat-top!"
